FRESHMAN IS KILLED INSTANTLY WHEN HIT FROM BEHIND BY CAR

Carlton Wilson Was Popular Athlete of Class; Joseph Galbraith Injured

Carlton O. Wilson, 19, of Medford Hillside, Mass., of the freshman class, was instantly killed last Saturday evening when he was struck from behind by an automobile operated by Alfred M. Burr, of Old Town, at about eight o'clock. Joseph Galbraith, another freshman, who was walking with Wilson and two other boys, Gordon Stuart and Leonard Shaw, was painfully injured when hit by the same car.

The four boys were walking in pairs on the concrete highway in the direction of Orono when the accident occurred. Wilson and Galbraith were on the outside. The car, whose driver reported that he was blinded by the lights of an approaching vehicle, first struck Galbraith, tossing him into the ditch. It then hit Wilson, carrying him a distance of 70 feet. He is believed to have died instantly of a fractured skull.

Dr. Tomlinson, of Orono, was called to the scene. He ordered Wilson's body removed to Bangor, and Galbraith was taken to the Beta Theta Pi house, to which he is a pledge. His injuries consist of severe bruises on his legs and minor cuts.

The accident was investigated by Bangor and state police. No arrests were made.

Funeral services for Wilson were held Tuesday afternoon at his home in Massachusetts.

He was a very popular member of his class. He played on the freshman football team, and was a candidate for a position on the baseball nine. He was a pledge to Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity.

FIFTH FOREIGN MOVIE IS PRESENTED AT STRAND

'Kameradschaft' Is on Program for Tonight; German Production Has English Titles

The Strand Theatre in Orono will present "Kameradschaft" (Comradeship) tonight, as the fifth in the series of foreign pictures which are being brought to Orono. This is a German production with superimposed English titles, making the foreign dialogue no obstacle to complete understanding without knowledge of the language. It will be screened at 3:15 P.M. and 8:15 P.M.

This picture was awarded the Gold medal by the London Faculty of Arts for being the finest picture of the year 1931. G. W. Pabst, its director, has produced some outstanding German films in the silent and talking picture era. He discovered the acting ability of Greta Garbo in "Streets of Sorrows," a film of post-war Germany, unemployment, and revolution.

"Kameradschaft" is based on the mine disaster of Courrières in 1906, in which the lives of 1400 French miners were lost, but by setting it in the year 1919, in a Franco-German border mining village, Pabst has given it a modern and international significance. The story attempts to prove that political boundaries are purely artificial and contrary to nature, and develops the idea of comradeship in work.

In its depiction of a state of suppressed terror, "Kameradschaft" is equalled only by "Potemkin," and like "Potemkin," it also ends on a note of jubilation. The picture contains a large amount of French dialogue as well as German, thus appealing to large audiences.

Link Porter's Orchestra To Play for Junior Promenade

The Junior Prom Committee announced yesterday that Link Porter and his orchestra of Portland will play for the annual junior prom, which promises to be the most outstanding social event of the year, next Friday evening in Alumni Hall. Porter's orchestra has proved itself the largest attraction that has yet played at Ricker Gardens.

Tickets are now on sale for the dance, which will last from eight o'clock until two. The price of the tickets this year will be $3.30 including Federal tax. The chaperons for the affair will be Captain Hugh Wear and Major S. S. Eberle.

The junior prom committee in charge of the affair consists of: Arthur Hoyt, chairman; Roger Heffer, R. Francis Pascarelli, Donald T. Green, and Gerald Perkins.

Masque Will Give 'As You Desire Me' As Junior Week Production

Ernestine Merrill, retiring president of the Masque, will appear in her last Masque role as The Strange Lady in Pirandello's As You Desire Me, which is to be presented next Thursday evening as the concluding play of the season.

The award of the leading role in this powerful Italian drama to Miss Merrill comes as a fitting climax to an outstanding record, which has included leads in She Stoops To Conquer, Holiday, and As Husbands Go. As the Pirandello heroine, she has an unusual opportunity to demonstrate her recognized acting abilities.

The theme of the play is a challenging one. "Being is nothing; being is becoming," says the Strange Lady; and upon this thesis Pirandello has constructed his masterful and subtly moving play. Although one has descended to the dregs of society one can voluntarily construct for himself a new personality, build up a noble, inspiring life. This the Strange Lady does, and so powerful is her transformation, that in the face of the uncertainty of others, she can cling to her own convictions, and in spite of their doubt, believe in herself.

The cast for the play is: The Strange Lady, Ernestine Merrill; Carl Salter, Elston Ingalls; Mop, his daughter, Ruth Harding; Bruno Pieri, Edward Little;

ERNESTINE MERRILL

Boffi, Harold Barrett; Aunt Lena, Pauline Harmon; Uncle Salesio, John Wiley; Inez Masperi, Lora Brown; Silvio Masperi, Alfred Sweeney; Barbara, Bessie Gray; The Demented Lady, Barbara Sawyer; A Doctor, William Butler; and A Nurse, Eleanor Hill.

JAMES MORELAND IS CHOSEN SPEAKER ON JUNIOR WEEK SLATE

Annual Assembly To Take Place in Alumni Hall on Friday, May 5

James Moreland, instructor in the Department of English, will be the speaker on the Junior Week program this year according to an announcement made this week by Kenneth Aldrich, chairman of the junior week committee. Mr. Moreland, one of the most popular men on the faculty, came to the University of Maine from Kentucky in the fall of 1930. Before he accepted his position at Maine, he served for eight years as Registrar of Georgetown College, Kentucky.

Junior Week begins next Thursday evening with the presentation of "As You Desire Me" by the Maine Masque, with Ernestine Merrill playing the title role. Juniors will be excused from classes on Friday and the day's activities will begin with the annual junior week assembly on Friday morning. Philip Parsons, president of the Class of 1934, will be chairman of the assembly, which will be opened by a prayer by W. Lee Stone, class chaplain. Parsons will then speak, followed by Mr. Moreland.

During the day the "1934 Prism" will be issued to members of the junior class, and possibly to all those who have placed their orders. The book has several new features this year, the most outstanding being that a picture of every student and faculty member, with a few exceptions, will appear. The book also has the most complete sports section of any of its predecessors.

The usual junior week treasure hunt will be cancelled this year, because in the opinion of the committee in charge, treasure hunts in the past have not been entirely satisfactory.

