Men's Glee Club Enters National Competition

Entries Made by Recording; Fred Waring Sponsor

Recordings have been completed for the Pleasure Time national college glee club competition, sponsored by Fred Waring, by the University of Maine men's glee club, according to James G. Selwood, director.

The recordings were made under the supervision of Prof. Walter J. Creamer, with the assistance and advice of Leo Bernache, representative for Fred Waring, who was sent here from the New York office.

The contest requires three recordings to be sent to New York City to be judged in the preliminary regional contest. The winning college of these competitions will meet in New York for the finals.

Recordings made included the Maine Stein Song, with and without accompaniment; a Fred Waring arrangement of Sweet and Low; and a selection chosen by the glee club, Dance, My Comrades, by Bennett.

When the Maine Glee Club enters the final stages of the competition, the offerings will come to the critical ear of the man who has probably done as much for glee club singing as anyone on the air today.

When Fred Waring in 1938 inaugurated the Pleasure Time broadcasts, sponsored by Chesterfield Cigarettes, he didn't dream that the radio editors of the country would vote his program the best 15-minute show on the air for three consecutive years.

To date, he has written 75 pep and alma mater songs. Many of the schools who asked for them have played each other, and sung Waring songs during games on opposite sides of the field.

Smith and Rowell Head Exam List

Paul Smith and Olive Rowell scored a tie for first place in the annual junior English majors' comprehensive examination given recently by the English department, under the direction of Dr. Ruth Crosby and Miss Velma Oliver of the faculty.

Other high scorers, in order of rank, as announced by the English department, were as follows: Rachel Alden, third; Carolyn Rhoads, Nellie Whitney and Margaret Heaton, tie for fifth; Grace Burnell, Frieda Flanders, Iva Henry, Priscilla Loring, Helen Mullen, Margaret Parks, Francesca Perazzi, and Cecile Littlefield.

ON THE INSIDE

College students buy defense bonds and stamps! From institutions of higher learning all over the country come various schemes and suggestions for financial participation in the war effort.

Are we getting the right angle on the war situation? The editor seems to think that the physical side is getting more stress than the mental. What do you think?

"We play music the way we feel it . . .," says Sam Donahue, whose aggregation is strictly a musicians' band. Kierstead explains why Sam has one of the finest "Name" bands.

Cast For 'Man Who Came To Dinner' Named

Maine Masque's Final Production Opens April 27

Thirty-five students have been cast in "The Man Who Came To Dinner," a rollicking comedy by Moss Hart and George S. Kaufman to be presented by the Maine Masque Theater April 27, 28, 29, and 30 in the Little Theatre, according to an announcement by Professor Herschel L. Bricker, Director of the Masque.

Playing the title role of Sheridan Whiteside, caustic critic, author and writer, Maynard French, President of the Maine Masque Theater and senior theater major, will read the boards of the Little Theatre for the last time. French has had many parts in Masque productions including this year's "Golden Apple" as well as having stage managed the last show, "Romeo and Juliet."

Earle Rankin Back

Whiteside's secretary, Maggie Cutler, will be played by Gwendolyn Cushing, a sophomore in the college of arts and sciences, whose portrayal of Juliet's nurse in "Romeo and Juliet" won her recognition as an actress of no small ability. Playing opposite her as Bert Jefferson, small town newspaperman, will be Earle Rankin, well known to Maine Masque Theater audiences.

Mr. Stanley, at whose home Whiteside is a most unwelcome guest, will be portrayed by James Haskell, a newcomer to the Masque. Mrs. Stanley will be played by Priscilla Hopkins while the comic role of Miss Preen, Whiteside's niece, will be taken by Pauline Melindy, another newcomer. Pauline Holden, who played in the "Golden Apple," will portray actress Lorraine Sheldon.

War Health Plan Progresses

The horizontal graph above shows the credited participation of each dormitory in the five important divisions of the health plan. These are the total figures, however, not the percentages.

The vertical graph at the left indicates the total number of girls getting complete credit from each dormitory over the first four weeks the program has been in operation.

Unknown Author Discusses Wimmen

The following treatise represents in no way the editorial policy of the "Campus" but includes merely the opinions of the writer. For the purposes of controversy, the author's name may be had by sending a self-addressed stamped envelope and two strands of blonde hair to the "Campus" office.

By the Male Animal

Of course there is no practical way to type feminine beauty; every girl is a type unto herself. Beauty defies analytical science and any attempt to catalog it is of necessity a generalization.

But there are certain irrefutable features that many women have in common that can be used as bases for generalized bracketing. For instance, there are very many girls who are small. Some girls have brains, some have other things—and some have everything.

Some are blonde and some are otherwise; the blondes most certainly are a class apart. Some day I shall write a treatise which will do them justice.

The More Prevalent Type

Let's discuss a type of woman that is to be seen almost everywhere. She is small, likable, and sensible. She is lively and vivacious and shrewd. She always knows whether she is likely to need brass knuckles on a date or not.

She sees through a man as though he were made of glass, and winds him around her finger at will. Although she is not very big, it is brought home to a fellow when he looks at her that size is not everything. Let us consider something else. This girl is usually tall, glamorous, emotional. She has sex appeal galore, and knows what it's for. No matter who she is with, she invariably sticks out her chest, inhales ecstatically, and cries: "Oh, that's the most beautiful moon I ever saw!" Or words to that effect.

It's Psychology, Chum

Some say she does that through hypocrisy, but it seems more probable that it's the psychology of the matter. You figure it out. This type often has long golden hair. If she has, she takes care that people notice it. And the same goes for her other attributes.

