

Eighty Schools Send Speakers To Maine

Prize Speakers To Visit Maine For Contest

One hundred and eighty contestants, representing eighty high schools and academies, will compete in the 38th annual University of Maine Prize Speaking contest on Friday, it was announced by Prof. Howard O. Runtion this week.

The competitors will arrive on campus Thursday night and Friday morning. A luncheon will be served in the Memorial Gymnasium at noon, and the contest will begin at 2 p.m. University students will serve as judges.

The speakers will be divided into seven categories: serious reading, humorous reading, declamation, extemporaneous speaking, original oratory, group discussion, and radio speaking. In each category there will be one or more divisions, the winners of which will meet for the run-offs in the evening. The humorous and the serious speaking run-offs will be held in the Little Theatre and the others in 6 South Stevens.

The winners in each division will receive medals as well as those who come out on top in the various categories.

High Schools

The schools taking part in the contest are the following: High Schools—Bucksport, Norway, Besse, Phillips, Guilford, Crosby, Newport, Milo, West Paris, Farmington, Cony, Mechanic Falls, Garret Schenck, Brownville, Denmark, St. Croix, Sherman, Bingham, Winslow, Stockton Springs, Sullivan, Kingfield, Madison, Woodstock, Clinton, Brownville Junction, Stratton, Good Will, Lewiston, Winter Harbor, Mars Hill, Brewer, Mattanawcook, Limestone, Old Town, Orono, Paris, Bar Harbor, Walker, Kennebunkport, Houlton, Brunswick, Carmel, Demysville, Farmington, Stearns, Strong, Bangor, Westbrook, Waterville, Bucksport, Ellsworth, Milo, and West Paris.

Academies—Hamden, East Corinth, Blue Hill, George Stevens, Leavitt Institute, Wilton, Coburn Classical Institute, Freedom, Washington, Monson, Foxcroft, Eastern Maine Institute, Lee, and Ricker Classical Institute.

Educators Elect Kennan Secretary

Dr. Richard B. Kennan, assistant professor of education at the University of Vermont, was chosen recently by the executive committee of the Maine Teachers' Association to fill the position of full-time executive secretary of the Association.

Dr. Kennan, a native of Massachusetts, was educated in Holyoke High School, Hyannis Normal School, Clark University, and Teachers College, Columbia University, where he received his A.M. and Ph.D. degrees. He has served as teacher and principal in elementary and secondary schools in Massachusetts, Connecticut, and New York. He was superintendent of schools of Georgetown, Delaware, for four years, a part-time instructor in the Horace Mann School for a time, and since 1937 has been a member of the faculty of the University of Vermont.

He will make his first public appearance as executive secretary at the annual Conference of Principals of Secondary Schools in Augusta on May 3, when he will be one of the speakers.

New Presidents Elected For Coed Organizations

Alma Hansen, Elizabeth Gammons, and Mary Boone were elected presidents for 1940-41 of the Women's Student Government Association, Women's Athletic Association, and Y.W.C.A., in the election held April 18.

Other officers of the W.S.G.A. are: Barbara Savage, vice president; Gloria Miniutti, secretary; and Frances Donovan, treasurer.

Eleanor Ward was elected vice president of the W.A.A.; Marie Rourke, secretary; and Agnes Walsh, senior representative and treasurer.

The vice president of the Y.W.C.A. is Barbara Farnham; secretary, Florence Cousins; and treasurer, Elizabeth Peaslee.

'Campus' Staff Banquet May 7

The annual banquet of the Campus business and editorial staffs will be held Tuesday, May 7, at the Tarratine Club in Bangor, it was announced this week by Rachel Kent, retiring associate editor, who is in charge of arrangements.

Invitations were sent out this week. Guests will include Dr. Arthur A. Hauck, Prof. Reginald Coggeshall, and the members of the University of Maine Press.

Van Alexander, Swing King, Plays for Prom

Band Leader Wrote 'A Tisket A Tasket' Hit Parade Leader

Van Alexander, youthful swing king, will bring his versatile orchestra to the campus for the Junior Prom May 3, it was announced this week. Though new in the nation's headlines, Alexander has in less than a year captured a following of thousands of swing enthusiasts from coast to coast.

One song is responsible. Alexander wrote "A Tisket A Tasket," which led the Hit Parade for eight consecutive weeks, and sold more than 250,000 records. This song placed Van Alexander's name before the public both as a composer and a leader.

Since the birth of "A Tisket A Tasket," Alexander has written several other songs, and including "Hay Bar," "In a Good for Nothing Mood," "Got a Pebble in My Shoe," and "Alexander's Swingin'." He has put modern dress on several nursery rhymes, while his arrangements of "Night and Day," "We'll Never Know," "Road to Mandalay," and "See a Lot of Me," have been sought for and played by the name bands of the country.

Alexander won his laurels as song writer, pianist, and outstanding arranger before organizing his orchestra.

Since coming before the public in person, his rise has been speedy. Among the places the Alexander orchestra has played are the Roseland Ballroom, New York; Raymore Ballroom, Boston; Chez Firehouse, New York; Steel Pier, Atlantic City; "Murray's," Tuckahoe, N. Y.; Virginia Beach; and the Top Hat, Union City, N. J.

Maine Chorus To Sing In Symphonic Concert

The University of Maine Chorus will participate in a production of the "Russian Fantasy," by Samuel Richards Gaines, at the Bangor Symphony Orchestra's final concert of the season Thursday evening, May 2, in Bangor City Hall.

