MAINE NIGHT

The second annual celebration of Maine Night at the University of Maine was held in the chapel, Alumni hall, Friday evening, Nov. 14. The celebration was a great success from beginning to end. The speeches, songs and cheers were even better than last year and nearly 100 alumni were present to hear the songs and cheers of their dear old Alma Mater ring throughout the hall, and the way that the gray-haired sons of Maine cheered with the undergraduates showed that their boyhood spirit is burning as brightly as ever.

The chapel where the exercises took place was elaborately decorated with hundreds of yards of blue bunting; flags and banners also hung from the huge arches overhead. Then there were banners or pennants which the baseball team have won as champions of the State, and these together with other pennants and banners which the athletic teams have won in the past occupied prominent places on the walls of the chapel.

The stage was handsomely banked with palms and potted plants, dotted here and there with streamers of blue ribbon which made a very effective appearance. In front of the stage sat the speakers of the evening on the one side and the musical clubs and members of the football team on the other. The three footballs won from Tufts and Colby this season were placed on the front of the stage draped in the colors of their respective colleges, but their present guardians provided a downy bed of blue for them to rest upon. Then all around the rear of the stage in conspicuous places were the many trophies won last fall, but among all these was one more rare and prominent than the rest. It was the silver cup won by the track team last spring.

Directly in front of the stage was seated Pullen's orchestra which played many a familiar air in which the students joined in in song and cheer. In the gallery was seated the military band of twenty-two pieces under the leadership of G. R. Soderstrom, and it can be truly said that the members fairly outdid themselves, as the music was unusually good.

Although the exercises were to begin at 7.30, yet it was nearly 8.00 o'clock before Pres. Fellows, Mr. Howard and Dr. Lewis entered the hall. They were followed by the members of the football team. At their appearance the band played; the students, alumni, faculty and friends of old Maine rose en masse and cheered lustily for the football warriors, fairly making the hall tremble.

After the cheers had died away Dr. Lewis came forward and welcomed all present as the loyal friends of Maine. He said it was not altogether the spirit of the students that was responsible for the banners and trophies that was about the hall, but that the friends of the institution were also partly responsible and with this he thanked all and with a few well chosen words introduced Mr. W. R. Howard, '82, as chairman of the meeting, who came forward amid cheers.

Mr. Howard went on to tell of the spirit of '82 which appeared to the present student as an old-time dream. He contrasted the faculty and the institution with its students and athletes to that which existed when he was in college. Mr. Howard then said: "The first speaker of the evening is one who graduated in the class of '75, a man who has always been a loyal man to his Alma Mater and although he is a graduate of Harvard Law School, yet he sticks to Maine as he would to his own mother. This man whom I now introduce to you is Hon. L. C. Southards of Boston.

Mr. Southards began by characterizing the Maine spirit and told of how the students and alumni cheered at the Harvard game on Soldier's field a few weeks ago. He said it was the first good, old Maine cheer that he had ever heard in Massachusetts and that Dr. Lewis who led the cheering deserved much credit for his work. He continued by eulogizing the president, faculty, the institution, and especially the athletic teams. To the football members he said: "What you want to do in your football games is exactly just what you want to do in the battle of life, that is, get the jump on the other fellow, but at the same time don't forget your alma mater; be loyal to her and may God bless her."

The next speaker was Dean Walz of the U. of M. Law School, and he, in a strain of humor, for which he is noted, recited many reminiscences that struck deep into the hearts of the audience and won the entire approval of the students. He also spoke of the close relation and of the loyal interest that the Law School had for the University. He closed by warning the football team that they had a tough proposition in Bowdoin and that they would have to play the game of their lives on the morrow.

President Fellows was the next speaker. He spoke of the work of the University, both past and present, and told what was expected of her in the future. He spoke of the great advancement made during the past few years in all branches of athletics and hoped that they would grow until the University of Maine would stand out pre-eminent both in learning and athletics. He also paid a tribute to the football boys and told them to play hard but fair at all times in the coming battle with Bowdoin. His remarks were loudly applauded.