But, after all, this is all foolishness. The first thing every fellow finds out about his girl is that she is different from all the other girls on earth. Tomorrow look around and find one of the above types of girls. Talk with one, and you will undoubtedly find that everything I have said is wrong. It sure is a headache.

Mary E. Chase Speaks Tonight, Little Theatre

Subject of Lecture To be 'Windswept', Her Latest Book

Orono, April 9—Mary Ellen Chase, noted authoress and educator, will lecture in the Little Theatre tonight at 7:30 under the auspices of the Contributors' Club, honorary English society.

Dr. Chase is a well-known author and a popular speaker. Her life has been one of fine scholarship and worthy achievement, while her contributions to the fields of literature and education have attracted wide attention, and her latest novel, "Windswept," is a best seller.

Miss Chase is active in numerous organizations, including the Modern Language Association of America and the American Association of University Professors. She is also a member of Phi Beta Kappa.

Dr. Chase's autobiographical work, "A Goodly Heritage," and all her novels have as their setting her native Blue Hill and vicinity. Among her best known works are "His Birthday," "Girl from the Bighorn Country," "Virginia of Elk Creek Valley," and many others.

She has also been a contributor of short stories, essays, and reviews to "Harper's," "Scribner's," "Atlantic Monthly," "Yale Review," and several more.

The subject of Dr. Chase's lecture will be the writing of her recent best-selling novel, "Windswept," a book which topped all best-seller lists for several weeks, and has been among the upper five or six on the list ever since the novel first appeared.

Fraternity Sing To Be April 18

The first Interfraternity Singing Contest at the University of Maine is to be held in the Memorial Gym on April 18th at 8:00 p.m., the evening of Open House. Visitors at Open House will be invited to remain for the contest. The cup, which is to be awarded to the winning fraternity, has been given by the Cleveland Alumni.

Nine fraternities to date have agreed to enter the contest. Each will sing two songs of their own choice, one of which must be a fraternity song. Following the decision of the judges and the award of the cup, all fraternities will return to the stage and sing one selection under the direction of the leader of the winning fraternity.

There will be nine judges; four faculty members to be chosen by the Men's Glee Club Committee and one representative of each of the five sororities.

Brontas, Crossland Present Bill at Annual Model Congress

Nicholas Brontas, '45, and Donald Crossland, '45, who participated in the Sixth Annual Model Congress at Kingston, R. I., March 26 to 27, presented a bill to the Senate providing that women should be allowed to volunteer for active combat duty in the present emergency.

The next day they lost to the M.I.T. varsity negative team in a radio debate.

Speeches Echo Defense

At the Model Congress nearly all the bills presented were on subjects of importance to our country today. On Thursday evening, before the congressional session of the next day, there was a banquet for the participating teams. One speaker from each of the 20 colleges spoke on the state of the nation as viewed from his college. Nearly every speech dealt with the same theme—what our college is doing for national defense.

Steve Kierstead Will Play For Stag Dance

This year a new significance is given to the annual Music Night which is to be held on Friday, April 17, in the Memorial Gymnasium. All proceeds will be turned over to the Emergency Service Committee to augment the fund which is being raised. In addition to the musical program there will be a Stag Dance with Steve Kierstead's band playing. Admission to both will be 25¢.

The purpose of this fund is to make it possible (1) to maintain contacts with alumni and former students who are now in the armed services; such contacts will be made by sending copies of the "Alumnus" to every University of Maine man in service and to every army post library, and also by sending the "Campus" to all non-graduates in service whose classes are still in college; it is also hoped that some small gift may be sent to each one at Christmas time; (2) to make gifts to worthy war campaigns, alleviating the necessity of canvassing every individual organization whenever a new campaign arises.

Fund Reaches $200 Mark

Expenditures will be made only by vote of the Committee. At present the Fund has reached the $200 mark with more returns coming in daily from faculty and student organizations on campus to which letters explaining the aims of the fund and requesting contributions have been sent.

Every cent taken in on Music Night will go into the fund. All services are being rendered free of charge—Kierstead's orchestra is playing gratis; W.S.G.A. is paying for such basic necessities as tickets, posters, and programs; the musical organizations are giving their services; and Sigma Mu Sigma, the honorary psychology fraternity, is making posters. The whole spirit of the "V" Benefit is one of co-

Kierstead To Play At Panhellenic Dance

Steve Kierstead and his Maine Bears will be featured at the Panhellenic Dance on Friday, April 10. Dancing will be from 8:00 to 1:00. At this time the presidents of Alpha Omicron Pi, Chi Omega, Delta Delta Delta, Phi Mu, Pi Beta Phi, and the Panhellenic president for 1942-43 will be presented by the retiring officers.

The committee for the dance headed by Rebecca Hill, Alpha Omicron Pi, includes Marguerite Merrill, Chi Omega; Jean Patten, Delta Delta Delta; Charlotte Nickerson, Phi Mu; and Hazel Davis, Pi Beta Phi. The dance chairman announced this week that any saving from last year's expense account would be contributed to the War Chest Fund.

Chaperons will be Dean and Mrs. Paul Cloke and Dean and Mrs. Olin S. Lutes. Twenty-eight sorority patronesses will be special guests.

Special Military Review At Annual Open House April 18

A special review and demonstration by the department of military science and tactics at 10:00 a.m. will begin the University's seventh annual Open House Day on Saturday, April 18, Prof. Benjamin C. Kent, program chairman, announced this week.

All colleges and departments will participate in this day-long program which offers an opportunity for secondary students, parents, and the public to become acquainted with the work being done in the University and to observe various educational exhibits. Laboratories and classrooms will be open until 5:30 in the afternoon as students carry on their regular work. In the evening visitors may attend the Interfraternity Sing.

