FRESHMAN "HECKS" ROUGH ON CHICKS

Can Slaughter One in Three Minutes; Facts About the Poultry Yard

What is the difference between a "white wyandotte" and a "white leghorn"?

The place to find out is at the department of poultry husbandry. This has developed into one of the most important divisions of the College of Agriculture, and is in charge of Professor L. S. Corbett of the Animal Industry Department. The man in direct charge of instruction and maintenance is Leigh P. Gardner, B.S., Maine, 1920, and M.S., 1923.

Five courses are offered this fall, and the total enrollment is 56 students. The population of the poultry yard is at present 200 hens and 500 pullets. The colony system is in use—that is, the poultry are kept in numerous small houses, accommodating 24 each. The main building was erected in 1908. Although the department is at present in sore need of more equipment, what they have is thoroughly modern and the methods are practical.

The plant is conducted on a commercial basis, and is in no way connected with the Experiment Station. The eggs and poultry are marketed and the sum realized goes into the university coffers. From 100 to 300 eggs are laid in a day, March and April being the most productive months. Incubators are used, and in the breeding season, there are frequently as many as 2,400 chickens. Many

Expect Crowd of 4,500 At Maine Bowdoin Game

Plans have been made to handle a capacity crowd at the Bowdoin game, November 3, and it is expected that every available ticket will be sold before that time. The seating capacity of Alumni Field will be increased by the erection of new bleachers on the north side of the field which in addition to the old bleachers, will seat 2500. 1200 seats in the center section of the bleachers will be reserved for the student body, and those on each side, as well as the grandstand, will be open to the public, giving a total capacity of 4500. The field will be fenced off, with gates on the track to allow the class relay race which will be run between the halves.

Tickets for the game are now on sale at the University Book Store, and at Dillingham's in Bangor. Graduate Manager Bryant reports that they are going fast.

Sons and Daughters of Former Graduates Many

Following is a list of sons and daughters now in college of former Maine graduates and former students. Mr. G. Martin of class of '27 can claim the honor of being the first grandson of a Maine graduate. His grandfather, Nelson H. Martin was of the class of '76. He also has two uncles that have graduated from Maine, Chas. H. Martin '07 and Preston Martin '14.

Madame Parcher 18 Years a Matron Is Mother to the S. A. E. Members

MADAME PARCHER

Eighteen years of loyal and loving service as matron of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon house is the record of Madame Parcher, one of the best known members of the University of Maine family. To scores of S. A. E. men she has been a mother; to the entire student body she is a friend.

Madame Parcher came to the S. A. E. house in September, 1905, intending to visit the boys for only two weeks. Happily for the boys, as well as for many other friends she has made here, her visit has extended into 18 years. Before she came to the University of Maine, she used to say that all the money in the state of Maine could not hire her to be matron of a fraternity house.

Every morning, she is up and out of doors for an early walk, and in stormy weather indulges her appetite for fresh air on the porch of the house. Always cheerful and witty, she is a great favorite with the boys, and her living room is often a rendezvous for members and visitors alike.

MAINE HOBOES UNITE IN HONORARY SOCIETY

Collegiate "Weary Willies" to Maintain High Standard of College Spirit

At the first regular meeting of the Blue Cross Society held last week the charter was presented and the society officially admitted to the A. T. B., the national honorary hobo fraternity, as Station Number Two. Officers for the year were elected, and the records of a large number of prospects discussed.

It is the aim of this fraternity to help maintain a high standard of college spirit in the student body, and to get a loyal bunch of rooters to every college football game or other athletic contest.

There are three forms of membership: active, associate, and honorary. Active members are those who have completed the requirements of the fraternity in hiking to college games, including the covering of 500 miles without expense; associate members are those who have shown

KIDNEY'S MARKSMEN DOING DAILY DOZEN

That all candidates for the rifle team must take physical exercises twice weekly and must practice at least three times each week was brought out in a talk by Coach J. H. Kidney at a Rifle Club Meeting Friday.

Mr. Kidney further stated that freshmen who are out for the rifle team will be excused from regular Physical Training classes, but must take exercises designed to strengthen the arms, shoulders and back in classes which he will conduct. Among other things the coach mentioned that it is proposed to hold a match between the freshmen and upperclassmen. Intercollegiate matches are being arranged for both the freshman and varsity teams. At present there are about 75 members enrolled, but more are desired.

By a vote of the members present it was voted to hold regular meetings the second and fourth Fridays of each month at chapel time.