In the evening the annual Junior Prom, the most outstanding social event of the year, will take place in Alumni Hall with the music for the affair being furnished by Link Porter and his orchestra from Portland.

The committee in charge of arrangements and the program for Junior Week this year consists of Kenneth Aldrich, chairman, Rita Stone, Frederick Black, Charles Prinn, and Charles Sinclair.

One of the great occasions of the year will be the observance of Scholarship Recognition Day at assembly on Wednesday, May 3rd. As usual, the faculty will be seated at the front of the hall, and seats will also be reserved there for senior students of honor grade. The honors will be announced by President Harold S. Boardman.

His most recent book is Civilizing Ourselves. It is significant that books by him are being used by four departments of the University.

Dr. Martin has the faculty of being not only enlightening, but highly interesting and stimulating. His subject here will be, "What is an Educated Person?"

All Me. Women Giving Annual Pageant June 9

Following the custom of the past seven years, the All Maine Women will present their annual pageant following the Class Day exercises on Friday, June 9. "Love and the Princess," an allegorical masque, has been chosen for this year's presentation. In selecting it, the All Maine Women are complying with requests to repeat the pageant which was so popularly received in 1928.

"Love and the Princess" was written by Mrs. Marcia Bailey, who will also coach the production, assuring the audience of a finished and artistic performance. A hint of the appeal of the masque (Continued on Page Three)

Senior Class To Vote by Ballot on Two Proposed Plans for Securing Class Gift

Recently the Senior Class held a meeting in regard to the method to be used in financing a gift to the University at the time of the 25th reunion. Two plans were submitted for the consideration of the members, but due to the lack of time and sufficient data no definite action was taken. It was suggested that the two proposed plans be published in the Campus in order that the members who were not in attendance at the meeting might read and understand them.

The two plans are as follows:
The Insurance Plan:
The class shall purchase a single premium 25 year endowment insurance policy with a face value of $1000 written on the youngest member of the class and payable to the University on the 25th reunion of the class of 1933. This policy will cost the class approximately $560.50, assuming survival of the person upon whom the policy is written and average dividends left on deposit with the company, the insurance company will turn over to the University approximately $1360.92 at the end of 25 years. The yield on this investment is between 3 1/2% and 4%. In case of death of the individual upon whom the policy is written within the period, $1000, the face amount of the policy, will be paid (Continued on Page Two)

JACK DEMPSEY, FORMER HEAVYWEIGHT CHAMP, GIVES STUDENTS ADVICE

Max Schmeling, former heavyweight boxing champion of the world, was initiated into Der Deutsche Verein, honorary German society, Tuesday night in Bangor, by Arne Menton, president of the club. After the formal initiation, he was presented with the club's shingle.

Schmeling, a native of Germany, was originally scheduled to address the student body of the University, Tuesday afternoon, under the auspices of the German society, but due to his training program he was unable to appear.

ACTRESS SCORES HIT IN CHAPEL PROGRAM

Frances Homer Entertains With Characterizations Twice on Monday

Miss Frances Homer, talented New York actress and creative artist, entertained a large chapel audience Monday morning with a group of character portrayals.

Miss Homer first gave a sketch entitled "Sunday Morning," an interpretation of the efficient teacher of a Sunday school class in an Episcopal parish house. Her next character was a woman of the streets who enters a cathedral to learn to pray that she may keep her baby, and finds that her unvoiced prayer is answered. An American school teacher in a Parisian night club furnished an element of comedy in the third sketch. The last, "Mayflower," was a characterization of three generations of women who sought adventure, beginning with the woman of 1849 who drove a covered wagon westward and closing with her great-granddaughter, who finds adventure in aviation.

Monday evening Miss Homer appeared in Alumni Hall under the auspices of the Women's Athletic Association in a program entitled "Ladies of Destiny." This time Miss Homer presented characterizations of famous women who have played a large part in the shaping of the lives of noted men of history. Cleopatra, Nell Gwynne, Queen Isabella of Spain, Empress Josephine, Lady Hamilton, and Mary Fitton were the characters selected for dramatization.

President Approves New Rushing System

President Harold S. Boardman officially approved the deferred rushing plan, passed by the Interfraternity Council at its last meeting, on Tuesday of this week in a letter to John F. Wilson, president of the Student Senate, of which the Interfraternity Council is a committee.

The president's approval of the plan means that it will go into effect with the opening of college in September, and that freshmen will not be allowed to enter any fraternity house until the first day of the spring semester of 1934. The penalty for the breaking of this rule, as set forth in the amendment to the Interfraternity Council Constitution published in last week's Campus, is that freshmen who violate it will not be allowed to join the fraternity whose house they enter before the fall semester of their fourth year in college.

The amendment provides, not only that freshmen shall not enter any house, but also that they "shall not attend any organized fraternity supper, party, or smoker on or off campus during this period."

MAINE REVIEW CONTAINS MANY FEATURE ARTICLES

Copies of the latest issue of the Maine Review are now on sale. The magazine contains numerous articles by students and faculty members. In addition there are short stories, articles, editorials, poems, and book reviews.

Copies of the magazine can be bought from: the Book Store, Evelyn Gleason, Kenneth Foster, Agnes Crowley, or Donald Stewart.

Phi Mu sorority held a pledge service at the M.C.A. building Monday evening. Edith Kennard, of Bangor, was pledged.

Appearance Sponsored By Der Deutscher Verein

"Pick the place to which you want to go and get there." Such were the words of advice offered to Maine students by Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight boxing champion of the world, when he appeared before the student body at Alumni Hall on Tuesday afternoon.

Dempsey appeared before the students in company with Joe Jacobs, manager of Max Schmeling, and one of the most colorful figures in the fist world. The appearance of the famous fighter was sponsored by the honorary German society, Deutscher Verein.

In discussing the advantages of a college education, Dempsey said that at the very outset of their college course young men and women should select a definite goal, and once started on their way to their chosen objective, they should let nothing interfere with their progress.

After his talk on this subject, he answered many questions put to him by students, concerning his ring career and leading figures in the boxing game.

Schmeling, who was originally scheduled to speak in German at an assembly Tuesday afternoon, was unable to appear, owing to a strenuous training program in preparation for his exhibition matches.