Some of the attractions are as follows:

tests by the psychology department showing the reactions of automobile drivers; educational films by the college of education; display of World War I posters, maps of World War II, election ballots, etc., by the department of history and government; demonstration of aviation instruments and calculations by the mathematics department; exhibition of Maine fish and animals by the zoology department.

On the faculty committee for Open House headed by Prof. Kent are Prof. Charles A. Dickinson of the college of arts and sciences, Prof. Warren H. Bliss of the college of technology, Prof. Ernest Jackman of the school of education, and Fred P. Loring of the college of agriculture.

V-Benefit April 17

A special broadcast saluting the University of Maine Tag Day and V-benefit effort will be heard over WLWZ Sunday evening at 7:30.

A script prepared under the direction of the Emergency Fund Committee of the University Defense Council will be presented.

The "Campus" wishes to correct its earlier error in the date of the affair and apologizes to anyone who appeared at the Memorial Gym Tuesday night only to find a softball game in progress. The date—and we shall state it again—is April 17.

15 Music Courses To Be Offered At Summer Session

Fifteen courses in applied, educational, and aesthetic music will be offered in cooperation with the faculty of the Northern Conservatory of Music of Bangor, Prof. Roy M. Peterson, director of the University Summer School, and A. Stanley Cayting, director of the Conservatory, announced here today. The term opens July 6 and ends August 14.

Mr. Cayting will give courses "Chamber Music," "Violin Teaching Methods and Materials," "School Orchestras," and will direct the course "Fundamentals of Orchestra and Band Instruments." James G. Selwood will teach "Vocal Elements," "Chorus," "Fundamentals of Music," "Advanced Fundamentals of Music," "Choral Conducting and the Literature of Choral Music," and "History of Music."

Offer New Courses

Mary Hayes Hayford will offer "Piano Teaching Material and Problems in Piano Teaching," "Keyboard Harmony," and "Music Appreciation." Irving Devove will give a course on "School Bands."

Maine Represented At Conference

Frances Donovan, president-elect of the W.S.G.A., and Frances Sheehy, vice president-elect, will represent the University of Maine at the annual conference of Women's Student Government Associations of New England colleges and universities which will be held on the Bates campus Friday, Saturday, and Sunday.

The purpose of the meeting is to discuss objectives and common problems of student government with a view to clarifying the purpose which is common to each of the governing bodies represented.

Civilian Defense Group Offers Ten Point Health Program

With the ever-increasing need to develop better health and stamina among the population, various programs and ideas have been put out to reach citizens of all ages.

The program printed below is a 10-point physical fitness platform advocated for colleges and universities by the Division of Physical Fitness, which is a branch of the Office of Civilian Defense.

Program a Guide

It is offered not so much as the ideal to be followed, perhaps, but as a guide which can be shifted to fit our own particular needs, and also as a model to show what is expected of us as a college community.

1. Adequate health examinations for every student.

2. One hour daily of instruction in accredited physical activities, including special pre-induction physical training and conditioning for men and emphasis on vigorous activities for all students.

Individual Training

3. Individualized physical training activities adapted to those students who need them and directed to body building and the correction of defects through selected activity.

4. Diversified and extended intramural programs to include all students, and a continuation of appropriate intercollegiate sports under adequate and professionally qualified leadership.

5. A follow-up program to insure the correction of remediable defects.

6. A total environment conducive (Continued on Page Four)

The Wrong Angle?

We wonder if the spring lethargy which annually seems to hit the campus just about now will be any more pronounced than usual this year. We fear that it will be, inasmuch as it will be superimposed on the enervating influence already provided by the war.

"What?" you say, aghast (or something). "Why, the curriculum has been accelerated, and everybody is working harder in order to get his work done."

It is our personal observation that although the curriculum has been speeded up, it has been done apparently with the convenience of the students in mind. A general let-up seems to be in the atmosphere. The arts man is resigned to the army, and the tech man doesn't have to worry about a job. Funiculi, funicula.

We feel that this matter of preparing for the emergency has been approached from the wrong angle. We are provided with all sorts of information telling us what we can do after we graduate; we are told where our opportunities lie after we get into the armed forces; we are directed into all sorts of defense and first aid courses; we receive detailed information and instruction concerning what we should do in an air raid, in a gas attack... and on, and on.

We are not told that democracy will only be preserved as long as those who fight thoroughly understand what they're fighting for; and, what's more important, we are not shown the fate that goes with living in a Nazified society.

In other words, there is an attempt to do the job the easy way. The place to make the war effort right now is in the classroom, and not in doing things like learning to shovel sand on incendiary bombs. We can get that elsewhere. But if we're ever going to complete our education, if we're ever going to learn the whys and wherefores of this conflict, the place is here and the time is now.

Rehabilitation Plan...

A few weeks ago we gave considerable space to the University of Iowa post-war rehabilitation plan. Today with a little more information at our disposal we'd like to point out a few more advantages which can be obtained from the scheme.

After World War I, it was obvious to Iowa authorities that few of the students who enlisted or were drafted returned to finish college. This was unfortunate because of the stress later placed on the college diploma... and naturally is doubly unfortunate today.

In detail the plan works as follows:

1. Each student buys a 10-cent defense stamp each week, donates it to the fund, which is invested in government bonds.
2. Returning soldiers must have spent six months in the service, must have been enrolled in school on or after Oct. 15, 1940, and have maintained a satisfactory scholastic average during that time. They also must have been in school at the time they enlisted or were drafted.
3. Returning students are eligible for scholarships up to $200 depending on need.
4. Dimes collected through all school organizations, dormitories, sororities, and fraternities. Special representatives collect dimes from students living in town.