Coach Kanaly Addresses Student Body in Chapel

Declaring that opportunity comes to every individual at some time in life, Coach Frank M. Kanaly, Maine's new full time track coach, addressed the student body in chapel Monday forenoon.

Illustrating the fact that some people do not take advantage of their opportunities, Coach Kanaly told of an experience he had while traveling in England with a friend. A man entered their compartment. He told them he was "beating his way" from station to station, that he had little money, and that he had had nothing to eat for 24 hours. During

MAINE GRABS FIRST STATE SERIES GAME AT LEWISTON 12-7

George Gruhn Plunges Through Garnet Line Twice for Touchdowns on Muddy Field

Twelve to seven, the Big Blue team smashed thru to victory, whipping the fighting, plunging Bates eleven on their own ground. Despite the muddy field and the rain before the game, a crowd of about 700 saw a fast and thrilling battle. A brilliant backfield plus tough fighting line made up a team which kept the pigskin in Bates' territory practically the whole game despite the aggressiveness of the Bates men.

Gruhn at fullback, played his regular plunging, driving game, rushing the ball thru the Bates line again and again for gains and for the touchdowns and dropping Bates men in their tracks as they tried to get thru the secondary defense. Capt. Small took the ball for long gains around the ends and off tackle in his speedy, twirling fashion. He out-kicked Rutsky by a number of yards. Blair played a fine game, snatching passes out of the air for good gains. He made the longest run of the game during the first half, carrying the ball 48 yards. Ward started calling signals in each half and was later replaced by Merritt. Both quarterbacks played first class games.

Taylor at right end played "stone wall" game on the defense. Time and again he was in and dropped the Bates men before they got to their own lines. Gentile, at center, intercepted a forward pass in the last quarter and gave Maine the ball on her forty-five yard line. The Maine line played regular "stone wall" football, keeping the Garnet in "punt formation" a good bit of the time.

Rutsky and Woodman were the stars for Bates. At full and halfback respectively they gained a lot of ground. Rutsky pulled off a pretty play in the third period, when he held the ball on a fake kick, sidestepped one man and went around the end for a fifteen yard gain. The Bates aggregation in giving all they had, proved themselves a brainy fighting team. Their line had a faculty for making holes for their plunging backs. The Garnet just wasn't good enough.

MAINE STARTS STRONG

Maine started the first period right by bringing the kickoff from Bates to the middle of the field. Failing to get first down, Small kicked to Bates four yard line. Bates kicked back again, the ball going low and bounding. Ward recovered it at the 40 yard line. Small punted soon after to Bates 20 yard line. Bates hammered at the Maine line for about six yards after a fumble and then decided to punt once more. The punt was a poor one and Maine had the ball in the middle of the field. This time Maine met a stone wall and punted. Woodman took the ball around his end for a nice gain of eight yards but further rushes made little advance. Once more punts were exchanged. As the period was about to end Blair made his sensational dash, carrying the pigskin 48 yards to the Bates 23 yard line. Score 0-0.

President Little Optimistic About Future of Men's Student Government

In his report for the year ending June 30, 1923, President Little makes the following comment on student government at the University:

"In the belief that it is a function of a properly trained undergraduate body to administer many of its own problems, a student government of men students has been established during the past year.

"Naturally because of a fairly general willingness on the part of college undergraduates to dodge additional responsibility, there was for a time after the organization of the student government, a calmly disinterested attitude adopted towards its functioning by many undergraduates. This attitude has, however, begun to disperse. It was natural and to be expected that there would be considerable conservatism in accepting the new organization. The need for it was, however, clearly shown by the ease with which destructive criticism was brought forth as compared with the difficulty in awakening the cooperative efforts of the great body of undergraduates.

"Membership in the council is by popular vote. The candidates are chosen by the three groups of men students, "off-campus," dormitory, and fraternity, on a population basis—similar within each group. It is therefore, and nearly representative as we can make it—a feature which will in time, we believe, come to be more fully appreciated and utilized."

Now for Colby

While Maine is still rejoicing over last week's football triumph is the time to plan for another victory next Saturday. We are proud of the way our team played at Lewiston, and we are confident that they will repeat their performance at Waterville, but again it will be necessary to give them the support they deserve if we are to expect them to do their best. Considering the discouraging weather prospects of last Friday and Saturday, the number of students who braved the elements to support their team at Lewiston was very good, and certainly the volume of noise they produced would have been a credit to a multitude. Their contribution was undoubtedly no negligible factor in winning the game.