Capt. Dorticcos was the next speaker and his appearance on the stage was the signal for a tumult of applause. He said: "We have worked hard all the fall and if we lose to-morrow we cannot say that we are to blame, but boys, we cannot come home defeated. We will either win that Bowdoin game to-morrow or die."

The chairman of the meeting then excused the members of the football team that they might go to their rooms to rest for the great game. They left the hall amid cheers for success.

Coach Robinson, who has worked hard and faithful for the success of the team this fall, then spoke of the work of the boys and said that he had never seen such a crowd of hard workers. He said that there was not a quitter on the team. He appealed to the students and their friends for support in the Bowdoin game.

Mr. P. E. McCarthy of Lewiston, who graduated last year, then made a short speech which closed the exercises. He was loudly cheered as he came onto the stage. His remarks were right to the point and showed that he had not lost any of his old-time eloquence. He told the students of their duty towards the football team and closed by saying that Bowdoin must be defeated by Maine.

After the exercises were over the party retired to the gymnasium where an order of twelve dances was carried out, Pullen's orchestra furnishing music for the occasion. More than 125 couple were on the floor and it was well toward midnight before the party broke up.

It can be truly said that all former records of cheering, song and music at the University were lost in Friday night's jollification.

EDITORIALS.

THIS issue of THE CAMPUS has purposely been made in a measure, a football issue for the sake of a review and to afford the alumni a better account of the season's accomplishments and a little insight into the prospects for the next year.

ON account of a large number of articles on the subject of eligibility of football players during the past season, we again find a movement on foot to purify the athletics among the Maine colleges. A conference has been called at Waterville similar to that held last spring, and the faculty of Bates College have invited the other college faculties to meet and consider plans on Nov. 29 at Augusta.

A recent editorial in one of the college papers would infer that it was yet a question what the attitude of Colby and the University of Maine would be in this regard. As a matter of fact these two colleges have already voted to accept the one-year rule as soon as it is agreed to by the other colleges. In the controversy last spring this matter was talked over and agreed to by all the Maine colleges with one exception. The views of the University of Maine are and have always been in favor of the cleanest forms of athletics and any movement to that end will be met with approval by the student body.

NOW that the football season is over it is a good time for some of us to use our extra time at some other employment. The lack of debating interest in the college is a deplorable feature and active steps should and are being taken to remedy this condition.

A few years ago the debating club was doing good work and could boast of a number of able men who would be worthy representatives on a college debating team. For the last three years this feature of our college life has taken a decided slump until it has reached its present condition. In a college of four hundred men a good debating team ought to be established that could be able in a short time to represent us among the other colleges. Like all other undertakings it will take time to establish a good club and only a beginning can be hoped for the present.

If we can accomplish grand results in athletics we ought to have our share of the other honors. With the increase in the number of students taking the classical and scientific courses there ought to be a corresponding increase in the interest along literary and debating minds. While the university is spoken of as an engineering college, yet we should not lose sight of the fact that it offers equally as good courses along the other lines.

Steps have been taken to start the debates along the camp system, which consists of each class choosing two camp captains, whose duty it is to divide the class into two camps and to choose the subjects for the debates and the speakers. Each camp shall have debates with the camp in its own class and then from the speakers on these debates shall be chosen the speakers for the interclass debates. The class debates will be conducted similar to those of previous years.

It is hoped by this method to arouse enough interest in these matters so that an intercollegiate debate may be held in the near future.

The support of the entire student body and faculty is solicited and any suggestions will be received with pleasure.

THE football season of 1902 has closed for the Maine colleges and its accomplishments are matters of history. Perhaps at this time a glance backward would not be unprofitable.

The loss of five men by graduation left several positions on the team to fill and the prospect of a successful team at the beginning of the season was doubtful. Notwithstanding the fact that Maine has been referred to as having a "veteran team," it has had only five men who held their regular positions again this year. The team had been fortunate in regard to injuries. Barring out several minor bruises, the men have enjoyed almost perfect physical condition. This is due, probably, to hard, conscientious training and good coaching and not a little to the excellent care of the men by the manager and his assistant. The season has proved very successful and the students feel very well satisfied with the work of the team.