The idea has two principal values which are apparent on the surface. First, it has immediate value in that it provides for the purchase of defense stamps and bonds; second, it has future value in that it will enable students of limited means to complete the education which the war caused them to discontinue.

Even though it is foolish to even attempt to predict what sort of employment conditions will follow the war, it is obvious that the person sans diploma will find himself in an extremely precarious economic situation. A chance to return to college will make up the difference.

'Sergeant York' Heads List Of Favorite Movies

Only 14% Select Any One Picture As Best They Saw

By Student Opinion Surveys
AUSTIN, Texas.—Favorite movie seen by college students during 1941 was "Sergeant York," the annual motion picture poll conducted by Student Opinion Surveys of America shows. Only slightly more than one-seventh of the students, 14 per cent, however, could agree on any one picture as the "best they had seen."

Top Ten Shows

The top ten shows, compiled from the question, "What was the best picture you have seen during 1941," were not necessarily released during the last year. In order of their selection, they are as follows:

1. Sergeant York
2. Citizen Kane
3. One Foot in Heaven
4. Meet John Doe
5. Gone With the Wind
6. Blossoms in the Dust
7. Honky Tonk
8. The Little Foxes
9. Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde
10. I Wanted Wings

In 1940, "Gone With the Wind" easily ranked best of the year, polled twice as many ballots as the second ranking picture, "Rebecca."

Turntable Talk

By Steve Kierstead

Last Friday night a "new" band made its appearance on this campus. A great deal of speculation had been going around concerning this band, but the moment the leader gave the down beat there was but one answer... mighty solid. And there you have Sam Donahue...mighty solid!

Sam hails from Detroit and has been playing horn ever since "his mother gave him a clarinet to keep him from crying." He organized and led a ten-piece band while in high school and got his early playing experience around Detroit.

Got Bad Breaks

Later he organized and fronted a band, but the odds seemed to be against him; a fine group of musicians, but the breaks didn't seem to come their way. Sam left the band with the understanding that he would return to lead them, and meanwhile made a name for himself as soloist with such bands as Krupa's, Goodman's and Harry James's.

Sam left Goodman in 1940 and returned to the band that he had left in Detroit. Shortly after this he really started to click. It is this band (with a few replacements since some of the original men are serving in Uncle Sam's armed forces) that he now leads.

Donahue Exciting—Look Out! Donahue himself plays the most exciting solos that these ears have ever heard. He manages to pull off figures, and plays with a "drive" that is unbelievable. He has developed a range on that battered tenor sax that seems almost fantastic. And so he calmly (well, more or less) hits an E flat one octave above the high E flat that the average sax man uses. Aside from that he has resurrected an F mezzo soprano sax (rarely used today) and gets off terrific choruses with that. Then, just to have a bit of fun, Sam picks up a cornet to play figures with his brass section.

Good Taste, Arrangements

The Donahue band shows a wonderful conception of playing the fine arrangements they use. The style is of the colored variety, yet, unlike most white bands that try it, they are able to handle it beautifully. The result is a relaxed style that really "jumps" and yet remains subtle and in very good taste.

The soloists in the band are Pete Abato on trumpet; Dick Lafavre, trombone; a very fine bit of drums from Harland Hahn; and piano man Wayne Herdell who is nothing short of brilliant.

As a leader, Sam Donahue is the ideal man from the musician's point of view. "We play music the way we feel it... without the commercial bunk which so many bands use to catch the public eye. We hope people like our music and our way of presenting it."

Sam Is a Great Guy

Sam is the same on the stage as off. He's easy to talk with, sincere, and has a very natural and likable manner of presenting himself. The leader's personality, his ability as a soloist and musician (how about the eight or nine choruses in a row on Saxophone Sam), and the quality and tasteful musicianship of the band add up to but one total effect...one of the finest "name" bands that has appeared on this campus...a group of musicians who play from the heart.

THE WAR EFFORT.....Students Buy Bonds

The senior class of the University of Wisconsin is planning early for its class reunion in 1952. To finance the get-together, almost $500 from the class treasury is going to be invested in United States Defense Savings Bonds for ten years. And a smart investment it is, too, because $487.50 loaned to the Treasury now will bring a profit of $162.50 when Uncle Sam redeems the bonds in 1952.

Uncle Sam's Treasury Department is playing florist to the fraternity men of Ohio Wesleyan University, who have decided to give corsages made of Defense Stamps instead of flowers for formal dances.

The ten cent red stamp—they've found—goes well with the girls' white, black, gray, and blue gowns; the green twenty-five cent stamp blends with beige, red, gray and blue gowns; the blue fifty cent stamp is fitting with the co-ed's yellow, white, or red formal; the $1.00 gray stamp corsage is suitable with a gown of any color; and the brown $5.00 stamp is the ideal decoration for green, white, and pink dresses.

Michigan State College's Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity gave up a post-Thanksgiving dinner at its annual winter affair recently and ate smorgasbord instead; and with the difference between the prices of the dinners, they bought $250 worth of Defense Bonds for the organization. That change in diet, incidentally, put enough money in the hands of the Government to fire a .50 caliber anti-aircraft gun more than a thousand times!

The 1942 Student Government organization of the Colorado State College of Education has purchased $2,000 in Defense Bonds; when the Student Government organization of 1952 redeems these bonds, they'll realize a $500 profit!