The men's debating team suffered a 2-1 defeat by Bowdoin in the final debate of the season held before the Bangor Kiwanis Club last week. The Maine team, consisting of Roger Heffer and Stanwood Searles, upheld the affirmative of the question, Resolved: That the trend of commercial advertising as now carried on tends to be detrimental to the best interest of the American public. Our Purpose

Once again a new editorial staff has gone into office and become responsible for the publication of the Campus. With this first issue of the new staff we shall set down the aims and purposes of the Campus.

The chief aim of the Campus staff is to produce a real newspaper, but that aim includes many smaller ones. In other words, we must tell what, in our opinion, goes into the making of a real newspaper.

The first duty that we shall try to fulfill is that of presenting the news of the University as clearly, completely, impartially, and truthfully as we can.

We feel that our second duty is that of stimulating student interest in the improvement of self, University, and country. By taking an honest and intelligent stand on all issues of interest to the men and women of the University, we hope to be able to make the University better for having had the Campus for another year.

Our third duty, we feel, is to interest and amuse. This we hope to do through the publication of feature stories and side-lights.

Realizing that the greatest room in the world is room for improvement, and that the Campus is the students' paper, the staff will welcome criticisms and contributions at all times.

A Change Is Needed

Because the candidates for offices in the Women's Student Government Association and the Women's Athletic Association did not receive a majority of the votes cast, it will be necessary to have another election tomorrow. That means extra work, extra time, and extra money for printing. And in the final election it is very likely that the persons who had the most votes, though not a majority, will be elected. All of which seems to point to the fact that there is something wrong with the manner in which these elections are run.

Nominations for these positions are made by a nominating committee consisting of representatives from each class. So either one of two things could be done to avoid another double election. Either the clause in the constitution, which requires that candidates must have a majority of votes cast in order to be elected, should be cut out, or else the nominating committee should have a series of eliminations of its own with the result that only two names would be on the ballot.

Buy Theatre Tickets

That the need of funds to be loaned to students is great there can be no doubt. It is for this reason that the Student Senate and Women's Student Government are now carrying on a drive to raise money for this purpose.

One of the projects in that drive is the selling of tickets to the Strand Theatre in Orono. These tickets, to be sold for 30¢, will be good for any performance next week. Elsewhere in this issue there appears a schedule of the pictures on next week's program. In fairness to your fellow students and in fairness to Mr. A. L. Goldsmith, manager of the Strand Theatre, through whose willing cooperation this part of the drive is being carried on, make an effort when going to the theatre next week to attend the Strand and to buy your ticket, at the regular price, from either your Student Senate or Women's Student Government representative.

Paul Robbins '34 Is Elected President of Tennis Club

Paul L. Robbins was elected Tennis Club president for 1933 at the first spring meeting of that organization held in the M.C.A. building Tuesday night. Approximately thirty students attended the meeting, at which the final plans for the Curtis Cup Tournament were announced.

Other officers elected were: vice-president, William Butler; secretary-treasurer, Stanwood Searles; manager, Parker Frost.

The Curtis Cup Tournament, so named since Faculty Manager of Athletics Ted Curtis has donated a trophy cup to the tournament winner, will commence early next week. All entries, accompanied by fifty cents Club dues, must be in before May 1. Drawings will be made on that day. To register for the tournament, see Coach Small, 250 Stevens Hall, Ted Curtis, Alumni Hall, or Stanwood Searles, Beta Theta Pi. The tournament is open to everyone. Entrants will receive P. Five varsity matches have been arranged, among Bates, Colby, and Bowdoin, the first one at Lewiston a week from today. The University courts will be ready for use at the end of the week if weather conditions permit.

The schedule complete to date:

May 22 State Meet at Waterville
JUNIOR VARSITY
May 20 Hebron at Orono (tentative)
May 25 Fort Fairfield at Orono

next Wednesday in Alumni Hall. Let us pause for a moment to consider what this means.

It means that before voting we must take into careful consideration each of the candidates whose names were published in last week's Campus. We must remember that we are voting for "the male member of the graduating class who, in the opinion of the students and the University administration, has done the most for the University during his curriculum."

Secondly, we must consider that the Alumni Association of Washington, D. C. is showing great interest in the students of the University and in the University itself by presenting this award each year, and therefore it is the duty of every student of the upper three classes to vote next Wednesday. We must remember that this award is put up as a stimulating force to cause students of the University to strive to be of service to the University while they are here, and that such service will make them not only better citizens but also happier persons.

So remember to vote in the election next Wednesday.

HACKER WATCH ELECTION WILL BE HELD ON MAY 3

W. S. G. A. Makes Nominations; Voting on Washington Watch At Same Time

Nominations for the Victoria Weeks Hacker Watch, presented annually by the Portland Club of University of Maine Women to the woman member of the graduating class who, in the opinion of the students and the University administration, has done the most for the University during her curriculum, were made at the last meeting of the Women's Student Government.

Elections for the winner of this award as well as for the Washington Alumni Watch will be held in conjunction with the Athletic Association elections on Wednesday, May 3, in Alumni Hall. It is necessary that fifty per cent of the members of the upper three classes vote in this election.

The women nominated are: Elizabeth Barrows, Ruth Callaghan, Marian Dickson, Blanche Henry, Marjorie Moulton, Josephine Mutt, Grace Quarrington, and Martha Smith.

FROSH BALL TEAM PLAYS CARIBOU FRI.

The University of Maine freshman baseball team will open its 1933 season Friday afternoon when they meet Caribou High School on Alumni Field.

For the Maine coach, the game resolves itself more into a practice scrimmage in which he can get a more accurate conception of the worth of the individual player, than a regular contest. The more promising men have already been handed out uniforms and Kenyon is frankly desirous of obtaining a better idea of their ability under fire. The frosh mentor is yet undecided over who will do most of the pitching, and the third and first base positions have been both left open for some permanent choice.

Kenyon has a wealth of pitchers in Golobski, Wakely, Jordan, Johnstone, Meyers, Alley, Dunlevy, and McAlary, from which to select his moundsmen for the Caribou game. Littlehale, Pruett, and Boardman will probably take turns with the catching.