Next Saturday we play the second game of the state series with Colby at Waterville. This game will be no walk-away by any means, and Maine will need to put forth her best efforts to win.

So now we must impress upon the football men that we expect a lot of them, and when Saturday comes let us every one go down to Waterville and cheer Maine to victory.

Harvard—Dartmouth—Maine

On next Friday the Maine crosscountry team will participate in a triple meet with Harvard and Dartmouth. This is the first time in the history of the University that Maine has competed with these colleges on such a basis. As this meet was arranged at their invitation, it means that Maine's hill and dale record has won it recognition as an equal of Dartmouth and Harvard in this sport. To make a good showing in this race will mean a great deal to the University of Maine. It is now up to the Maine harriers to prove they are indeed equal, or superior, to their larger opponents.

We are all with you, Maine crosscountry men. Go down there and show New England what Maine spirit can do when put to the test.

Intercollegiate Tradition

In years past it has always been a tradition among the colleges of Maine that if a visiting athletic team won, the victors, as a matter of courtesy, should refrain from celebrating until they had left their opponents' campus.

At Lewiston last Saturday this time-honored custom was broken. The Maine supporters paraded from Garcelon Field and snake-danced across the Bates campus. That the act was the result of thoughtlessness is probable, but Bates students could hardly be expected to take it otherwise than as an insult. Considering the admirable spirit of the Bates supporters, and the courtesy showed Maine during the game, for Maine to openly flaunt its victory in their faces seems highly discourteous. Maine should be the upholder of tradition rather than the one to break it. That this unfortunate incident occurred is greatly regretted by thoughtful Maine men. It is the opinion of the Campus that an apology is due to Bates.

The Student Council

On page one of the Campus is printed an extract from Doctor Little's report to the Board of Trustees, in which the need, object, and method of representation of the Men's Student Government is clearly stated.

A comprehensive reading of the statement will show one that the body is indeed needed and is well organized, but as yet it has not proved to the student body that it is of value. The prevailing sentiment among the undergraduates seems to be that the Council is more or less of a joke. This is probably because so little serious consideration is given it. No one seems to know much about the Council, and few care to take the trouble to learn. Interest is lukewarm. Many believe that the council is lifeless, and this idea is fairly well borne out by facts.

There may be defects in the constitution of the Council, which should be expected for so new an organization, but at present the trouble seems to rest with the student members. It is highly regrettable that an organization which has such good opportunities to work for the benefit of the student body by bringing about closer relations between Faculty and students should be allowed to lapse.

Unless the representatives wake up and take an active interest in the organization and the students themselves come to a realization of its possibilities and give it their support, it is the opinion of the Campus that student legislation through the medium of the Council cannot be successful.

Advertisements for the Horticultural Fruit Show, which appeared in practically every classroom in the University, are certainly something new here. No other campus event has received such effective publicity in recent years. Other organizations may well take a lesson in the value of advertising from the "Aggies." Whoever originated the scheme is to be complimented on some clever ideas.

The Campus said last week, "We must have that state series, one, two, three." We captured the one in fine style last week, now let's get the two!

The "Maine Hello" used to be a custom of which we were justly proud. We wonder how many of the freshmen have ever heard of it. Will those who have, kindly speak after this.

How many classes have you gone to unprepared this week? Fortunate is the student who can boast of not one, for he will pass. The other fellow fools only himself, for the instructor knows who studies.

Hope Norwood went to Southwest Harbor Friday to attend the funeral of Hilda Clark. Miss Clark was a student at the University for one year and her sudden death was a shock to the friends she made at college.

Pearl and Ardis Woodard spent the week-end at their home in Greenville.

Miss Beatrice Segsworth, a Y.W.C.A. volunteer secretary, was a guest at Balentine last week. Thursday night she gave a very interesting talk on world problems.

Elizabeth Linekin was at her home in Thomaston last week. She was accompanied by Arline Bennett.

SCRATCHES FROM THE SPORT PEN

Nine of the cross country team with Coach Kanaly visited and jogged over the Colby course Saturday. These men were:

Capt. Raymond, Berg, Patten, Ames, Nowland, Hillman, Hart, Strong, and Noyes. By this visit the men obtained a good idea of what the state meet course is like and what to expect for the state championship run on Nov. 2. The above mentioned men later went to Lewiston to see the football team win over Bates.