More than $15,000 in Defense Stamps were purchased through the efforts of the Bergen Junior College, New Jersey, in a recent "Arm America!" festival; and it is probable that before long $100,000 worth of Defense Stamps may be sold as the result of this one brief drive. The students of the college held a dance at a New Jersey night club, with the purchase of a $1.00 Defense Stamp serving as the admission price. If all those who received Defense Stamp booklets continue filling them out, the evening's fun will result in the sale of 100,000 $1.00 stamps.

Two sororities at the University of Kentucky have announced that they will hold no Spring Formals "for the duration." Reserve Funds will be invested, instead, in Defense Bonds and Stamps.

Students at the Central Y.M.C.A. College in Chicago, Illinois, are serving in the Cook County Defense Savings Committee as speakers on United States Defense Savings Bonds and Stamps. Faculty men act as special instructors.

The freshman and sophomore classes of Pueblo Junior College, California, are in the midst of a hot campaign to determine which class can buy the greatest number of Defense Stamps. The losing class will pay the music expenses at the Campus Day Dance. The sophs were ahead at last report, but the freshmen will have until May 15 to catch up.

Horace Heidt and his Musical Knights have been appointed by the Treasury Department as "Minute Men for Defense." The orchestra will leave shortly on a tour of America's largest cities, making personal appearances in colleges, factories, and for civic and fraternal bodies. The music-making Minute Men will entertain these groups, and then give short talks on the importance of buying Stamps and Bonds. In the colleges the Heidt orchestra will conduct an educational campaign to start students using a Defense Stamp Savings Plan.

Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity members at Howard College, Birmingham, Alabama, called off an annual dance recently in favor of a bond rally.

WHAT THE GIRLS..... ARE WEARING

by ruth troland

There seem to be two ways in which the University women spend their time at formal dances. The latter part of the evening is spent, as is intended, in dancing, but only after making an exhaustive study of who came with whom, and what each girl wore. Although perhaps not as interesting but more pertinent is the question of what the co-eds are wearing these days.

Informality Predominant
Especially noticeable at Soph Hop was the predominance of informal gowns. The tendency seemed to be away from the formality of bare shoulders and backs.

Of course, this type of gown is most effectively worn, but war shortages already show their effects as fewer and more simple evening clothes are becoming the order of the day.

Young, Simple Lines

Evidences at Soph Hop were favoring younger and more simple lines. There were several outstanding gowns with tailored and shirtwaist tops, and the popular torso-length cut.

Full skirts still hold their place of honor, and particularly effective were a few in marquisette and net. The dinner gown, of course, is always a favorite, and there were several that were noticeably charming.

Net, Jersey Frequent

While crepe and taffeta were the favorite materials, there were frequent gowns in net and jersey. The darker colors still predominated. There was a great deal of black. As usual, there was much blue and some navy.

There were numerous figured combinations that were striking. It was not uncommon to note an occasional white or flowered cotton, forecasting the spring season.

The most interesting observation of the entire evening was the fact that defense stamps, even when worn with in the evening bag, are quite as glamorous as any corsage—and keep much better.

FROM CAPITAL... TO CAMPUS

By Jay Richter

ACP's Washington Correspondent

JOBS...

For those who are wondering what to do during a war-time summer vacation, here's a suggestion: Check with your postoffice for tips from your nearest Civil Service field office on temporary jobs. In addition to whatever openings might normally appear, there are reports that offices of "decentralized" government agencies are short-handed. Hundreds of their employees elected to stay behind in over-crowded Washington rather than move into "the field."

WAR...

Look for "reactivation" of CAA training programs in some 100 colleges and universities where the CAA program had been allowed to lapse. The expanded program for next year, announced recently by CAA and the War Department, will require use again of dormant college facilities, and possible establishment of new ones, too. Goals are for an increase of 20,000 in both elementary and secondary training courses. Men who are accepted will acquire status as enlisted reserves in the air corps or will, on finishing, serve as CAA flying instructors.

Signs point to a major Washington effort to sell the University of Iowa's "Phoenix Fund" post-war scholarship plan to all U. S. colleges. If the idea can be "cleared" through Treasury department bigwigs, the Department's Defense Savings section will attempt to get a national educators' committee to back the plan. This committee, in turn, would attempt to build up well-oiled organizations in colleges throughout the country this Spring and Summer—preparatory to a campaign splurge when Fall terms open.

Briefly, the Iowa plan provides that each student buy a 10-cent Defense Savings Stamp each week to build up post-war scholarship funds for students in the armed forces.

Treasury officials consider the plan the best collegiate stamp-selling idea to date, and frankly admit they have no suggestions for improvement. Credit for the original idea goes to Francis Weaver, first-year law student at Iowa.

ON THE BIAS...

The Federal Register points out that Stockton Junior college and Modesto Junior college in California have moved to Carson City, Nev., "by reason of the emergency existing in California caused by the present state of war."

Gets right to the heart of the issue.

Maryland's Hood college, in relaxing its rules to permit married girls to attend school, observed that the move is an effort to adjust "to situations arising from the war emergency."

If there are any comforts to be had from war, one of them is the fact that it raises old Ned with bureaucrats who have taken root. New and younger government men have a way of upsetting old habit-patterns.

A recent graduate of Ohio State was making up a file to expedite his agency's work. Coming to "Miscellaneous," he discovered he was unable to spell the word. He promptly labeled that drawer of the file "Things," and went calmly on about his business.

Maybe you've noticed. A Selective Service ruling has it that men married since Dec. 8, 1941, cannot be deferred on the basis of dependency unless they "prove the status was acquired under circumstances beyond the registrant's control."

"The circumstances escape me," remarked a recently-wed, ex-Marquette student.