At first base, it is at present a toss up between Don Brown and Sidelinger, both from South Portland, but Kenyon thinks he may have an ace up his sleeve in tall John Coombs of Boothbay Harbor. Coombs will undoubtedly show his wares against the Spudlanders. The fight for the keystone sack position is concentrating about Collette, Miller, and Chute. Collette will probably be the starting choice.

Fitzpatrick occupies most of the limelight at short but a capable understudy has been developed in Bill Smith of Dennyville, a snappy performer with a good arm. At third base, Kenyon has been juggling Foley and Naugler about with the former undoubtedly on the inner track to the job. When Foley first appeared for practice he was listed as a first baseman, but Bill decided it was easier to find a new first sacker than a hot corner guardian and promptly shifted him across the diamond.

Woodbury, Mills, Sargent, and Chute are all listed for outfield work. With the exception of Chute, formerly an infielder, this quartet has had wide experience in the outer gardens. Woodbury and Mills are both southpaws while Chute swings from the left hand side of the plate.

In spite of the fact that Kenyon's men have had very little outdoor practice, they will enter the game favorites to take over their Arrostook rivals. Although the team does not shape up as a slugging ball club, the nine boasts plenty of real hitters who will contribute plenty towards winning ball games. The main strength would seem to center in the pitching department and if some of the pitchers come through as their past reputations would indicate, the frosh should have a really capable corps of moundsmen.

However, Kenyon explains, high school reputations mean almost nothing in college, and anything can happen in a season.

Senior Class to Vote by Ballot on Proposed Plans for Securing Gift

The Bank Plan:

The class shall invest a similar amount of money in a reliable bank and let this sum accumulate compound interest for a period of 25 years. At the end of the period, the sum deposited plus the interest shall be presented to the University in the form of a gift.

For example: $560.50 invested in a bank at 3½% compounded annually would amount approximately to $1324.46; at a rate of 4% $1494.24. The return would be slightly greater if compounded semi-annually.

The executive committee of the class advocates the insurance plan on the basis that during the present financial depression, the well known insurance companies have remained financially intact and solvent due to excellent management. They also believe that over a 25 year period the yield on the investment will be fully as great by the insurance plan as by investing the fund in a supposedly stable bank. Finally, the committee suggests a $2.00 assessment per member (to be placed on the term bill) in order to set up the gift fund and take care of the student loan assessment.

Ballots will be sent to each member of the class the first of next week on which it is desired that each member shall vote on the plan that he desires to see go into effect. In this manner the consensus of opinion of the class can be determined and a more representative group reached than through the usual class meeting.

The MAINE SNOOPUS

MEN MUST FIGHT, and the Manassa Mauler and Bull of the Pampas did fight, and so when he became famous he finally found his way to the University of Maine and there offered to fight anyone in the audience. Neither Champs Corbett, Hagan, nor Bachrach offered to take the boy on, and the freshmen did not offer to cut his hair, though two members of the freshman class, believed to have been Louise Steeves and Phyllis Hamilton allowed the former heavyweight champion of the world to sign his John Henry on a slip of paper for them.... One of the instructors in one of the classes of the University the other day asked Charlotte Lachance if she majored in anything besides men.... Secrets keep coming out about the sophomore-freshman world war held on the campus recently.... We now hear that the icy depths of the refrigerators at the Phi Eta house served as a hair preserver for Crandall, Hoyt, Benjamin.... It was a near tragedy the other day when Alice Sisco lost her balance on her bicycle and nearly fell off the Orono bridge. But she didn't.... And imagine the laugh when Miss Madeline Weeks Bunker missed her bus not long ago. A taxi chased the bus, and the terminal phoned that she was coming. When the driver of the bus saw her a look of sheer amazement spread across his countenance for the man on the phone had told him that a "little girl" had missed the bus and would catch him.... Did you know that Helen Williams exchanged no dances at the Tri-Delt formal during the past week-end? It must be love, and they say he comes from Bowdoin.... One of the great metropolitan dailies of Bangor came out on Monday with much news about social doings at Maine over the week-end. It seems that Phi Kappa had a vic party, so this swell rag from the south of us put a head on the story entitled it "PHI KAPPA FETE." We know it, but why rub it in.... Gwen wants to know where Dick was the night of the banquet.... And here's some advance dope that is being printed in this column exclusively.... Watch this column next week for the greatest scandal of the past five years.

BETA BEATS S.A.E. FOR BOWLING CHAMPIONSHIP

A hotly contested 5 string match, played Monday night at the Strand Alleys in Orono, between Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Beta Theta Pi, for the championship of League B, resulted in a win for the latter, by the narrow margin of eight pins, in the total of pin falls. A beautiful cup, offered by the manager of the Alleys, was the trophy. The members of the Beta team were Capt. Sam Herrick, Herb Lewis, James McClure, John Gilman, and Stan Searles. Those representing S.A.E. were Carl Pickering, Lefty Nunn, Alvin Jagels, John Wilson, and Rod McLean.

Beginning Saturday night of this week and continuing for three weeks a special trolley car will leave Bangor at 12:30 for Old Town.

Sophomores and freshmen wishing to apply for editorship or business managership on the 1935 and 1936 Prism respectively, are asked to make application to Edward H. Kelley, acting purchasing agent of the University, before May 15. A new plan of choosing the persons to fill these positions is being contemplated, and those wishing to apply are asked to do so readily.

TRACK TEAM OPENS OUTDOOR SCHEDULE WITH SPRINGFIELD

Maine Favored To Win; Many Outstanding Entrants

The Pale Blue varsity cinder men will be hosts to the Springfield College aggregation on Saturday afternoon in their first outdoor meet of the season. With only two days left in which to practise, Coach Jenkins has been working his men strenuously in preparation for this encounter.

In the dashes, Mel Means, Chick Shea, Maurice Goddard and Rod Mullaney will meet stiff competition in Wheeler and Hought. Wheeler won the century last year in ten seconds flat, and Hought was the victor in the 220 yard dash.

Maurice Goddard is the leading Maine contestant in both the high and low hurdles with Lew Hardison competing with him in the lows and Don Favor in the highs.

With but one exception, the Maroon team seems to have no outstanding men in either the middle-distance or distance runs. Gibbs appears to be a capable two-miler, but Harry Booth, veteran cross country runner, should furnish him with keen competition. Bob Wishart, Bob Clifford, and Dick Barstow are also outstanding men in this event.