The management feels especially indebted to Graduate Manager Bryant and Dean J. N. Hart for the use of their cars. Also to Coach Ryan and P. S. Lovely of Colby for their sportsmanlike efforts to make the course plain to the Maine men.

Freshman Athletes are Victors in Pumpkin Meet

The freshman class captured all honors in the Pumpkin Meet held on Alumni Field, Monday, Oct. 22. They won with 45 points. This meet has originally been fought out between the two lower classes, but this year all classes were allowed to participate.

Pettingill was high point man of the meet, winning the hammer throw, placing second in the javelin throw and discus: a total of 11 points. Lawry, high point man of his class, won the 100 yard dash and was second in the broad jump, giving him a total of eight points.

The summary of the meet is as follows:

100 yard dash: 1st, Lawry; 2nd, Harris; 3rd, Donovan. Time 10 3-5 sec.

120 high hurdles: 1st, Ring; 2nd, Torrey; 3rd, Purington.

Hammer Throw: 1st, Pettengill, 61 ft. Howe, 58 ft.

Javelin Throw: 1st, Barter, 133 ft; Pettengill, 107.8ft.; Donovan, 105.5 ft.

Enthusiasm Reaches High Point at Football Rally

The rally for the Bates game was held in Alumni Hall at 7 o'clock, Thursday evening, heralded by the power-house whistle. The band, under the leadership of H. J. Chase, rendered several rousing selections, and the team marched to the platform, preceded by H. B. Buck, E. M. Sprague, and P. C. Crowell, alumni and faculty members of the athletic board. Stackpole's enthusiasm was contagious, so the cheering was of the roof raising variety, especially the yells for the individuals on the team.

Master of ceremonies, "Ollie" Berg expressed the wish that the student body be at Lewiston to a man. Captain Small and Manager Gay spoke briefly and effectively on the prospects of good game. Coaches Brice and Murphy spoke of the hard work and of the condition of the team and the necessity of moral support from the university as a whole. "Prexy" Little delivered the address of the evening in which he predicted a glorious victory for Maine. The rally ended with the singing of the Stein song.

Phi Eta Kappa

Phi Eta Kappa fraternity held an informal dancing party at the chapter house, Friday evening, Oct. 19. Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served at intermission. An order of 14 dances was enjoyed by the couples present, the music being furnished by the Collegian Orchestra. Guests of the evening were "Hot" Ayer, Harold Taylor, and John Lawry. The chaperones for the party were Professor and Mrs. Sweetser and Professor and Mrs. Watson of the engineering department.

Here's a fine opening for a nice young man—said the gravedigger as he threw out the last shovel.—Student Life.

Co-ed Hockeyists Triumph Over Bangor High Players

The University of Maine Girls' Hockey Team played its second game of the season against Bangor High School, winning by a score of 2-0. The game was played at Abbott Square, 4 p.m., Tuesday.

The Bangor High girls put up a good fight, and showed splendid spirit throughout the game, but the Maine girls' better training brought them out on top.

Ruth Crockett '25, one of Maine's best women athletes, was injured in the ankle and was replaced by Joy Nevens. Several other sub titutions were also made.

Freshman Team Defeated By Coburn C. I. Eleven

The Maine Freshmen lost to Coburn Classical Institute, Saturday by the score of 12-7 on Alumni Field. The results are considered unsatisfactory as it is claimed that one of Coburn's touchdowns was obtained after the whistle had blown. The game was declared Coburn's by the referee.

Two fumbles by the yearlings gave Coburn her touchdown, but the 25 team played the schoolboys off their feet in the second half and were on the way to a second touchdown when the whistle blew.

A wet, soggy field made the game a hard one. Hoyt received a kick in the head which dazed him so that six men were needed to hold him and carry him off the field.

Delta Delta Delta sorority held an informal party and dance at Brown's Hall, Old Town, Friday evening, Oct. 19. The music was furnished by Hackett's Orchestra. Streamers of gold, silver, and blue, the sorority colors, were used for decorations. There were three novelty dances, a heart waltz, a string dance, and the Delta Dance. Confetti was thrown, and added a great deal of fun to the party. Punch was served during the evening, and at intermission the refreshments were grape-juice, sandwiches and coffee. The chaperones for the evening were Miss Buchan, Mrs. Connor, Mr. and Mrs. Gardiner, and Prof. & Mrs. Brau, chit.

Civils of Upper Classes Inspect Ripogenus Dam

A semi-official inspection trip to Ripogenus dam was made last week by a party of several seniors and juniors of the civil engineering department and also a few students from the forestry department.