Government memoranda can upset the newcomer if he takes them too seriously. For example, the young graduate of the University of California who did. He had a large idea. Day after day for six weeks he nursed it along, dispatching memos to the research division as details of his plan jelled. Came the day when he decided to go to research to put the whole ambitious deal on ice. Disillusion. Research had not a single one of his memos. Two weeks later he was rummaging sadly about in an obscure corner of the file room. There in a dusty box was a neatly bound volume of his many memos.

Bears Start 1942 Baseball Season With Veteran Squad

BEAR FACTS by Will Johns

OPENING GUNS

Along with seasonal spring breezes and a change in weather at this time of year, a change in the editorial staff of this paper takes place. This week found visions of many future blank sport pages of the Campus floating through this writer's between-the-ears muscle, pages yet to be filled with Maine sport names and games.

And to you, the men who make Maine sport history, and to you, the fans who will long remember your heroes of track, diamond, gridiron, and court after the ink on these pages has turned to dust, we will simply say that criticism, yearning sport scribes, and athletic admonitions will be gratefully received and properly recorded.

BATES IN EYE-OPENER

The "Lewiston Daily Sun" recorded the fall of an athletic bombshell last Friday morning when it reported that Bates College had adopted the freshmen eligibility ruling, allowing first year men to play on varsity teams. Thus, Bates becomes the first Maine college to follow an example being set by the leading schools in the East.

The Bobcat's action, clawing open the eyes of Maine, Colby, and Bowdoin, doesn't indicate that Bates will follow the popular concept that colleges will try to get one-year sports comets, nor that a fan can expect to find many freshman faces in the starting line-ups, but rather, that there has dawned a new, war-time collegiate policy. Expanded athletic programs are now here to stay, at least so say Bates officials.

AND IN A BROADER LIGHT

Elsewhere on the New England scene, a New England association for conference on college athletics tolled forth the tidings that ten of the institutions for higher learning favored frosh participation. American International, Brown, Clark, Harvard, Middlebury, Rhode Island, Springfield, St. Anselm, Vermont, and Wesleyan all gave the nod for the ruling. Dartmouth, Coast Guard Academy, Worcester Tech and Yales were also reported favorable.

Colleges reported seriously considering adoption of this latest turn of events were Bates, Bowdoin, Colby, Connecticut, New Hampshire, Norwich, Northeastern, Trinity, and Tufts. Boston University, Maine, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Massachusetts State, and Williams all held thumbs down.

A WORD TO THE WISE

Looking down Bowdoin way the other day, we found the diamond rather glittering with a running preview of the 1942 baseball nine. Coach Linn Wells lost only two men through last June's graduation, even though he lost a few games on the schedule due to the war. Gone are Captain Hank Bonzagni and Dick Harding, a duo who made a few more grey hairs grow in Bill Kenyon's crop of brain grass last spring.

All other members of last year's great team are back this year, including Hunter and Williams on the mound, Coombs backing the plate, Small, Dolan in the infield, and a complete outfield of Bell, Dyer, and Briggs. In the reserve forces, Wells has enrolled Woodcock, Mudge, and Donahue, and Patterson to help the mound staff, Muir to understudy catcher Coombs, Frazer and Pierce to hold down the hot corner at third base, and Bubier, Whiting, and Ruth to make the long jaunt out to the pastures.

With a six game schedule and power on the mound and at the plate, Bowdoin will offer plenty of competition to state nines this season. So, Pale Blue fans, take the tip, and put down the Polar Bear, Black Bear tilts on your "Must" list this spring.

FINAL SALUTES

While you and I were quietly (purely a technical term) enjoying our vacations a short time ago, one popular Maine coach found another calling. Gone is Coach George "Eck" Allen from this pine-scented campus that we call Maine; remaining behind is the memory of a fine athletic mentor who possessed all the qualities of the great in sport-making history. The man of the Maine year was well liked and respected by his players, the undergraduate student body, the alumni and faculty, and Maine fans from far and wide. This column wishes to pay this final salute to a man we'll long remember. Our loss is the U. S. Navy's gain.

And in closing, we also want to make a final salute to Icky Crane, a fellow who went far this year in inscribing Maine sports in the annals and files of a fan's memory and the Campus office. For a really great job, Icky, a wreath of editorial laurel and countless medals of appreciation.

Tennis Team Prepares To Defend Title

Coach Small Predicts Netmen Will Equal Last Year's Record

The tennis team is given a good chance to repeat as New England Conference champions this season and to win the State Series by Coach William Small. He thinks that it should at least equal last year's team's record of six wins and one loss.

The short school year has telescoped the season considerably. All matches must be played by May 10, to avoid conflict with other schools' exam schedules, and as many as in other years are scheduled. In addition to the dual matches a State college singles and doubles tournament is to be held here May 9.

Veterans Led by Pratt

Lettermen on this season's team are Bert Pratt, Mal Peckham, Wally Francis, and Gene Mertens. Experienced upperclassmen include Johnson, Welch, Ingalls, and Wheeler, while among the men up from last year's undefeated freshman team are Smith, Miller, Kilpatrick, Broder, Avery, and O'Neal.

Freshmen Track Prospects Bright

Unless scholastic difficulties arise, the freshmen should boast an outstanding outdoor track team. The indoor season developed several very good men, and they will be on hand for the spring competition.

Future Stars

Skiffington, Bailey, and Vennett will be available in the dashes. All of them have turned in good times. In the longer runs, Howie Barber, Elmer Folsom, and Bill Marble should be able to dominate the field. Bob Emerson looks great in the pole vault, and he can be depended on for points in the high jump and broad jump. Joe Leclair has a freshman record to his credit in the hurdles, and he is a good performer in the high jump.