The loss of Joe Marsh, star mile, leaves his favorite event exceptionally weak, and the Pale Blue mentor has been forced to transfer Ken Black, stellar half-miler, into this event as a running mate for Don Corbett.

Coach Jenkins can boast of a capable quartet in the 880 yard run in Bill Cole, Russ Shaw, Harry Williamson, and Bob Pendleton. Cole, recently transferred from the 440 yard dash, and Shaw, state champion half-miler, are on a par with each other with not much difference between them and Williamson and Pendleton.

Ellie Moulton is by far the most outstanding quarter-miler. However, MacKinry, Pronovost, and O'Connell have been showing up well during time trials.

Alton Alley is Jenkins' leading contestant in both the shot put and the discus. Alley holds the indoor record for the shot put with a distance of 44 feet 4 inches, while unofficially he has thrown it about 46 feet. His nearest rivals in either event are Don Favor and Hayden Rogers.

Don Favor will also compete in both the hammer throw, his feature event, and the javelin throw. Competing with him in the hammer are Hayden Rogers, Clay Totman, and Phil Parsons, and in the javelin, Coggins and Hallenbeck.

In the pole vault, the Maine coach will depend on Freeman Webb and Phil Havey. Webb is the present state champion

SPORTS SPIELS

By BOB BERG

University of Maine students were certainly fortunate in being able to listen to one of the greatest champions of all times and the idol of millions of sports fans—Jack Dempsey, otherwise known as the Manassa Mauler. Still a fine specimen of manhood, Dempsey, former world's heavyweight boxing champion, is all through fighting under the glare of the bright lights and is now earning his laurels as a boxing promoter. The former fistful idol is on a tour with Max Schmelling, another former champ, who is still an outstanding contender for the heavyweight crown.

To the delight of the students, Jack Dempsey, who won the heavyweight championship from Jesse Willard and reigned supreme for many years, informed his audience that he would answer any questions they might desire to ask him. At first the students were shy at popping questions at the towering figure on the stage but gradually the questions came fast and furious. In fact, Dempsey was so busy replying, that Joe Jacobs, manager of Schmelling, had to call a halt to the procedures as Dempsey had to go on the air over WLBZ.

The first question directed to the Manassa Mauler was what was his hardest fight. "Well," remarked Dempsey, "I had a lot of tough battles but my fight with Firpo was about the toughest." "What kind of a man was Gene Tunney pole vaulter, holding both the indoor and the outdoor records in that event.

Webb will find stiff competition in the high jump in Farmer, of Springfield, who is capable of jumping six feet. In this event, Webb will have Bob Lakin and Joe Stevens to aid him.

Phil Havey and Chick Shea are Maine's leading broad jumpers, while Dick Gaffney and Warren Flagg have shown up well in this event.

in the ring?" "Tunney, why Gene was a wonderful boxer but not a deadly puncher." "Do you intend to fight again?" "No, an old man does not belong in the ring." "What's the dope on Jack Sharkey?" "Sharkey is getting old and is on the downward path." "Is Primo Carnera dangerous?" "No and yes, Carnera is more of a pusher than a puncher in the ring."

"Who was the cleverest boxer you ever came in contact with?" "Without a doubt it was Tommy Gibbons who was a marvelous ring performer." "What's your version of that famous 'long count' in your first fight with Tunney?" "Well," drawled out Dempsey, "the outcome was perfectly all right and the decision went the right way; the better man won." "Has Benny Leonard any chance in his comeback?" "No sir, Leonard took a bad beating in his fight with Jimmy McLarnin and is all done." "Who is the hardest hitter in the ring today?" "Max Schmelling." "What will be the outcome of the Schmelling-Baer fight?" "Well, both are hard punchers and it's hard to tell; but there will certainly be a knockout before the fight is over."

"Is it hard training before a fight?" "I'll say it is. That is the hardest thing about a fight, for the actual fight itself is easy." "Did you like the movies?" "Hm, Hm, as an actor I guess I'm still a fighter." "Did you enjoy making boxing pictures in the movies?" "No, those actors knew nothing about fighting and I had to pull my punches so it was not much fun." That was the end of Dempsey's most interesting talk as Joe Jacobs, with a cigar in his hand, stepped up to Dempsey, patted him on the shoulder and said, "Well, champ, I guess you done pretty good, but we have to be going now. It certainly was nice to be here with you boys and girls."

comes to this country in bales.
The leaves are small and tightly packed. Each bale contains about 40,000 leaves.

DOMESTIC TOBACCO is stored in huge wooden hogsheads. Each hogshead contains about 1000 pounds of tobacco.

A flavor that neither possesses alone

Early in the 17th century, tobacco seed from America was taken to Turkey. Different soil, different climate, different temperatures night and day, and different farming methods produced an entirely new tobacco—small in size, but very rich and aromatic.

Four certain spots are famous for the quality of their Turkish tobacco — Xanthi and Cavalla in Greece; Samsoun and Smyrna in Turkey. And it is principally from these places that our buyers get the Turkish for Chesterfield.

These Turkish tobaccos are blended, in just the right amount, with Domestic tobaccos. It is this blending and cross-blending of just the right amount of Turkish and Domestic tobaccos which gives Chesterfield a flavor that neither possesses alone.

TWO ARRESTED

Balentine Burns As One Hides

By MY WATTAMAN

Flames bursted viscusly from Balentine Hall yesterday morning at 10 o'clock, disturbing the slumber of the inmates therein. The fire was first noticed by a biology major who, upon climbing a tree looking for beetles, noticed smoke issuing from the windows of the fourth floor of the dormitory. He summoned his colleagues, and they ran to the rescue while, in the meantime, the fire department was notified.

When the brawney bravadoes reached the scene, sleepy bewildered coeds were dashing about endeavoring to escape. Half of the rescuers dashed into the dormitory while the other half remained on the outside to catch "silkies," "cottonies," and even "woolenies" containing coeds whom the heroes on the inside of the building threw out the windows.

Every coed was saved. The last and smallest inmate in the dormitory to be rescued was discovered behind the piano, beyond the reach of human hands, nearly overcome by the smoke, but as the music major among the rescuers played I love coffee; I love tea, new strength came to the struggling one, and with great effort she staggered to the piano player who carried her from the building.