The party, under the leadership of Prof. Lyons, left Bangor Friday morning and arrived at the Grant farm that night. On Saturday the trip was continued until they reached the dam, 12 miles beyond the Grant farm and 42 miles from Greenville. The dam was inspected, a number of pictures were taken, and then the party went down stream to see the gorge. Before the return trip was made, two smaller dams were inspected, one of them being under the process of construction.

Grant Wheeler '24, a member of the party, was severely wounded when a gun was accidentally discharged, the bullet passing through his arm. Owing to the prompt action of Dean Boardman and other members of the party, the wound was quickly dressed. Mr. Wheeler was rushed to the Greenville hospital where he is resting comfortably.

The several members of the party were treated very cordially by the Great Northern Paper Co. and the trip was very much enjoyed. Several deer and a moose were seen en route.

MT. VERNON NOTES

Mt. Vernon co-eds showed plenty of college spirit in their attendance at the Maine-Bates game. Among those who went to Lewiston were Marion Day, Alice Stanley, Leona Reid, Barbara Keyes, Ruth Savage, Clara Peabody, Marion Cooper, Helen Peabody, Olivia Newcomb, Elizabeth Peabody and Sylvia Kueson. Eleven such healthy-voiced co-eds ably assisted in adding volume to one-half of the Maine cheering section; the other half of which had been kindly (?) isolated to the further side of the Bates grandstand.

Miss Dorothy Hodgkins of Bar Harbor has been the guest of Frances Brewer for several days.

Ina Jordan spent the week-end at Lee Academy where she taught last year.

Iome Irving was in Boston for business purposes over Sunday.

Frances Willets, Esther Thompson, Madeline Gillan and Bernice Purington went to their respective homes in Bangor for Sunday.

Virginia Colbath, "Gidge," a former Mt. Vernonite was among the alumnae at the Maine-Bates game.

Spanish Club Entertains With Playette and Games

The Spanish Club held its second meeting of the year, Tuesday, Oct. 16, with an attendance of 15. An entertaining program was carried out by several of the members. Aileen Bennett read a Spanish poem and Professor Peterson played some Spanish records on the new victrola recently purchased by the club. A Spanish playette entitled "El Doble Robo" was presented with the following cast:

Elisa Anna Green
Teresa Margaret Hanley
Pedro John Behringer

The rest of the evening was given over to Spanish games conducted by Mr. Brown.

Grant Wheeler Injured While on Hunting Trip

Grant Wheeler of Orange, N. J., a senior at the University of Maine, is in a Greenville hospital in a critical condition as a result of a shot gun accident October 13, near the Ripogenus Dam which he was visiting with a group of civil engineer students of the college. His left arm is badly torn by the shot.

Wheeler started on a hunting trip and set the gun down on its butt on a step when it fell over. The jar caused the explosion of the shell and the shot ripped up the left forearm from wrist to elbow, missing the bones.

Professor A. C. Lyon and the other students started back that night but were delayed in Dexter over night because of mechanical trouble to their machine.

the trip he performed several mystifying sleight of hand tricks. When asked why it was he had so little money when he had the ability to give such marvelous sleight of hand performances, the man replied, "I am just as foolhardy in other lines as I am clever in this one."

"Athletic contests," Coach Kanaly continued, "are great opportunities to develop physical courage, will power, respect for authority and respect for others. We should respect our opponents, because they are not deep-dyed villains, but men striving for the same end that we are, and hoping to win from us. Even prize fighters are not as blood-thirsty and wicked as they are pictured, but very good men morally and physically. After a match they sit down and discuss the strong and weak moves much as we would a game of checkers."

Opportunity has its pitfalls also, and we should learn to perceive them. A young factory worker in Woonsocket, Rhode Island, became the world's champion sprinter. Although he was told to look ahead and plan for the future or the factory whistle would blow for him again, he did not heed the warning. Six months ago he was shot in Paris for highway robbery. That man did not use his opportunity wisely.

President Harding died at the time in his career when he had the greatest opportunities, because he had not fortified himself physically for daily life.

We should all of us give ourselves an examination. Are we getting all we can expect out of our college life with its teachers, facilities and acquaintances?

Life draws to a close and so do opportunities. If we have done our duty we can help others starting out, and all in all we can help mankind."

of these are sold later as broilers and for breeding purposes. Not a few of these die in the fall before the keen knives of the freshmen. On completing his work in slaughtering, the freshman must be able to kill and pluck a bird in three minutes.