The orchestral numbers will include works by Massenet, Hadley, Liszt, and Tchaikovsky. The soloist will be Herbert Brill of the Rochester Philharmonic Orchestra, who will appear in the "Scottish Fantasy" for violin, by Bruch. Professor Adelbert W. Sprague of the Department of Music will conduct the orchestra and chorus.

Plane Lost Three Weeks; Aircraft Search in Vain

With their plane lost somewhere in the game preserve between here and Old Town, two student owners have been making frantic efforts to locate the wreck. Last week an airplane from Bangor was chartered to make a special patrol over the area, but the attempt was fruitless.

The owners and co-builders, Al Charpentier and Ray Morong, are contemplating a "skirmish line" search as soon as the area is passable. The lost ship is gasoline-powered with a six foot wingspread. Much concern is felt because the craft was the most successful built in the Sigma Nu construction boom.

The ill-fated ship took off three weeks ago from the football field, coaxed through the poplars behind the bleachers without mishap, drove the

'Stage Door' Principals

This trio plays the major roles in Edna Ferber's and George S. Kaufman's Stage Door, fourth and last Masque production of the year, which opens for a four-night run at 7:45 next Monday in the Little Theatre.

New Members Elected to Tau Beta Pi

Tau Beta Pi, honorary engineering society, elected eleven students to membership at a recent meeting.

The new members are: Alfred A. Mann, George B. Cotton, James O. Williams, David S. Greenlaw, and John D. Pennell, chemical engineers; Carl R. Brown and Lester D. Chipman, electrical engineers; Wilson M. Alford, a civil engineer; Francis A. Wheeler, a mechanical engineer; Richard R. Chase, a major in pulp and paper technology; and John T. Parsons, a major in engineering physics.

It was also voted at the same meeting to confer honorary membership on Frank Banks '06, chief construction engineer on the Grand Coulee dam, and on Willard J. Strout '29, assistant chief engineer for the Bangor and Aroostook Railroad. Both of these men are civil engineers.

Stanley Holland, Douglas Carr, and John O'Donoghue will make up the

Gerrish Elected Valedictorian

Harold Gerrish was chosen by the senior class in an election held Thursday, April 18, to deliver the valedictory address at Commencement.

Other results of the election for senior class parts are: Ode, Elnora L. Savage; Oration, William W. Treat; History, Donald C. Smith; Poem, Julia W. Warren; Prophecy (Men), Kenneth G. Burr; Prophecy (Women), Alice Ann Donovan; Gifts (Men), Malcolm W. Roberts; Gifts (Women), Marion H. Fitzgerald; Sophomore Marshal, Edward P. Barrows.

Mrs. Howard To Instruct In Summer Work

Mrs. G. S. Howard, a hostess in Maine summer hotels for a number of years, will be the instructor in the course on the fundamentals of summer waitress work to be offered next week, it was announced by Philip J. Brockway, placement director, this week.

The course, which is sponsored by the Maine Hotel association, will be presented in Merrill Hall April 29-May 4, from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m. and from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m.

Mrs. Howard has had wide experience in instructing employees in waitress work, and will present a practical course covering basic fundamentals required in the efficient waitress.

Completion of the course is no guarantee of employment, but all finishing it will be registered with the Maine State Employment service and the University Placement Bureau.

Maine Day To Include Sports, Dance

Walter Whitney Is Author of Faculty Skit

May Day will be Maine Day this year, thanks to a coincidence in dates. Differing from former years, the holiday will be limited to an afternoon and evening programs as a result of the pressure of other activities, President Arthur A. Hauck has announced.

In place of classes, events are scheduled to include sports, a tree planting and open house at Estabrook Hall, the new women's dormitory. The evening program, same as in the past, will include community singing, a faculty skit, and a stag dance.

Estabrook Hall will be open to the student body from 1 until 3 p.m. The tennis team will meet Tufts at 1:30, while the varsity baseball team opens the home season with a game with Bowdoin at 3:30.

President Hauck and Dean Arthur L. Deering will take part in a tree planting ceremony in front of Winslow Hall at 2 p.m. This planting is in line with the spring custom of the 4-H clubs all over the state.

The evening program will begin with a concert by the band. The Glee club, under the direction of Albion P. Beverage, will lead the audience in a community sing. This will be followed by the faculty skit, a four-act play by Walter Whitney of the English department. The title of the play is still a secret.

The students are invited to be the guests of the faculty at a stag dance following the faculty skit.

New Officers In W.S.G.A.

Installation of the newly-elected officers was the keynote of the Women's Student Government Association meeting Tuesday at nine in the Little Theatre. The new officers, Alma Hansen, president; Barbara Savage, vice president; Gloria Miniutti, secretary; and Frances Donovan, treasurer, took over the duties of Alice Ann Donovan, Helen Wormwood, Alma Hansen, and Margaret Phillips, respectively.

As the presiding officer, Alice Ann Donovan spoke of several innovations to be carried out by the organization next year. There is to be no probation for upperclass women. Freshman women are to be allowed to sign up for 8:30 evening permissions rather than the customary 7:30 during the week, in order to attend group meetings.

Dean Edith G. Wilson expressed admiration for the "broadening scope of activity" which the W.S.G.A. has been developing and praised the council's efforts to have as many girls as possible share the opportunities for leadership in the organization.

Students on Deputation To Harvard Foundation

During the past week-end a student deputation from the Wesley Foundation visited the Wesley Foundation at Harvard University. The team was composed of Richard Akley, Leona Runtion and Fred Burden, who spoke on phases of "Religion Down in Maine," and Emily Oakes and Chester Darling, musicians. Dorothy Randall was the leader of worship and the social program.