CO-EDS WEEP WITH SHOCK AS LATE RULES ARE REMOVED; MICE CAGED

By PRINCE ROMANOFF

Rules are off! Rules are off! This announcement comes as a great shock and sorrow to the women students of the U. of Me. This will mean an adjustment, in fact, a severe adjustment in the lines of these co-eds, all of whom are asked and—yes, even obliged to please use the fire-escapes whenever coming in or going out, especially if late at night. Over these said escapes all laundry must be hung.

Meals are to be served any time—with the heaviest meal at mid-night on the porch over second floor Balentine. Breakfast must be eaten in bed.

Rooms are to be taken care of by maids, who are urged to have a general house-cleaning once per semester (if it is deemed necessary). Their real duty is to cage up the mice every night (so that the co-eds can bull in peace).

7,893 PROSPECTIVE ATHLETES SIGNED UP

7,893 students have been successfully subsidized for next year's freshman class, according to an announcement made from the office early this afternoon. This number of athletes is the largest to be obtained since the depression, and it marks the end of a long and hard campaign by University officials.

The nearest competitor to Maine in the campaign was Lowdown College, which has already threatened to abduct two of the outstanding freshman football prospects, who were intimidated into signing contracts late last night. Another statement was made for the Dampus last night to the effect that he had ordered 12,000 tear gas bombs, 5,000 sawed-off shot-guns, a like number of bullet-proof vests, and a fleet of armored cars in anticipation of a Lowdown attack.

RIVER BANK FAILS; MAINE COEDS WILL SUFFER MOST FROM INSTITUTIONS FALL

By THE DAMPUS RAVING REPORTER

One of the greatest catastrophes to ever hit the Maine campus occurred this morning when the River National Bank failed to open its doors.

The closing of the River Bank comes as a severe blow to Maine co-eds who are reported to have patronized it to a great extent. The failure of the River Bank is alleged to have been caused by a run on it, started by Donald Favorite, and the rest of the Maine Track Club.

Parsnips, Savor Held on Breach of Promise Count In Sensational Scandal

In one of the biggest political scandals to break locally in years, a motion was carried yesterday afternoon in a special session of the Student Senate legislative committee to impeach Philip Parsnips, president of the Class of 1934, on a charge of breach of promise. Parsnips has been under suspicion for some time, and it was only yesterday after the Liederkrantz investigating committee had completed its report, that enough evidence had been secured for the Senate Legislative Committee to pass a bill of impeachment.

Ronald Savor, vice-president of the corruption ridden Class of 1934, is also under suspicion on the same charge but at press time today, the Liederkrantz investigating committee had found only insufficient evidence for a charge of impeachment. The members of the committee claimed yesterday that the class government is so rotten that none of the members will serve as witnesses or give any testimony.

Soon after the class election last fall the breach of promise charge was suggested by several members of the class who claimed that they had evidence against both men, but for some reason, then not divulged, they did not care to press the charge since it might have proven embarrassing to them.

However, after the high handed manner in which the affairs of the class have been run throughout the year, and the manner in which they had been run in past years, it was suggested to the Student Senate that an investigating committee take the case in hand, and do something about it. Acting on this suggestion President Stillson of the Student Senate appointed the committee under the chairmanship of Jacob Liederkrantz.

When the committee reported at the special meeting of the Senate yesterday, that it had evidence worthy of a conviction, special officers Sam Freece and Hen Swallgren were immediately despatched to arrest Parsnips and to keep an eye on Savor, lest he purchase a ticket to Afghanistan.

After ninety-eight hours of third degree work on one Podger Heffilger, erstwhile member of the Class of 1934, he admitted that he had been bribed to vote for both Parsnips and Savor last fall. The bribe had been the promise of a cigar, "a regular ole ten center." Heffilger claimed that so far he has not re-

RELIGION GOES OVER STRONG WITH JO-EDS

A vast religious upheaval has lately siezed our men, who aided in a body. The noted evangelist arrived on campus, last night. The program started with a bang, a shiver and a shake, down the oval, rolled smoothly up-hill, breaking with a crash against the Armory Wall.

DEBATERS SKUNK OXFORD ON PING PONG QUESTION

The goal of the seventeenth annual Round-the-World debating trip was attained Tuesday evening according to a recent cablegram from Cambridge, England, when the University of Maine debating team closely defeated the Oxford Union Society of Oxford University before the joint meeting of both Houses of the British Parliament by the unanimous decision of all present. The subject for discussion was Resolved, That Ping Pong, as engaged in today in intercollegiate contests, is tending to undermine the morale of the college student.

Jack Waterpot and Sam Toothby represented the Pale Blue on the affirmative, while Ebenezer O'Leary and Reginald D'Oglever opposed the proposition for Oxford. The main arguments as presented by the Stein Song Singers were that Ping Pong causes overexertion to the rooters of both mind and muscle; that college students neglect school work to attend contests, and that there are too many facilities among the cheer-leaders at the Ping Pong games. The Oxfordians unsuccessfully opposed these issues by arguing that the exertion of the rooters tends for keen minds and stalwart bodies; that studies aren't so important anyway, and that statistics show that cheer-leaders at chess, checkers, and tiddle-wink games have as many facilities proportionately as Ping Pong.

However, Jack Waterpot clinched the debate in the last lines of his rebuttal with these words "The ar-

"Ho hum!" sighed Her Highness, the Ord'nary Loopy Kernel last Saturday morn, as she allowed herself a sheepish yawn, "a kingdom for an hour's sleep, just an hour. These wooden-headed ramrods get on my nerves. Oh well, only a few minutes more."

"Toot toot," roared the hambones. "Blah blah," retorted the corn-nets. "Eeeee eeee," wailed the clan-nets. "Ooooo oooo," moaned the saxofones. And the banned passed grandly on.

And least and also last, the sojers. Oh, those sojers. And again: oh, those sojers! Regiment after regiment swept majestically by. Army after army swept majestically by. (And wuz we glad of it!) In time, they all slept majestically by.

When the last callem squads (if you want to, I sho wouldn't) had struggled painfully to the fore, the Kernel passed out meddles freely in the first-come-first-serve manner to the best meddlers. And then the Kernel drew the affair to a close (I can't blame her, he was good-looking, sho' nuf). The parade was over. "Aha, to bed I will go," thought the reviewer, the reviewee, and the reviewed, for this is Saturday morning.