Earle Vickery should lead all comers in his specialty, the javelin throw, and in the shot put he can be counted on, with Bill Bunnell, to grab the lion's share of the points.

Mann and Whitten Only Players Lost By Graduation

The sports prayer for the Maine Bears is now for warm, dry weather since the varsity baseball practice has got into full swing. Coach Bill Kenyon has been working out daily with a squad of some 25 men in the indoor field house since the spring recess. With good luck the team should be able to move outdoors very shortly.

Previous to the vacation, practice was held for batterymen only, but the infielders and outfielders took to serious conditioning practice a week ago last Monday. Kenyon has practically a veteran squad out this year, having lost only two men, Sammy Mann and Harve Whitten. Mann's loss will be felt most since he was a seasoned pitcher. Likewise, Whitten's absence will be felt in the outfield.

New Faces and Old

The veterans back this spring are Ed Dangler and Gordon Tooley, pitchers, Ike Downes, catcher, the entire infield of Don Kilpatrick, Johnny Bower, and Charlie Taylor, and two outfielders, Phil Meserve and Cliff Blake. Other men with good experience are Doc Winters, a catcher, and Tommy Pollock and Robert Healy, outfielders.

McNeilly, Markee Mark Time

Then there are Charlie Markee, an infielder who wasn't in college last spring, and Lowell Ward, a catcher who did not play last spring. Strengthening the pitcher's mound are two sophomores, brought up from last year's frosh squad, Al McNeilly and Dick Palmer. Both of these lads show great promise. Bob Nutter and Johnny Whitten are two other sophomores who may see action before the season is over.

Wrestling, Boxing Annual Tourneys Filled With Thrills

Four Mat Champions And Seven Ring Kings Crowned For 1942

Young ring and mat aspirants opened up with fistic fury and iron holds at Memorial Gym a few nights before the March vacation. In Intramural Trophy Competition 37 Maine men staged a two-night card of boxing and wrestling in the annual tournaments on March 17th and 18th.

In Angel's Footsteps

With grapplers representing 11 'mural teams waiting eagerly to come to grips with their opponents, the 7th Annual University Wrestling Tournament was held on Wednesday night. Stone of Alpha Gamma Rho took the 155 pound class crown with three brilliant wins. Higgins of Phi Mu won the championship in the 135 pound class. Towle of Dorm B took the 145 pound class final, and Smith of East Oak was proclaimed 185 pound class champion.

Of Ring and Rosin

In a thrilling Boxing Tournament featuring three knock-outs, six new University glove champions were crowned. Waters of Lambda Chi fought his way to the 155 pound class title, Bunnell of Dorm A won the light-heavy weight crown, Hancock of Phi Mu was the winner in the 135 pound class, McNeilly of Kappa Sig took the 145 pound class glories, Brown of Phi Gam is new 125 pound class king, and Horeysek of Kappa Sig is the new heavy weight champion. Hartley of Phi Eta successfully defended his title as 160 pound champion to wind up the tournament.

N. E. Track Meet Off Due To War

Thanks to the early spring, it begins to look as though the varsity and freshman track squads will be able to start work outdoors this week-end. Some years it has been impossible to use the outdoor track until the last week in April or even the first few days of May, but this year will probably be different.

Short Season

It is fortunate that such is the case, for the schedules of both freshman and varsity teams start early and are over quickly. The first meet at Orono will probably be on April 25, with the Frosh meeting Deering high school of Portland.

The first meet for the varsity is also April 25, when the team goes to Boston to face Boston College. Four days later, on a Wednesday, New Hampshire comes to Orono. The Maine men get a ten-day rest, and then wind up the season by defending their State Meet title at Brunswick. Bowdoin, the home team, is the chief threat to Maine's hopes of repeating.

Frosh Get One Chance

The freshmen will get their only chance against major opposition in the State Meet, when four of them will run a mile medley relay against teams from Bates, Bowdoin, and Colby. The Maine Frosh have never won this event.

Coach Chester A. Jenkins expects to have essentially the same varsity squad that competed for him indoors. Stan Phillips and Dick Youlden will handle the dashes, John Radley the 440, Dwight Moody and Fred Kelson the 880, Dick Martinez the mile, Phil Hamm the two mile, and Bill Hadlock the hurdles.

Weisman Dominates Shot Put

Bob Weisman ought to dominate the shot put, Herb Johnson will have the discus pretty much to himself, and no varsity jacin thrower can match Bob McLeary. The hammer will be taken care of by Bill Harding and Bob Dodge, while Walt Brady and Al Clements will share honors in the high jump. Talbot Crane should get back into his old form in the broad jump, while Warren Nute is the best man in the pole vault.

There will be no New England championships this spring, and the IC4A meet is scheduled for May 30, the week after graduation. In addition, the Penn Relays come the same day as the Boston College meet, so it is extremely doubtful if any Maine track stars see competition outside the two dual encounters and the State Meet.

Frosh Diamond Doings

A battery squad of eight men seems destined to be the nucleus of the 1942 freshman baseball team as Coach Sam Sezak started his second week with the freshman baseball candidates. Work has been confined to conditioning for the most part as Coach Sezak looked over the crop and started the weeding process.

Infielders Start Workout

Infielders reported on Monday of this week, but the outfielders will not be out for another week. Practice has been confined to the fieldhouse to date; but if the spring weather continues, the team will be on the practice fields in another week.

Lanky Bob Thompson is the big man of the pitching staff, towering 6' 2". Phil Archibald, former Higgins hurler, and Bob Merchant lack the height but have plenty of speed. Only two southpaws look as if they would stick on the squad; Larry Towle and Herschel Smith are the duo of lefties.