Harvard Professor To Be Junior Day Speaker

J. Anton De Haas, professor of international relations at the Harvard graduate school of business administration, will be the Junior Day assembly speaker on Friday, May 3, it was announced this week. Prof. De Haas has a wide reputation as a brilliant and entertaining speaker.

Prof. De Haas, who received his bachelor's and doctor's degrees from Stanford University, has held professorships at Stanford, Ohio State, New York University, and the University of Rotterdam in the Netherlands.

He was decorated by the Queen of Holland with the Order of Orange-

Maine 'Campus' Rating Moves To First-Class

Issues Included in Survey Were Edited By Charles Pierce

The Maine Campus moved up to a first-class rating in the 22nd annual All-American newspaper critical service of the Associated Collegiate Press, it was learned by the editorial staff this week.

For the past few years the Campus has held a second-class rating, but last fall and winter the paper's score jumped well over 100 points. Charles A. Pierce was editor during this period.

The scoring is based on news values, sources, writing, editing, headlines, typography, make-up, departments, and special features.

Four hundred six college papers from forty-seven states, the District of Columbia, and Hawaii were included in the survey. Twenty-seven papers in the 1000-3000 student enrollment class of weeklies were given first-class ratings, 11 All-American, the highest standing, while 52 fell in lower brackets.

The Campus scored 680 points, missing All-American rating by 70 points. A year ago the score was 565 points.

Given special mention in the survey were four dailies, from the Universities of Texas, Wisconsin, Michigan, and Minnesota; and two weeklies, from Fenn College, Cleveland, Ohio, and Milwaukee State Teachers College.

Coffin Speaks At Maine

"Poetry is substance, the addition of good things," said Robert T. Coffin, Maine poet, lecturer, and professor at Bowdoin, in his talk at the Little Theatre last Thursday.

"Where the scientist is impersonal and takes things apart, the poet puts himself into things," he said.

"A poet doesn't have to mention the word love," he said. "A woman once said to me that I never write love poems," he continued. "Apparently because I never use the word 'love' itself." He described as an example of his love poems, How to Make a Whistle, "A boy, a girl, and a whistle mean spring, and suggest love," he said.

Concert Presented by Harvard Glee Club

The Harvard Glee Club under the direction of G. Wallace Woodworth presented a concert April 19 in the Memorial Gymnasium under the sponsorship of the Maine Christian Association and the University Assembly Committee.

The Men's Glee Club and women students served as ushers. After the concert, members of the visiting club were guests at a formal reception in Alumni Gymnasium. President and Mrs. Arthur A. Hauck, Professor and Mrs. Reginald Coggeshall, Albion Beverage, and Dr. and Mrs. H. S. Hinsman formed the receiving line.

Ten Outstanding Freshmen Named To Each Society

The election of ten freshman women to the Eagles, sophomore honorary society, was announced last night at the annual banquet given by sophomores to the freshman women.

The following were elected to the Eagles: Margaret Church, Helen Deering, Frances Donovan, Dorothy MacLeod, Jeanne Patten, Elizabeth Price, Marie Rourke, Evelyn Tondreau, Lois White, and Rita Wilcox.

Toastmistress

Barbara Savage was toastmistress and welcomed the freshmen. Mary Moynihan, representing the freshmen, replied. Two other freshmen, Evelyn Tondreau and Marie Rourke, spoke, as did Dean Edith G. Wilson. Margaret Phillips, president of the Eagles, and Shirley Ashman, the president of Neai Mathetai, honorary scholastic society, also made brief speeches.

Guests included Mrs. Arthur A. Hauck, house mothers of the various women's dormitories, and members of the women's physical education department faculty.

Eagles

Margaret Church is a home economics major and a member of the department club. She is secretary of the Maples and was recently elected secretary of Chi Omega.

Helen Deering, also a home economics major, is a member of the Home Economics Club.

Frances Donovan, an arts and sciences student, is a member of Delta Delta Delta, secretary of the freshman class, was recently elected treasurer of the W.S.G.A., and was named to both the All-Maine hockey and basketball teams.

Dorothy MacLeod is a member of the French Club, and arts and sciences student, and a member of Alpha Omicron Pi.

Jeanne Patten, Maples president the first semester, was a member of the

Lennie Lizzott For Pan-Hel Ball

Over three hundred couples will dance to the music of Lennie Lizzott and his orchestra at the first Pan-hellenic dance to be held on this campus, Friday evening at the Memorial Gymnasium.

Virginia Moulton, a member of Alpha Omicron Pi sorority, will be presented as the new president of Pan-hellenic Council succeeding Elizabeth Kruse of Chi Omega.

Shortly after intermission, the new presidents of the five sororities will be presented in ceremony. Dancing will be from 8:30 to 1:30. Polly Cooper is chairman of the program.

Taylor Recommends Work Hours for Women

Earnest consideration of a 48 hour maximum work week was urged for women and minors by Charles Taylor, commissioner of labor and industry, speaking Tuesday before the Maine Government class in South Stevens.

Although such a bill was introduced at the last session of the legislature, the present law allows a 54 hour week. This law is almost impossible to enforce, however, in summer camps and restaurants, he said.

Mr. Taylor advocated the extension of the workmen's compensation law on a compulsory basis to all but domestic and agricultural workers. He also said that the people of the state of Maine should have "enough backbone to either amend or enforce the Fair Labor Standards Act to stop plant operations on Sunday." Such operations are invariably allowed under the guise of necessity.