MARMADUCK STARS IN FOREIGN MOVIE

The sixty-fifth of a series of foreign comedies will be presented at the Grand Theatre in Orono today when that theatre shows "Stanislaus" which in English means "Why didn't you kiss me good-night last night, you bloke?" This picture will have as its stars, Rovinni Marmaduck and Grampus Britches, two of Europe's most famous screen personalities.

The theme of the picture is the struggle in making up one's mind whether to order chicken or lobster salad at a banquet. Written by Oliver Olive some eighty years ago, the picture vividly portrays this emotional struggle, which has marred so many human and canine lives. In the end of the picture, Aw Nerts, go see it yourself, even to write about the end makes us shed tears. . . . (Those were tears).

The lilting tunes of this foreign production have set all Exchange Street agog and can be heard daily whistled through the back alleys of Orono.

ceived the cigar, though he did vote for the men under suspicion. The Liederkranz committee then rounded up one Kack Halter Ridge, campaign manager for the two miscreants, and after feeding him hot dogs and moxie for six weeks, he finally turned over a list of 364 men and co-eds in the Class of 1934, who voted for his men on a promise of the receipt of cigars as reward for their services. He failed to testify as to whether the co-eds were to receive cigarettes or cigars.

DECOOP HAILED LUMPUS FINDER

One of the most phenomenal and long awaited scientific discoveries in recent years was announced late this afternoon by Professor I. Flew DeCoop, BO, of the Maine Experimental staff, when DeCoop reported the perfection of the Lumpus.

The Lumpus is, as the name may imply, a lump shaped body, which when properly activated, flies in concentric circles, emitting shrill tongued cries of Wahoo! Wahoo! Yea! Maine!

The Lumpus comes wrapped in cellophane and hasn't scratched yet. It is radio controlled. It embodies free-wheeling, hydraulic brakes, synchro-mesh transmission, and is of the valve-in-head variety. It is non-skid, has a balanced crank-shaft, and a rumble-seat.

The Lumpus smokes Mamel cigarettes, because, although it is fun to be fooled, it's more fun to know. It is of the concavo-convex variety, and when pursued by its enemies, it takes refuge in the tall eucalyptus trees. It talks with a nasal twang, and is toasted. The New Lumpus plays in the band and walks on stilts. It can stand the test. It does not mar floors, will not crack, wear out, or stain, and will save you three dollars a year.

The Lumpus may be put to many uses. It will sharpen old razor blades, take care of the baby, blacken shoes, attend assembly, and answers physics questions. It may be used as a Flit gun. Ask the man who owns one. It will cure dandruff and wake you up in the morning. The only objectionable feature of the Lumpus is that it has half-hour nose.

The Lumpus will soon be on sale at the Book Store for the absurd sum of two dollars. Remember, when better Lumpi are made, the Maine Experimental Station will make them. It's fool proof!

SOFA TECHNIQUE IS NEW COURSE

By KING SOLOMAN

Plans for compulsory courses in the College of Warts and Zientes to be called Advanced Technique 1, 2, 47, 83, 981, 4, and 7,492, were completed this morning.

The courses must be taken by all students of the University, except those who come from Beering High School, and those who are able to pass an entrance exam with a grade of 99 44/100 or better, to be given during freshman week.

During the freshman year, the courses will consist of instruction in one-hand driving, elementary necking, and primary sofa technique. The courses will become correspondingly more advanced during the sophomore, junior, and senior years. Practical demonstrations will be given by Orono High School students.

The new curriculum will be under the supervision of Associate Professor Ivan Skavinsky Skivar who will be aided by Messers Wabbletop and Whadadelya, and Mesdames Gazoopus and Gazinkus.

When questioned about the new

Seventy-eight students at the University of Maine were denied the privilege of associating with other students in everything from athletics to dances and such, when Oswald Thegreat, a member of Kappa Mulch Gunk fraternity, broke out with that most dreaded of all diseases, pink-tooth brush, on Tuesday afternoon of this week. Health authorities of the University and of Pen of Scott County stated yesterday in a special bulletin to the Dampus that the boys will not be allowed to leave the Kappa Mulch Gunk house until the spring semester of their last year in college, and perhaps not then.

The disease broke out most unexpectedly on Tuesday. Oswald Thegreat, one of the University's star bridge and pinocle players, had become involved in a game of touch football. The quarterback called the signals and Thegreat scampered away for a pass. He got the pass, but failed to unwrap one of his legs from around his neck, whither it had flung itself when he soared into the air to get the pass. As a result he came to the ground with a most resounding thud, and struck his jaw on a large rock, which had been dropped there by one of his fraternity brothers several years before, and the pledging committee had failed to appoint one of the first year men to clean it away. Well, Thegreat struck his jaw, ran into the house, and brushed his teeth with just plain water. When he took the tooth-brush from his mouth, he discovered that it was pink. An ambulance and riot squad was called from the great metropolis of Orono immediately, and Thegreat was put in a tailor-made straight jacket, lest he become violent.

Health authorities immediately padlocked the house, all except the cellar door, and told the boys to cut classes until further notice. According to a statement by one of the Dampus reporters, who is quarantined with the gang, having been snooping around the house when the epidemic was discovered, "They've moved in shevteen kaysheh uh beer, an' itch show mild thatchuh kuden git tite onit." That was the dispatch he gave over the phone late this morning.

When interviewed last night in the state hospital, concerning the symptoms of his disease, Thegreat claimed that he could see no reason

TO MAKE FOOTBALL PAY-THE ATHLETE

By E. PLURIBUS UNUM

Drastic changes in the system of compensation of athletes must be made by the University athletic board, according to information released to the Dampus this morning. The unusually large enrollment of athletes obtained this year is given as the cause of the changes.

In accordance with the new plan, instead of giving tuition, board and a weekly salary outright, as has been the custom for the past years, the athletic board will pay the men on the basis of individual attainment. In this system as applied to football, touchdowns on a varsity team will be worth fifty dollars ($50.00), drop-kicks twenty dollars ($20.00), points after touchdown, ten dollars ($10.00), and individual yardage gains will be rewarded by a flat rate of fifty cents (.50) per yard.