Whether U. of M. has won the championship or not seems to be a subject for a good deal of comment and newspaper articles, but we will let them settle it to their heart's content. We are proud of the showing made by the team whether winners or not, as we believe it has conducted itself in a manner that is honorable to any body of men and has done credit to the college it has represented.

The season as a whole has been characterized by clean football as far as those games in which the U. of M. has been concerned. This seems remarkable considering the intense enthusiasm and antagonism which has prevailed in all the games. It would seem from the conditions this year that the idea that many hold concerning the slugging features of football would have to be changed.

The manager has tried to make the conditions pleasant for the visiting teams and our treatment while away has been of the highest character possible. It is with regret that we have to say good-bye to this form of sport and plunge into the long winter with its long nights of study. But as we do, the examples of courtesy and friendliness which has marked this season's progress should be kept in mind and we should all lend our influence to make the coming season and all seasons of as high a character. The Colby Echo in its account of the last Colby—U. of M. game speaks of the game thus:

"The entire game was clean and sportsmanlike, and the officials did their duties faithfully and well. Maine's student body was very courteous to their visitors, giving up their grandstand and going to the further side of the field. Everything was conducted in a manner becoming to collegians."

AMONG THE COLLEGES.

Ralph L. Rose of Healdsburg, Cal., has broken the world's amateur record for putting the shot, held by DeWitt of Princeton. At the semi-annual field day of the academic league, Rose put the shot 49 feet, 6 inches. DeWitt's record was 48 feet, 7 inches.

In the University of Pennsylvania there are fifty-three active students' clubs, thirty-three fraternities, and numerous general university, athletic and sporting associations.

At a meeting of the Bates college football eleven, John S. Reed was elected captain for the coming year. Mr. Reed was two years captain of Kent's Hill football team and has played left tackle for Bates for the last two years.

Freshmen at Brown are allowed to use only the north sidewalk on College street. Princeton freshmen are not allowed on the streets after nine o'clock at night, and forbidden to carry canes, smoke pipes or wear college colors. Union freshmen are forced to give a coat of green paint to an idol on the campus. Syracuse freshmen and sophomores are not allowed to carry canes. Columbia freshmen may not enter the grill room at the College Tavern. Williams freshmen are not allowed to dance at the Greylock, and neither they nor the sophomores may wear corduroy trousers. Pennsylvania freshmen must wear small black caps on the campus. Freshmen at New York University are ducked in a fountain by the upper classmen.

Cornell University, beginning with the commencement in June, 1903, will relieve all professors who reach the age of seventy during the calendar year. The retired professors will serve as special lecturers in their respective departments for five years. The salary for the first year will be the same as that received at the time of retirement, after that it will be fifteen hundred dollars per annum. Four will be retired by this plan next year.

The ten largest law schools in the United States with their enrollments are as follows: University of Michigan, 835; New York Law School, 811; Harvard Law School, 632; New York University Law School, 515; University of Minnesota, 504; Columbia, 439; University of Pennsylvania, 375; Boston University, 334; Georgetown, 288.

The Chapparral from Stanford University makes the following announcement to its contributors: "The Chapparral will accept two kinds of jokes for publication—good jokes, and jokes by the faculty."

The defeat of Chicago by Michigan gives the latter the intercollegiate championship of the west. Her total points scored this season is 569 to 6. It is unfortunate that Michigan could not play one of the large eastern colleges which would determine the American championship.

Columbia has been scored on to a greater extent than any other college of any pretensions this year, the total points on that side of the sheet being only five points short of the century.

This has been a profitable season at Cambridge. More than 55,000 persons saw the Brown, Dartmouth and Carlisle games. Besides this, Harvard has the earlier games and half the proceeds from the 25,000 crowd at New Haven.

Princeton has had only two touchdowns scored on her during the entire season.

Memorial Hall Dining Association at Harvard has 1190 members.