The four principal breeds in stock are White leghorns; white wyandottes; Rhode Island Reds; and plymouth rocks. Occasionally a "freak" chicken appears—the most common being the web-footed chap.

The courses offered in Poultry Husbandry are:

1. Types, breeds and management of poultry. 3 hrs. credit.
2. Types, breeds and management of poultry. 2 hrs. credit.

Senior Lumberers Guests Of American Thread Co.

Friday morning, Oct. 12, the senior lumbering class left the campus en route to Milo as the guests of the American Thread Company under the leadership of Prof. Briscoe and Prof. Demerit, were guided through the plant by "Bill" Hill, a Maine Alumnus. The machinery and routine were explained to the class.

This concluded the work on Friday.

In the late afternoon the class left for camps at Lake View, where they were to spend the night. The camps were put in condition for this special occasion and it was very much appreciated by the class. Early the next morning the class started their inspection of the lumbering operation. The routine and particulars of lumbering were explained in full to them and everyone prospered by the explanation. That night they took the train back to the campus, and, it is believed that the senior lumbering class is looking forward to more trips of this kind.

WILLIAM KONRAD ROENTGEN 1845-1923

Born in Lennep, Prussia. Educated at Zurich. Awarded the Rumford Medal of the Royal Society in 1896 jointly with Philip Lenard for discovery of X-rays. Won the Nobel Prize in physics in 1901.

"I did not think—I investigated"

One day in 1895, Roentgen noticed that a cardboard coated with fluorescent material glowed while a nearby Pluecker tube was in action. "What did you think?" an English scientist asked him. "I did not think; I investigated," was the reply.

Roentgen covered the tube with black paper. Still the cardboard glowed. He took photographs through a pine door and discovered on them a white band corresponding to the lead beading on the door. His investigation led to the discovery of X-rays.

Roentgen's rays have proved an inestimable boon to humanity. In the hands of doctor and surgeon they are saving life and reducing suffering. In the hands of the scientist they are yielding new knowledge—even of the arrangement and structure of atoms. The Research Laboratories of the General Electric Company have contributed greatly to these ends by developing more powerful and efficacious X-ray tubes.

The General Electric Company manufactures everything electric—from fans to powerful locomotives, from tiny lamps to mighty power plants. Its products are used around the world.

At the start of the second period Maine was on her way to the Bates goal. Steady gains by Small, Blair and Merritt who had just replaced Ward and the ball was in the shadow of the goal posts. A penalty of five yards set the ball back and then Woodman intercepted a forward pass, enabling his team to kick out of danger. Rutsky made a long low kick. A pass, Merritt to Blair gained nine yards; the next, Small to Blair netted 20 more. Blair made a gain off tackle and then Gruhn went thru center for eight yards and first down.

GRUHN SCORES

The Bates line held on his second try and then Small went around right tackle for six yards and put the ball on Bates three yard line. On the next play, the ball was given to Gruhn and he carried it thru center for a touchdown. The try for goal failed. The rest of the period was spent in exchanging punts with a few unsuccessful passes mixed in. Score: Maine 6, Bates 0.

Once more the punting battle started with Maine forcing the ball toward the Bates goal; Ward now piloting the Blue team. With Maine's ball on her 35 yard line, Small and Blair made first down, and Small followed a four yard gain by Gruhn with a 30 yard run thru tackle. Several rushes by Small, Gruhn and Blair put the ball on the seven yard line at the end of the third period. Score: Maine 6, Bates 0.

The start of the last period saw Small take the ball for four yards more and Gruhn take it across for another touchdown.

Maine kicked off to Bates on the 30 yard line, and after an end run, Bates completed a forward pass for a first down. The next pass was intercepted by Gentile and it was Maine's ball on 45 yard line. After a number of small gains, Maine kicked to Bates. Here Dwelley went in for Frazer. Rutsky tried his fake forward again but only made a small gain. Savage replaced Littlefield. Bates tried a forward and failed. Woodman ploughed thru the line for a gain. Two more rushes, and Bates had first down. Then came a series of forward passes which found Maine's six yard line before the air game could be halted. Here they made two rushes and the third by Ray took the ball across the Blue line. Peterson kicked the goal.

Bates kicked to Maine and the Blue started a march down the field. Maine was obtaining first downs in rapid succession when whistle declared the game ended, and once more Maine had given Bates a beating on her own field.