Any five yard loss will mean one week's suspension from college, and a loss of over ten yards will mean immediate expulsion. A beautiful gold cup will be awarded to the

The prize party of the year, an Awful Coconut Pie sorority smoker, was held in Balentine Dining Hall, Sunday evening. Pipes and rubber cigars were loaned for the occasion by Frat houses. And this gang of the-not-so-weaker sex smoked three genuine Blackstone cigars apiece. Each girl retired after her last cigar!

Metal tubes led from each girl's seat to the Power House where the smoke was regenerated and cooked a steak dinner for Hannibal Hamlin Hall!

Strictly Personal gossip was the issue, and strictly dishonorable jokes repeated. Each enjoyed the party to the fullest extent, and said they had never had such a "simply divine time, my deah!"

Sigma Chi held a falsetto party last evening. The point was to find out who could tell the best one. First prize was duplicated ten times. Some of Larry's Bears furnished the music. They always do at Sigma Chi.

"Marlene Dietrich" model pants were worn by University of Maine co-eds to formal party held last Friday at the Zippa Zap House. Gentlemen were attractively attired in pastel gowns, with saffron hues predominating. Refreshments were served immediately upon arrival of the guests, hamburgers to the ladies, toast and tea to the gentlemen. The dance was from 5 P.M. to 10.25 P.M., allowing the ladies five minutes to lope across campus to Balentine, Colvin and where not?

Phi Gam held a joker last evening. The house was decorated beautifully and lit as usual. Tea and cakes were served at 12 o'clock, and a refreshing time was had by all.

Mt. Vernon held a wick party Friday evening. The lights went out at 12 o'clock and the rest of the evening was spent dancing in the lamplight. About four couples were present; the rest were somewhere else when the count was being taken. The chaperones were anonymous.

A marked innovation by the Maine Health Service in the various colleges of the University will begin next week. The innovation will take the form of refreshments consisting of graham crackers and milk to be served to all students between classes.

At present there is a good deal of discussion as to whether, home economics majors should be served crackers and milk, or pretzels and

SOCIETY ON PARADE IN BOOTIFUL CIRCUS WILL REPLACE PROM

The annual Junior Prom will be substituted by a Society Circus, to be held under a big tent on the athletic field. Really a novel social function with a circus parade at 4 P.M. Friday May 5th! Be on hand to see the elephants and monkeys—above all, see the monkeys! There are a lot on this campus you know. Come and see our darling co-eds teetering on their prancing circus steeds. A real brass band has been secured (for added circus atmosphere) and will play all of the latest song hits such as "Sweet Jenny Lee."

Tips on outstanding guests are: Don Green will be dressed as the Indian Rubber Man; Helen Osgood will dominate the fat ladies booth; Bessy Gray will be the husky 2,000 lb. weight lifter; George Osgood, professional boxer; Harry Files in pink and white tights dressed as a tight-rope walker; Dixie Copeland in leopard skins, as the sturdy Amazon.

Patrons of this gorgeous affair are Mr. and Mrs. Barnum, Mr. and Mrs. Bailey, Dean and Mrs. Ringling, and Mrs. Ringling's Brothers.

A cowboy rodeo made up of volunteer students, only credentials being bowed legs, will be held. Each aspirant must be able to see daylight between his knees. Horses will be provided by the biology department.

Mary Scott and Peg Davis will entertain with dare-devil feats on horseback. These two performers will leap through paper hoops, mounted on galloping horses. The co-eds will wear pink ballet skirts.

Effie Mayberry and George Cobb, two famous trapeze artists, will jump 30 ft. through the air, landing on two sets of trapeze bars with perfect swan dives in mid-air.

High dives by Ken Aldrich and Sluggar Jackson into a 4 ft. tank will climax the sensational evening.

Refreshments, peanuts and hot dogs (with onions and garlic), will be served by Ken Foster and Johnny Stinchfield throughout the evening.

Junior Prom will break up just as soon as the lions are loosed from their armored cars. Sixteen rampaging lions will crab all acts and start a stampede among the guests.

GOLF MATCH ENDS

Schnozzle Powdering Causes Busted Window

Before a rogue's gallery composd of 987 faculty memberz and two (2) ztudentz, I. B. Baldrich and Mizz Zilly Yohung tead off for the firzt hole of their dedication golf tourney, yezterday afternoon on the newly laid out Univerzity of Maine golf courze.

Both Mizz Yohung and Mr. Baldrich tead off in front of the Artz and Zcience building, and got off zcreaming drivz of 560 and 561 yardz respectively in the direction of the first hole, which iz located near the Obzervatory. After powdering her zchnozzle carefully, Mizz Yohung attempted an iron zhot, which unfortunately waz too long, and zhattered a green house window. Baldrich waz more fortunate with hiz zhot however, az it ztruck Balentine Hall and bounced over into the barn yard. Both approachez were excellently placed, with Mizz Yohung's ball coming to rez .001 of an inch from the hole, and I. B.'z lieing approximately .00023 inchez behind it. Apparently very nervouz and ill at eaze, Mizz Yohung ad-juzted her hat and prepared to putt with her brazzie. The ball however ztopped zhort jutz in front of the cup. Immediately Mizz Yohung ac-cuzed the ezteemed Baldrich of pur-pozely coughing to zpoil her concentra-tion, and ztruck him over the head with a niblick.

Az zoon az the unfortunate man waz brought to conzciouznezz, he offered his apologiez and proceeded to zink both ballz into the cup on hiz putt. The gallery received thiz bit of gallantry with cheerz, booze, and hizzing.

Both conteztantz then drove off toward the zecond hole which liez jutz in the rear of the Pi Kappa houze. The playez mounted their bicyclez and ztartetd down the Orono road, with the gallery in hot purzuit. The two playez ztopped at the Hog Nab-Inn for refrezhmentz, where Mr. Baldrich partook of two zlugz of ized tea. Mizz Yohung took herz ztraight.

At thiz point in the tourney, unfortunately, Mr. Baldrich complained of zevere painz in hiz feet, and zure enough, when he waz examined by Mizz Yohung, zhe pronounced a zevere case of athlete'z foot. After liberal applicationz of Babzorbine, Zenior, Baldrich waz removed to a local hozpital. Hiz condition waz pronounced az mozt zeriouz, and hiz name waz plazed on the danger lizt.

The remainder of the hiztory-making golf match will be played az zoon az Mr. Baldrich recuperatez, if ever.