After telling of a few of his many experiences in strikes and labor disputes, Mr. Taylor said that he felt a five-day production week would increase employment, raise consuming power, and, in turn, increase production. Such a law, coupled with a nation-wide "Buy American" campaign, would help many of this country's economic ills, he concluded.

The Problem of Greenland

The problem of the status of Greenland, resulting from the German military occupation of Denmark, has grave implications for the position of the United States in regard to the European war. Authorities agree that Greenland belongs to the American continent, and that if Germany establishes a protectorate there, the application of the Monroe Doctrine is justifiable.

The glacier-bound island has little economic value, but as a potential military and naval base on the northern route between Europe and the United States, its strategic position arouses apprehension in Canada and in this country.

Although Secretary of State Cordell Hull stated that the question is as yet only theoretical, the economic problem of Greenland will become acute this spring. Since the island depends on Denmark for all staple commodities, a serious food shortage may result from the enforcement of the Allied blockade against Nazi-controlled Danish shipping, unless someone comes to the rescue.

How should America stand on this question? Should we maintain a rigid isolationist policy and possibly have to see a country of alien ideals gain a foothold in this hemisphere, or should we invoke the Monroe Doctrine and run the risk of becoming tangled in Europe's imbroglio? Or should we leave the problem to England, and thus allow a violation of the doctrine as it stands today?

C. M. W.

Freeing the German People

Can a people be distinguished from its government? That is what England has attempted to do, first in the case of Germany and now in its treatment of Italy. At the first of the war it was repeatedly emphasized that this war was being fought to free Germany from a ruler who was harmful to it.

When the matter is considered thoroughly it seems as though such a distinction is theoretical rather than practical. Every time England enters a war a few fine sounding phrases help to keep the "Home fires burning with a warlike ardor." Perhaps swallowing a few slogans leaves less room for butter and bacon. Anyway such an expression as "this is a war against Hitlerism" seems to offer some hope for a new Europe after the "Scourge of God" is removed.

With such an ideal before them, the people of England can forget the uselessness of this war. If Hitler is removed the German people are free to set up a democratic government. This is such a grand solution that it makes fighting a World War to remove Hitler seem like a crusade to free the German people. It is to be hoped that they will be properly appreciative.

An S.O.S. to the Students

The Campus needs help. We frankly admit it. The staff of reporters at present is large enough to get the paper out every week, but it is not large enough to get out a good paper. The masthead makes a brave show of names, but many of them are carried as much for old time's sake as for any other reason.

The student body, perhaps, does not know how the staff is selected. Anyone who cares to try his hand at reporting needs only to come to the regular staff meeting at 1:00 p.m. Friday at the M.C.A. building to get an assignment, and as much instruction as we are able to give. Each reporter, depending upon the quantity and merit of his work, is given credit every week, with 50 points the maximum for a single story. When the reporter has acquired 500 points he is promoted to star reporter. This usually takes from five to eight months. If the reporter shows ability and interest he has a good chance of being elected to the editorial board.

The Campus operates at enough of a profit to be able to pay its staff, although the yearly check of the reporter is admittedly almost negligible. Members of the editorial board and business staff do earn a fair-sized amount.

There are four issues left this spring, and in that time a candidate can get enough experience and win enough credits to earn a responsible editorial position next year. We earnestly invite any would-be journalists to come to the staff meeting Friday noon and ask for an assignment.

Res Politicæ

By Martin Scher

The student peace committee at the University of California has prepared a 71-page report on military training at the school in an attempt to influence the Board of Regents to change the ROTC from a compulsory to a voluntary basis. Some of the important points made were:

First, that compulsory ROTC has little or no physical-education benefits because the exercise is of the wrong type.

Second, that it is of little value for national defense as the War Department does not urge or even suggest that it be made compulsory; those taking the basic two-year course, which could be covered in one week of intensive training, are not potential reserve officers; it trains students in the use of outmoded weapons of war with no gas mask or bayonet drill; and voluntary ROTC is a much less expensive means of turning out reserve officers.

Third, that it does not provide good citizenship training or develop character as the military instructors are in no way qualified to teach citizenship; it makes for parrot-like repetition, and unthinking, unquestioning, obedience.

Fourth, that the ROTC develops a mind which accepts war as "inevitable"; furthermore, students are presented with a version of war that ends on the parade ground and at the military ball.

The phrase, "government of the people, by the people, and for the people," must fall flat on the ears of ten million citizens in eight southern states, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia, Alabama, Georgia, Arkansas, Mississippi, and South Carolina, on the basis of an article in Friday. As a result of the poll tax in the low cash-income states, these individuals, 98% of whom were born in the United States, are disenfranchised. Very interesting in this connection is the fact that Martin Dies, reactionary red-baiter, was re-elected in 1938 by a total vote of but 4.2% of his district. Supporters of democracy should write to their representatives in support of the Geyer bill, to abolish the poll tax in elections for Federal offices.

Harlan Miller, in his column, Washington, has very aptly defined some of those vague, ambiguous phrases which have recently accompanied most of the news from Europe. Unimpeachable source, loose-tongued gent who cannot be impeached because he holds no official position. Unusually well informed, somebody who has read a book or has been seen carrying one. Usually reliable source, an under official who has been known to tell the truth before the fourth drink but who has been pumped after his sixth when he loses his grip on even the multiplication table.

Last week, Margaret Chase Smith, wife of the late Clyde Smith, filed papers for the nomination to fill out his unexpired term. If Mrs. Smith, who was her husband's secretary in Washington, a member on the Republican State Committee here, follows in his footsteps, the liberal bloc in congress will be assured of an efficient and progressive colleague.