Holding Down the Plate

Behind the plate there are three likely candidates in Del McCrum, Bob Hasty, and Flash Gordon. The latter is a right-handed hitter while the others are portersiders. If Coach Sezak needs weight, he will have it in the 200 pounds of Hasty. McCrum, Smith, and Archibald all played for Aroostook Central Institute last year.

Pasture Players in Abundance

About 22 players are due to report next Monday for the outfield while several of those already out are available for duty there. This will raise the squad's total to over 50 players although Coach Sezak will have to trim it down by the time the Rumford game rolls around late in the month. Maine Central Institute has sent over two of its regulars for infield possibilities in Bob Anderson at first and Martin Kelly at second. Earle Wescott and George Faulkner come from Hancock County, while Bob Moulton is another of the M.C.I. group.

Al Smaha, Bob Chase, Bud Torrey, George Lofker, Mert Libby, and Wayne Stacy are the current candidates for the shortstop spot, while there are four men out for the hot corner. Jim Donovan, Conrad Beau-lieu, Neil Mills, and Andy Britt make up the quartet.

Second Base Hot Spot

At second base Mike DiRenzo has changed from basketball to baseball and will compete with Kelly. Bill Crossley, Bob Krause, Howie Danner, and John Buckley are also competing for the second base spot.

Kenyon Takes Over Lead of Grid Team

Bill Kenyon, University of Maine's veteran mentor, suddenly became a three-sport head coach two weeks ago when Eck Allen departed for Annapolis and points west.

Allen's assistant during a surprising 1941 fall campaign plans to continue the Virginian's system and style of play which gained immense popularity with Pale Blue fans last fall. No new needs weight, he will have it in the 200 pounds of Hasty. McCrum, Smith, and Archibald all played for Aroostook Central Institute last year.

Kenyon Is Nationally Known

Kenyon was a nationally known athlete at Georgetown, gaining All-American honors as catcher and captain of the 1922 baseball team, and being elected a few years ago to the college's all-time football team. He later played ball for East Millinocket in Maine and Toronto in the International League. Bill has played professional ball with the New York Giants and other teams and won an All-American position in collegiate football, weighing only 166 pounds.

University Air Raid Services To Mobilize

Practice Scheduled For Afternoon Of April 12

A practice mobilization of all University Air Raid Precaution services is being scheduled for the latter part of Sunday afternoon, April 12, it was announced today by Prof. Weston Evans, chairman of Air Raid precautions. The mobilization will be for the purpose of testing organization arrangements and actual services under raid conditions.

Will Be Realistic

During the time between the air raid warning signal and the all clear, air raid wardens and traffic officers will be in complete control of the campus. Actual incidents such as high explosive damage, incendiary bomb fires, injuries, and interruption of facilities will be presented to the wardens as actual problems to test the efficiency of their preparations and organization.

Prepare for Trial Raid

Signals for the mobilization will be given by the heating plant whistle. First signal will be a series of short blasts in groups of four. This will serve as a preliminary warning to the public. Ten minutes later the actual raid warning will be sounded by an uninterrupted series of short blasts. Following this signal all conditions of a raid will prevail and all traffic except official services will be at a standstill until the all-clear whistle. This try-out will be in preparation for an official mobilization over the entire area scheduled for Sunday, April 19.

Fifty Persons Are Enrolled In First Aid Classes

Over fifty persons enrolled for the instructors' class in first aid at Alumni all on Monday evening, April 6, for the intensive fifteen hour course conducted by Mr. Nate Parker, field representative of the National Red Cross, it was announced by Stanley Wallace, chairman of the First Aid Committee of the University Civilian Defense Council.

The course, part of the University Civilian Defense Program, is offered to those who have completed the preliminary training and prepares for an examination which qualifies for the Red Cross First Aid Instructor's Certificate. Among those who will take the course this week are faculty members and wives, and a number of persons from Bangor, Old Town, and Orono.

Eleven girls were initiated into Alpha Omicron Pi Sunday, April 5, at the Bangor House. Following the initiation a banquet was held at the hotel attended by members, initiates, and alumnae.

After dinner, speeches were presented by the president, the new members, and the alumnae guests. Miss Barbara Scribner was the toastmistress.

The initiates were: Doris Bell, Ruth Blaisdell, Nancy Gascoigne, Barbara Higgins, Ruth Higgins, Constance King, Mildred Murr, Edith Merrill, Elsie Pierce, Marie Rourke, and Joyce McLean.

Applications for the positions of Editor and Business Manager of next year's "Prism" should be made at once to Irving Pierce, adviser, Administration Building. Applications from both men and women will be welcomed.

Joel Earnest, State Commissioner of Health and Welfare, will speak before the class in Maine Government on April 14, 3:15 p.m. in 6 South Stevens.

The members of Chi Omega sorority held a supper meeting April 5 in North Estabrooke in honor of the 47th anniversary of the founding of Chi Omega.

The meeting was well attended by alumnae, active members, and pledges. Mrs. Asa Adams, of Orono, gave a brief summary of the history of Chi Omega and of the local chapter. Frieda Flanders spoke on Chi Omega policies.

Mrs. Russell Parker, of Glencove, N. Y., district president of Delta Delta Delta, was visiting the chapter on campus last week. Mrs. Parker, a graduate of Cornell University, heads the district of Delta Delta Delta which includes chapters at Adelphi College, Boston University, Vermont, Middlebury, Colby, and Maine.

The Maine Outing Club will meet Tuesday night at 7 o'clock in 15 Coburn Hall to hear a talk on Mt. Katahdin by Hal Dyer, member of the Maine Park Commission. Dyer will also show colored slides, it was announced. The meeting will be open to the public.