TO THE ALUMNI:

The editor has experienced considerable difficulty in securing enough data for this branch of our college paper. It is discouraging to try to make a department interesting to those who do not seem to wish it made so. For instance, some one of the alumni gets married, or changes his position, or perhaps there is an alumni meeting, as happened on Nov. 15th at Chicago, and no one sends any note of it to THE CAMPUS. This ought not so to be; if you are interested in your Alma Mater, she is interested in you and wants to know of your success in life. Your classmates are continually watching this column of our paper hoping to hear some good news from his old comrade that will bring him back to his college days with all their pleasant recollections. We can easily see how you cannot take very much interest in the local column, but it does seem strange to us how you can be forgetful of the interest other members of your class have in you and expect of you. Will you please drop the editor a few lines whenever you hear or know of any matter that would be of interest to the alumni or to us.

The editor has been contemplating publishing in THE CAMPUS a series of biographical sketches of some of our older alumni but is unable to acquire sufficient data for these publications. If some interested alumnus will suggest some means we would be pleased to try this scheme which we feel would add much to our paper.—

ATHLETICS

THE football season just past has indeed been a successful one for us, and now that it is ended and we have lost but one game in the state, it might be well to consider a few of the many factors which have contributed to our success.

In the first place we have had a large squad of men out regularly so that plenty of good material was always at hand. In the second place we have had a strong second team. In the third place we have had a good coach. In addition to all this the student body has supported the team loyally at critical times. Too much credit cannot be given to those men who have been out with the squad, working hard all the season, without the slightest chance of making even substitute on the team. The spirit they have shown is highly commendable. It is the true "Maine spirit" that is winning us victories every day. We cannot write the list of those who have won our laurels for us without including the names of such men as Kingsbury, Downing, Bennett, Weymouth, Crowe, Banks and many others.

To the hard, conscientious work of Coach Robinson is due, in a great measure, the success of the team this season. Especially in the line is his work apparent. At the beginning of the season it was generally thought that our line would be full of holes, but it has turned out differently. The line has been quite as strong as that of last year and has proven almost impregnable in all the games except that with Bates. The backfield also has been fully as strong as that of last year, and Bearce, Parker, Dorticos and Bailey have without doubt formed the strongest secondary defense in the State.

This year has seen our first game with Harvard and we are all proud of the showing that our team and its supporters made on Soldiers' Field. We were aroused to a realizing sense of what was before us when, in our first college game, Colby held us down to six points. The team was aroused also and began to hustle. The result of this hustling was a remarkably good showing against Harvard and a victory over Tufts. In the two weeks after the Tufts game there was a kind of relapse and the sentiment began to grow that we had things all coming our way, and that the principle question was in regard to the size of the scores. We went to Lewiston and found out our great mistake, when we were defeated by Bates, six to nothing. The team played a good, nervy game, but was squarely defeated. With this defeat staring us in the face and the prospect of being defeated by Colby on the following Saturday, the team went to work in earnest, and our dormant spirit roused itself enough to bring sixty or seventy men out every night to cheer the practice. The result of this everyone knows. We won from

UNIVERSITY OF MAINE CHAMPION FOOTBALL TEAM, 1902.

Colby the following Saturday, from Bowdoin the Saturday following that, and the boys never once eased up until the whistle blew at the close of the Bowdoin game on November 15th.

Throughout the season Maine has done her best when it was least expected. The men have worked hard and we all appreciate it. We know that whatever has been done, has been done from a spirit of loyalty to Maine—a spirit which has not been stimulated by mercenary means or corrupted by personal prejudices.

Following is a table showing the number of games won and lost by each of the Maine colleges this season (considering only Maine colleges):

COLLEGE.	PLAYED.	WON.	LOST.	PER CENT. WON.
Maine	4	3	1	750
Bates	3	2	1	666
Colby	4	2	2	500
Bowdoin	3	0	3	000

BY POINTS.

	WON.	LOST.
Maine	33	11
Bates	22	15
Colby	36	28
Bowdoin	6	42

It is interesting to note that in the last four years Maine has won twelve out of the twenty-two college games she has played. This includes not only the Maine games but those with Tufts and Harvard as well. Let us hope that the next four years may be even more successful than the last four.

MAINE 11; BOWDOIN 0.

Probably no crowd was ever more intensely gratified than that which yelled and sang for Maine at Maplewood on the 15th of November, when the colors of old Bowdoin went down—down into three inches of mud—before the fierce rushes of the blue-clad warriors from Maine. From the instant that Dorticos kicked off at the beginning of the game to the last instant of play, the struggle was a hard one and Bowdoin was only defeated after putting up a plucky fight against a team which was indisputably her superior in every respect.