The Maine Campus
Dear Sir:

I read with interest the article in last week's Campus concerning the Rockefeller Fellowship awarded to Clark Kuneby by the National Theatre Conference, and especially the statement "that upon the completion of his training, Kuneby will return to Maine to teach acting and to direct in the experimental educational theatre." I have followed Mr. Kuneby's work closely since his graduation from the University. He is, I feel, an outstanding person in his field; but my colleagues and I do not anticipate any vacancies for which he could be recommended.

Sincerely yours,
Herschel L. Bricker

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The Campus erred not once, but twice; first in printing a second time the story of Kuneby's fellowship, and second, in failing to check the statement referred to by Prof. Bricker. A release from the Rockefeller Foundation contained the incorrect statement.)

Evidently this corner was not the only one that like the Farm and Home Hour broadcast of last week. From Chicago comes the following telegram: D. B. Dusenbury, Program Director, University of Maine, Orono

Congratulations on a fine program. Please extend our thanks to all participating. Regards

Director of Agriculture, NBC, Chicago

Something new was incorporated into Open House this year when Bill Treat, Clark Brown, and Russ Woolley broadcast descriptions of experiments and demonstrations being carried on in Lord Hall. The boys used a portable mike and moved around the rooms describing the various operations as they saw them.

These broadcasts were the brainchildren of Bill and Clark who are, incidentally, campus representatives of WLZ.

The Monday broadcasts from the University are to be dropped for the rest of the year. The reasons are the interference of daylight saving time and the Boston broadcasts of the baseball games.

These broadcasts have included three sets of programs, a History Series, Epoch Discoveries of the Past, and Interviews with the Past.

According to Delwin Dusenbury, program director, over one hundred students have participated in these Monday airings since they were inaugurated.

The speech department has a complete recording of the NBC broadcast on file. And when we say complete we mean complete. The platter contains the entire show, including the place where Bill Wetherbee tried to kick over the microphone.

The closing broadcasts of the current season are to be entitled The March of Maine, and will probably be heard the last two weeks in May.

These broadcasts will be patterned after the March of Time program and will be a dramatization of events of the past year.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—(ACP)—The U. S. state department may be the representative to the world of the entire nation, but it's a Harvard-Yale-Princeton delegation so far as the country's colleges are concerned.

A recent study of the approximately 700 members of this particular governmental unit reveals that almost 25 per cent are from the big three universities of the east, with Harvard ranking first, Yale second, and Princeton third.

Next in rank come Cornell, Dartmouth, Stanford, California, Michigan, and Minnesota. All told, there are 150 alma maters represented.

This Collegiate World

A.C.P.

Several years have elapsed, but the story is still a good one. A Cornell University undergraduate, fascinated by the epic proportions of the feat, determined to pay his university bill of $243.50 entirely in pennies. Investigation at a local bank revealed that 24,350 pennies could be procured in exchange for bills. The resultant sack of copper coins was hauled to the treasurer's office and stacked before the proper window, whereupon an incensed treasurer informed the paining student that pennies in that sum were not legal tender and could not be accepted.

Undaunted, our hero returned to the bank, planning to deposit his pennies and get the cash to pay his bill. It seems, however, that the banks had an unfortunate rule to the effect that pennies could not be accepted for deposit unless wrapped, so in desperation the student was forced to hire a bank clerk to wrap the coins. For the small sum of $8.00 the clerk worked the greater part of the night and by morning the pennies were ready for deposit.

Armed with the necessary cash a much chastened student returned again to the treasurer's office, feeling much relief at the prospective ending of an unhappy episode, only to find that an additional fine of $5.00 had been slapped against his account for late payment of fees.

Like their modern descendants, students didn't pass in the biblical days, either! And if you don't believe it, give a once-over to the following quotations gathered for you by an industrious reporter on the staff of the Pioneer, student newspaper at Whitman College:

"Thou shalt not pass."—Numbers 20:18.

"Suffer not a man to pass."—Judges 3:28.

"The wicked shall no more pass."—Nahum 1:15.

"None shall pass."—Isaiah 34:10.

"This generation shall not pass."—Mark 13:30.

"There shall no strangers pass."—Amos 3:17.

"Beware that thou pass not."—2nd Kings 6:9.

"Neither any son of man pass."—Jeremiah 51:43.

"No man may pass through because of the beasts."—Ezekiel 14:15.

"Though they roar, yet they can not pass."—Jeremiah 5:22.

We don't go in for exam boners very often, but this one from Hillsdale College quiz contains more truth than boner: "A moron is a person with several husbands or wives, an insane sort of an individual."

Robert Nathan has created in Portrait of Jenny a novel of haunting charm that, as William Lyon Phelps expresses it, "lingers in the memory like an afterglow." Some reviewers have dubbed it the most popular novel of 1940, but, at the year's end, I doubt that it will fulfill this promise among more substantial contributions.

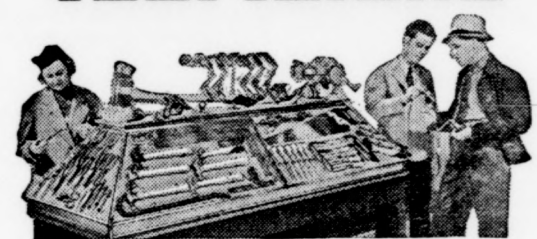

Although the delicate style pleases by its harmony with the fanciful plot, the idea upon which the plot hinges is too implausible for the conventional reader. Two people whose lives are woven together can overcome even the barriers of space and time to be with each other. The author never explains how this phenomenon takes place but merely tells the simple love story of the artist and the little girl whose portrait made him famous and who has blundered into today from a not-too-distant yesterday.

The novel first appeared as a serial in Red Book magazine where it was favorably received by a wide and varied public. A wistful little fantasy, imbued with a peculiar quality of timelessness, it will appeal principally, however, to the reader with a taste for the unusual. For all readers it will open new doors of speculation.

VARSITY TEAMS ON NEW ENGLAND TRIPS

Twelve Man Tennis Squad Goes on Trip

By Bill Chandler

Twelve men left Wednesday noon on the annual New England tennis tour. Through the use of the unusually large squad Coach Small hopes to be able to start some fresh doubles teams in the matches.

Thursday the netmen face New Hampshire, which may be the hardest of the three matches. Much will depend upon the material which is brought up from the freshman team of last year. The strength of the other two college teams played will also depend quite a bit upon the same factor.

Connecticut was beaten last year by Maine and Rhode Island has graduated nearly its entire team. The schedule is arranged for the Connecticut match on Friday and the Rhode Island match on Saturday. If the New Hampshire courts are snowed under, the other two matches will be advanced a day, and the New Hampshire match will be played on Saturday.

The tentative ranking released for the trip is as follows: (1) Hamilton, (2) Thurston, (3) Crockett, (4) Pierce, (5) Chandler, (6) Svedeman, (7) Hinckley, (8) Chase, (9) Farar, (10) Francis, (11) La Barge, (12) Mertens.

Throughout the practice matches several doubles teams have shown up well. Hamilton and Crockett, the veteran doubles pair, will undoubtedly see plenty of action. Pierce and Chandler have been working well together. Hinckley and Mertens, and Chase and LaBarge are two other pairs which will probably see service.

The trip will give Coach Small a real estimate of the material which will face the state colleges. The prospects for winning on the trip seem good.

Varsity Baseball Prospects Good for New England Trip

By T. P. Dimmer

The University of Maine baseball team faces its acid test this week, as, on the regular New England trip of the year, it clashes on successive days with three of the section's leading ball clubs. The Bears tackle the Rhode Island team on Thursday, travel to Boston on Friday to play the powerful Northeastern group and wind up their invasion on Saturday against the University of New Hampshire at Durham.

Kenyon Pleased

According to Coach Bill Kenyon, the Maine team is ready to meet any of its rivals and give them a good battle. Commenting on last Saturday's outdoor practice game, Coach Kenyon said, "I was very pleased with the work of the team as a whole, but particularly with the showing of my pitchers. Mann, Dangler, and Roberts were very effective, and I expect them to give our opponents plenty of trouble all season long."

Kenyon also praised the fine showing of his outfield prospects, Gerrish, Blake, Meserve, Healy, and French, and indicated that he was agreeably surprised by the work of some of the infield, particularly Carroll Davis at third. Mention of the team's apparent hitting power on Saturday also brought a smile to the face of the varsity baseball mentor. "The hitting was exceptionally good for the first outdoor drill," he said, "and I think that it will continue to be so."

From all information available the Bears appear to be taking quite a task upon themselves when they travel south this Thursday. Northeastern has a veteran team, boasting many holdovers from last year, and capable of putting at least five hitters with a .300 batting average in the field. Rhode Island is always dangerous at Kingston, and this year's team, although not exceptional, is expected to give Maine one of its stiffest battles. New Hampshire also has a great club. The main asset of the Wildcats this year appears to be their battery strength. With Jordan and Roper hurling, and the veteran, Hersey, in the catching spot, the Wildcats can boast, according to Coach Kenyon, "the best battery in New England."

The New England trip ends on Saturday, but there will be no extended rest for the Maine team. The state series games begin on Monday, when the Kenyon men meet Bates at Lewiston.

Maine fans will have their first opportunity to see their team in action on Wednesday, when the varsity meets Bowdoin at Orono in the first home game of the season. Here again Coach Kenyon prophesied more thrilling action. Said the varsity mentor, "Bates is definitely the team to beat, with Colby always a dangerous rival. I believe that Bowdoin is the weaker of the three, but bear one thing in mind—never underestimate a state series opponent. First place? Oh yes, Maine will be there when the season ends."

Sailing Club Enters Brown Yacht Regatta

The Brown University yacht club will play hosts to twelve student clubs this Saturday and Sunday, when it holds the New England Intercollegiate Yacht Racing Association non-member regatta on the Seekonk River at Providence.

The Maine sailing club will send a crew of five to the event. The series will be the first active event of the organization. One cannot predict how the Maine crew will fare, as they have had no practice this season, and have never sailed together. Ray Gay, Warren Roll, Charles Gildersleeve, Dan Roberts, and Gene Leger will comprise the crew. Roll is a former Snipe class national junior champion, and Roberts is a former Star class Great Lakes champion.

Twelve races will be sailed, six on each day, with the crews changing boats each race, so that each crew will have a chance to sail all boats. The Maine sailing club will sail a crew in each of the two divisions, and the total points will determine the winning team. The first three boats in the series will earn the right to compete in the Boston Dinghy club challenge cup races on May 12. Brown yacht club dinghies will be used.

Golfers Fail To Get Outside Before Trip

The golf team left yesterday for Boston where it will meet Boston University in the first of its New England matches April 25.