Maine was penalized time after time, but this only seemed to stimulate the men to renewed efforts, and in spite of the 25 or 30 yards thus lost, they succeeded in crossing Bowdoin's goal line twice. Excitement ran high from start to finish. Especially was this so at the end of the first half, when neither side had scored, and it looked as though Bowdoin had had a little the better of it so far. But Maine's supporters realized that their team had done well and believed, as it proved correctly, that with the up-hill side of a muddy field, Maine could demonstrate the falsity of prophecies in general and one in particular.

The game was devoid of sensational plays, the field was heavy, and practically all the gains were made through the line. Maine played a good defensive game throughout, but her offensive work in the first half was not fast. In the second half, however, her play had the required power and Dorticos, Bearce and Parker reeled off the yards in great style. Maine's team was easily in better physical condition than that of Bowdoin. Eleven men played the entire game and only twice was time taken out for Maine players. Bowdoin substituted several men during the game.

At about twenty minutes of two the Maine team trotted out upon the field and a yell went up from their supporters of which any alumnus and undergraduate might be proud. "One for Maine; make it a good one," yelled "Steve," and Maine certainly got a good one. Soon after the Bowdoin team appeared, and as usual received three times three from the Maine crowd.

BEAN, RIGHT END.

"B-O-W-D-O-I-N," rang out from the opposite side of the field as the Bowdoin rooters opened up. The teams ran through a few signals and then the two captains met at the centre of the field.

Bowdoin won the toss and chose to defend the west goal, as the field slopes considerably from west to east—enough to be of some advantage when the field is muddy. Dorticos kicked off and the ball was brought in to the 25-yard line.

Finn made six yards through the line and Chapman followed with four more. Finn again took the ball and after a three-yard gain Bowdoin was given five yards for off-side. Things began to look grave for Maine. Chapman tried the line and was dropped with only a yard to his credit. Finn could get only two more and Bowdoin punted. Here Maine was penalized again for off-side play and the ball given to Bowdoin. Finn tried to hurdle twice. The first time he got about a foot, the second about two yards, and hurdling was no longer a prominent feature. Chapman could not gain and the ball went to Maine on her own 50-yard line. Maine failed to gain, punted, and the ball was down on Bowdoin's 40-yard line. Blanchard was nailed for a loss, but Chapman tore off six yards and Finn went through the line for two more. Maine was again penalized five yards. Finn made first down and then Bowdoin punted, the ball being down on Maine's 40-yard line. Parker made about a yard and a half, Bearce three yards, and then, with only a half yard to gain, Maine punted. It looked as though Maine was playing a safe, defensive game throughout the first half. The ball was downed on Bowdoin's 37-yard line. Conners made three yards, Chapman about a yard and Finn just enough to make first down. Conners lost on the next play but Blanchard went around right end for six yards. Maine held for downs and got the ball on her own 45-yard line. Four yards on two downs and again Parker punted, the ball being run in to Bowdoin's 52-yard line. Bowdoin could not gain and punted to Maine's 35-yard line. Parker and Dorticos worked the ball back ten yards and time was called with the ball in Maine's possession. Score, 0—0.

In the second half Bowdoin kicked off and Maine began a vigorous hammering at the line, after Bearce had skirted the end for 20 yards. Without once losing the ball Maine carried it down the field, making first down five times. On Bowdoin's 13-yard line came the climax. Dorticos was given the ball for a plunge through the line and cleared about eight yards before being tackled. As he fell, his halfbacks caught him by the clothing and hauled him, on his face through the mud and water, over the line for the first touchdown, with two Bowdoin men hanging to his legs. This was one of the prettiest pieces of team work seen this season and the crowd went wild. Dorticos kicked the goal.