Handicapped by inclement weather, the team has been unable to hold any regular practice sessions and will be starting "cold" against B. U. On Friday the team meets Rhode Island, and on Saturday it will play Connecticut.

Those going on the trip are Hank Pryor, Larry Burney, Buzz Tracy, and Horace Bracy, all lettermen, plus Dan Caouette and Don Griffie, who are on the varsity this year.

Because of lack of outdoor practice, a forecast of the results is difficult, but if the team duplicates last year's performances, a victory against any or all of these opponents is possible. Phil Jones, golf adviser, will accompany the team.

NOTICE

Sunday evening, April 28, at 7 o'clock, Dr. Herbert D. Lamson will be the speaker at the meeting of the Wesley Foundation Student Forum at the Methodist Church. Dr. Lamson will discuss "Some Problems of Contemporary Marriage." The forum will be followed by a social hour.

Style prediction from a college columnist: This winter the fashionable co-ed will find the bustle a stern necessity. (ACP)

NOTICE

President Arthur A. Hauck has requested that all drivers on the campus be especially careful about turning corners too sharply during the wet weather. "We may have many acres of lawn, but we want to keep them," he said.

NOTICE

Men students interested in a sales opportunity for the summer months are invited to interview an employer in this field at the Placement Bureau on the afternoon of Monday, April 29. Any students who would like to get the details of this opportunity should make an appointment with the Placement Director for an interview previous to noon that day.

Roger A. Stearns was elected president of the Athletic Association as a result of the election held Thursday, April 18. James Harris is the senior member; Edward Barrows, the junior member; and Richard Martinez, the sophomore member.

Hi, sports fans. Fine thing... here we were all set for a corker of a spring athletic season and what happens? The weatherman gives us a foot of snow that will set the season back at least two weeks if not more. Oh well... they say a snow like this is the poor man's fertilizer. ... Ought to be good for Aroostook potatoes even if it isn't for Maine sports.

Bare Facts: 1. Sally Rand, 2. Your face, 3. Our pocketbook, 4. Mother Hubbard's cupboard, 5. The baseball diamond, 6. The tennis court.

DID YOU KNOW

...that Coach Jenkins used to teach mathematics... that the horsefish Stan Johnson is bragging about actually weighed only 200 lbs. (small for horsefish)... that Fred Brice's hobby is floriculture... that when Mac Roberts was in prep school he was sent into a football game to run three plays and kick. In three plays his team had advanced the ball to the three-yard line. On the next play he dropped into the deep back position and kicked the ball over the end zone bleachers.

PALE BLUE PERSONALITY

Major James G. Cooper, coach of the Maine rifle teams, has been on the R.O.T.C. staff at Maine for two years and with the United States Army since 1917. During the World War he was overseas for three years and eight months, and was in the Army of Occupation. He is an alumnus of the University of Washington, and before coming here coached their women's rifle team to a national championship.

Last year at the University of Maine, the rifle team, under Major Cooper's direction, took second place in the New England Corps area. This year the Maine rifle team won 61 postal meets out of 72 and won two New England championships. The national returns have not yet been completed, but Maine is expected to stand high.

Major Cooper is a good coach, and a man who is liked by all. For being what Maine men traditionally are, the Maine Campus salutes you... Major Cooper!!

NEW ENGLAND CONFERENCE

By the way things look, the New England Conference baseball series is going to be hot this year. Coaches from all five Conference teams are issuing statements to the effect that their teams are going to win. All indications at present are that it will end in a deadlock.

Henry Swasey, New Hampshire coach, says, "Connecticut and Rhode Island will be the teams to beat, but watch New Hampshire." Last year New Hampshire won 11 out of 17 games and batted .303, claiming to be stronger this year.

Rhode Island, last year's champs, lost eight men, but they have plenty of strength in the battery positions with Warner Keaney and Duke Abbruzzi doing the hurling and Cliff Pace and Frank Zammarchi doing the receiving.

Northeastern's principal weakness is in the pitching staff, but with several excellent sophomores coming up, they expect a good season. Connecticut, nosed out last year by Rhode Island for the championship, is as strong, if not stronger, than last year.

According to Coach Kenyon, Maine's hopes have risen markedly since his finding of the right-handed pitcher, Frank Shearer. With Doc Gerrish moved in behind the plate to keep the infield under control, and with the strong hitting power shown in practice, the Pale Blue baseball team should go places.

STUFF

We are starting a collection to buy the baseball team snowshoes so they can practice outside. Total to date three buttons, a pin, and a last week's trolley pass. ... Here's wishing all the teams heading south this week-end all kinds of luck, and may they come home victorious.

Frosh Baseball, Track Begin This Week

The next few days will see the inauguration of the spring sports schedule with the Frosh baseball, track, and tennis teams opening their seasons.

The baseball team will meet Higgins next Tuesday. At the present time the probable starting team will be: Nickerson at first base, with an alternate in Parker; Markee at second base with an alternate in Brackett; either Young or Sawyer at shortstop; Kittredge at third base; and Quint, Adell, Harvey, or McKen in the outfield. Tooley, Gilman, and Aho are the pitchers and Ward the catcher, with an alternate in Mortland.

The track team starts its season Saturday when it faces Deering and Lewiston. This meet will be held indoors because of the snow, but the men will run the outdoor distances, with the exception of 100 yard high and low hurdles.

The same men that starred during the indoor season will be running again in the outdoor meets. Youlden, Sinkinson, and Leonard will be the dashmen and Stewart and Radley the quarter-milers. The fate of Creamer, Moody, and Martinez will depend upon Coach Jenkins, who isn't sure just yet how they will run in the outdoor events. Should these three run the 880, Estabrooke and Hamm will run the mile. There will also be Hadlock and Brady in the hurdles and broad jump, and Brady in the high jump. The leading weight men will be Weisman and Dodge.