Monroe kicked off to Dorticos but Bowdoin was off side and the ball was taken back. On the next kick-off Parker run the ball in 10 yards to Maine's 30-yard line. Bowdoin held, and Maine punted. The ball was fumbled and Taylor fell on it. Dorticos went through the line for five yards and Maine was penalized ten yards for interfering with the centre. Parker punted to Bowdoin's 40-yard line and the ball was brought in about five yards. Bowdoin failed to gain and Munroe dropped back to kick. Dorticos was through and blocked the kick but a Bowdoin man recovered the ball on his own 10-yard line. Bowdoin made first down, then Chapman was thrown back and Maine was again penalized five yards for off-side play. Thus far Maine had lost 30 yards in penalties. Bowdoin was soon forced to kick and Munroe sent a rolling punt to Maine's 3-yard line. Bowdoin now began to show the effect of the fast play and weakened before the fierce charges directed at her. Maine's line began to open up great holes, Towse especially distinguishing himself. Dorticos started with seven yards through left tackle and then every play gained steadily, until, without losing it again Maine had carried the ball the length of the field. Bearce did some great work, making one gain of 18 yards and another of 10. With only 30 seconds to play Dorticos was pushed over for the second touchdown. Bailey caught the punt-out but Dorticos missed the goal. There was just time to kick off again and time was called.

FRESHMEN VS. SOPHOMORES.

The Freshmen—Sophomore foot ball game was played on Alumni Field, Saturday, November twenty-second, and contrary to expectation was a one-sided affair throughout. The Freshmen were completely outclassed. The Sophomore backs skirted the ends for long gains, behind an interference that was quite up to 'varsity standard. They also gained readily through the line. The Freshmen secured the ball once on a fumble and made one first down. At another time they made one first down, but at no time during the game did they hold for downs.

The Sophomores won the toss and chose the west goal. Libby kicked off and the ball was downed on '05's 35-yard line. Bearce and Collins made each a short gain and then '05 moved steadily down the field, making first down on every play, until the ball was on '06's 15-yard line. The Freshmen held well here but in a few more downs Bearce went over for the first touchdown, after five minutes of play. Learned failed the goal.

Mitchell run in the kickoff to '05's 45-yard line. By consecutive gains of from one to seven yards, the ball was carried to the Freshmen's 1-yard line, and Collins was pushed over for the second touchdown. Learned kicked the goal.

Libby again kicked and after a few rushes the ball was fumbled and Banks fell on it. The Freshmen made their distance once and were then held for downs. An exchange of punts, one or two scrimmages, and time was called with the ball in the possession of the Sophomores near the centre of the field. Score, 11 to 0.

In the second half Learned kicked to the 10-yard line and it was run in ten yards. The Freshmen made first down once and then Libby kicked. Bailey brought the kick back fifteen yards before being downed. From this time to the end of the game the ball was constantly in the possession of the Sophomores who did not once fail to make the required distance. Three more touchdowns were scored and two goals kicked. Bearce made one sensational run of fifty-five yards. The most noticeable thing about the game was the work of the Sophomore backs, who put up a superb interference and got every play away with snap and force.

HONEY EATERS, 6; BEE CHASERS, 0.

The first floor of Oak Hall, otherwise known as the Honey Eaters, defeated the second floor — Bee Chasers — in a very interesting game on Saturday forenoon. The game was marked by many brilliant runs and fierce line bucking. Despite the fact that the Bee Chasers were much heavier, they were defeated in a very exciting manner. With the ball on the 5-yard line, Capt. Stewart, the hero of the Honey Eaters, picked up the ball and by a run of 105 yards, which would have done justice to the phenomenal Watkins, scored the only touchdown of the game.

THE GERMAN CLUB.

A German Club has been formed at the university, comprising as active members those students who have completed two years of German, and as honorary members those members of the faculty and a few others who have studied or lived in Germany.

The first meeting was held at the home of Dr. Lewis, on the evening of October 29. Prof. Walz of the Law School gave a very interesting talk on "The Germanic World of To-day," after which light refreshments were served, and the remainder of the evening spent in German conversation and general good time.

On the evening of November 19, the second meeting was held at the same place and the following programme was carried out: Solo, Mrs. Fellows; "The German Empire since 1871," Dr. Fellows; 'Cello Solo, Mr. Sprague.

Several members of the faculty were present and after light refreshments and the subsequent informal conversation in German, the meeting adjourned, each feeling certain that, judging from the present interest shown in the club, its future success is assured.