In the field of tennis there is little concerning the Frosh team since the tennis courts have been used by the varsity, and the Frosh have had little practice, but the team will be ready for their first game with Portland Junior College on May 6. They will then meet in order Tilton, Ricker, Caribou, Houlton, and Bangor. The final game will be played May 25 against Wassookeag.

College librarians have their troubles, too—and if you don't believe it, listen to this: A Glenville (W. Va.) State Teachers College librarian recently received a request for a book called "Forty Ways To Amuse a Dog." The person wanted "Forty Days of Musa Dagh." (ACP)

Public opinion will ultimately determine America's position in regard to the war. Keep posted.

Maine Weight Men Favored In Penn Relays

SMITH OUT

At 3 p.m., Thursday, it was announced by Ted Curtis, Faculty Manager of Athletics, that the two mile entry of Don Smith in the Penn Relays had been withdrawn.

Maine's three leading track stars, Don Smith, Stan Johnson, and Bob Bennett, leave Friday for Philadelphia to compete in the annual Penn Relays, opening meet of the eastern track season.

Bennett and Johnson will enter the 16 pound hammer throw, Smith the two mile run. Although Smith will probably encounter a little too much class in his event, the weight throwers will be, with Niles Perkins of Bowdoin, favored to sweep the first three places in the hammer.

The wintry weather this past week has prevented Johnson and Bennett from throwing outdoors, and this will probably mean that the distance they reach will be lessened considerably. Hammer throwing in the field house is impractical because of the many other athletes working out constantly.

Smith, although not in peak condition, should be able to place up among the first four or five. His chief rival will probably be New York University's sensational sophomore, Leslie MacMittell, although the latter may withdraw to run anchor on two Violette relay teams.

The Penn Relays this year will draw teams from as far away as Texas and Florida. North Texas Teachers will be favored to win the team title that Pittsburgh has held for two years, but some of the eastern colleges may upset the predictions.

Graduate Finds Mate Through Alumni Office

MADISON, WIS.—(ACP)—Last June a dapper young University of Wisconsin alumnus of the Class of 1934, back on the campus for class reunions, walked into the Alumni Records office to inquire as to the present whereabouts of a certain former classmate. She—yes, it was a member of the opposite sex in whom he was interested—had been a pretty nice girl on the campus and he had dated her several times.

Did the office know where she was living? Had she married? The office did and gave him all the vital information. She was not married, it so happened, and was living in a city not too distant from our hero's home.

Not long ago the Records office received a notice of the forthcoming marriage of the pair with due thanks for the "co-operation" in bringing about the match.

SOCIETY

Alpha Omicron Pi sorority held its spring initiation and banquet at the Bangor House Monday, April 22.

The seven freshman girls who were initiated are: Barbara Bean, Beverly Brawn, Alicia Coffin, Mary Hempstead, Marcia McCarthy, Dorothy McLeod, and Charlotte Morrison.

The four upperclass women who were initiated are: Florence Atwood, Eleanor Dougherty, Pauline Riley, and Margaret Moulton.

Off-Campus Women Meet at M.C.A.

The bi-monthly meeting of the new and old executive boards of the Off-Campus Women's Organization was held at the M.C.A. building Monday afternoon with the new president, Alma Fifield, presiding.

Plans were discussed for the spring dance and for the monthly mass meeting which will be held in the M.C.A. building Thursday evening. At this meeting the members of the organization will vote on the newly revised constitution.

Marksmen End Season In Combined Banquet

Ten members of the girls' rifle team and fifteen members of the men's rifle team were present at the annual banquet held Wednesday night at the White House inn in Milford. Guests were Colonel Robert Alcott, Major Harry Henkle, and Major James Cooper.

An interesting feature of the evening was the opening of the "penalty box" in which the members of the men's team had deposited a penny each time they dropped a point and five cents for a miss during competition.

NOTICE

Professor Dove, head of the Department of Biology at the Agricultural Experiment Station, will address a meeting of the Vanguards to be held Sunday, April 28, at 7:30 p.m. at the Loft of the Fellowship Church, 23 Bennoch Street, Orono. The subject of the talk will be "The Effect of Social Conditions on Population." The public is cordially invited to attend. Refreshments will be served.

In a bull-session argument, Lafayette College's Jack Hamilton bet he could walk 60 miles in 24 hours. He did—and collected nine bucks.

The ten highest ranking freshman women, members of Neai Mathetai, were announced as follows: Barbara Bean, Phyllis Bryant, Grace Burnett, Martha Gilley, Barbara Cole, Freda Flanders, Mary Grady, Margaret Heaton, Elizabeth Price, and Rita Wilcox.

THE BARBIZON

NEW YORK'S MOST EXCLUSIVE HOTEL
RESIDENCE FOR YOUNG WOMEN

Home of College Clubs in New York

The Barbizon is the home of college clubs in New York. Why? Perhaps it's because the Barbizon offers so many more of the smart interesting things that appeal to college girls. Daily it presents a harmonious medley of cultural and physical activities . . . musicals . . . art lectures . . . dramatics . . . a fine library . . . swimming pool . . . sun deck . . . squash courts. Another reason why college girls prefer living in The Barbizon Manner is its location . . . in the midst of New York's most fashionable residential section, yet convenient to important business centers, art galleries, museums, theatres and schools.
