Everybody! Have you all everything you should have week? Have you written to the mater and paid back two bits you borrowed, and set up on that outside reading education, that you let slip last week? If so, O.K., and your card (or punishment) is per-sonal to read the remainder of column.

We hadn't been drinking cider, anything, and so we were really astonished to hear the conversation between a sister and an inmate of the Sig-Nu house:

New Plan for Electing Captains Of Teams Passed by A.A. Board

Beginning this Fall with cross-country and relay and with the addition next Fall of football, there will be no captain elected for these teams until after the last competition has been engaged in by any team. The coaches are to appoint acting captains in the various sports, these captains to fill the same place that a regularly elected captain would. In the case of football, the captain will be elected after the last game is played. This means that the office of captain will become purely an honorary one as no captain will be an elected captain in any competition.

It is claimed that this plan will not lend itself so readily to abuses as the present system does. Those electing the captain will be less liable to influences that do not relate directly to the prospective captain's playing ability. Also, the coaches will be able to appoint as captains men whom they think will secure the best co-operation of the teams. All men who show any capacity for leadership will receive a chance to exercise their talents. The Athletic Board has recently adopted this plan after much deliberation. The plan has been in effect on the Frosh football squad this Fall.

Maine Football Team Expects Hard Battle From N. Hampshire

The University of Maine is out in the lead of the New England College Conference teams and the game with the New Hampshire eleven Saturday will definitely decide the champions. Maine has won over Rhode Island and Connecticut Aggies, while New Hampshire has not played any of the conference teams as yet.

New Hampshire has given the Pale Blue some close competition during the last eight years. Maine won four of the tilts, lost three, and tied one.

The Granite State lads have played two games this season. They tied Boston University 12-12 and blanked Lowell Textile 20-0. Last year Maine and New Hampshire made the same number of first downs, but the forward passing game was Maine's bug-a-boo. Maine lost last year 20-7, but won the year before 7-0.

Eustis in the backfield with Wood and Lane will be closely watched Saturday by the visitors. Their tackles, ends and center are all veterans. Their weakness lies in the guard positions.

The tackling of the Maine team has been harder and more vicious. Captain Horne and Julius Pike are in this department. Warren Blockinger, quarterback, and Munroe Romansky, fullback, have slight leg injuries, but they are expected to be in the lineup at Durham. The latter carries the ball well and is getting stronger on the offense. Although he is only a sophomore, Coach Brice thinks that he is one of the best men at that position to be brought up from the freshman class in a number of years. Brice claims that Romansky will be one of the best fullbacks in the state by his senior year.

The line, except the left guard position, is strong. Should Sam Calderwood feel that his knee injury, received in the Yale game, is better, he may get into the New Hampshire game, but, as there are other first string men, he will be saved for the Maine State Series which opens the following week.

Connecticut Aggies' running guard gave Maine some trouble last week, although the latter won 13-0. The men will be drilled on this phase of the game more thoroughly this week and will also receive instruction on defensive ends on reverse plays. The Maine blocking was ineffective when the ends were getting the play from behind after the play had gone a few yards. Maine's passing defense is weak. They were inclined to play the man instead of the ball. The guards will be worked on the flat screened pass.

The lateral and forward passes, which have not been shown much in the past three games, will receive some shaping up. Besides the left guard, the left end is giving Brice some trouble. Arthur Lufkin, of Medford, and Noddy Lamb are on even terms here. Bagley and Blockinger will alternate at quarterback. Milton Sims, of North Andover, (Continued on Page Four)

Further changes recently made are also of great interest. Beginning this Fall, any Maine man who, while out for the cross-country team, starts and finishes in the New England or the I. C. 4 A cross-country runs will receive his letter, regardless of the place in the scoring that he secures. In relay racing, any man who runs for the Maine team in (Continued on Page Four)

On Saturday a well-balanced Maine cross-country team made a double victory of it by defeating the Connecticut runners 19-42. Three Maine men finished in a tie for 1st place: Gunning, Mank, and Booth. Two Connecticut men were 4th and 5th, and then came four Maine men: Pendleton, Brooks, Fuller and Austin. Pendleton's showing was remarkably good in view of the fact that it was his first varsity race. The time of the race was 14 min., 16 2/3 seconds.

Scholarship Prize Cup Offered to Freshmen By U. of M. Authorities

Editor of the Campus:

The University is offering for the first time a scholarship cup to be awarded to that Maine school (sending three or more students in regular standing) whose graduates in the Freshman Class shall have the highest scholastic standing for the fall semester. The following schools are eligible this year: Ashland, Auburn, Bangor, Belfast, Bar Harbor, Brewer, Brownville Jct., Brooks, Caribou, Cony High, Camden, Deering, Dexter, Erskine Academy, Fryeburg Academy, Fort Kent, Gardiner, Hebron, Houlton, Higgins Classical Inst., Harmony, Kents Hill Seminary, Lewiston, Millinocket, Mexico, Oakland, Orono, Old Town, Oak Grove Seminary, Portland, Richmond, Rumford, Stonington, South Paris, South Portland, Sanford.

This competition furnishes to certain groups of Freshmen a real opportunity for team work to the credit of their schools and incidentally, for advancement of individual scholarship. I shall be very glad to give to any interested Freshman the names of those who entered the school.

Yours very sincerely,
J. N. Hart, Dean

Freshmen Drop Game To Hebron Gridsters

A powerful Hebron football team swept through a loose and often ineffective Frosh team Saturday to win—14-0.

The visitors presented an offensive that was too difficult for the Freshman team to solve. They not only kept the ball in the frosh territory most of the time, but made consistent gains against them. Hebron line plays were always good for some gain. They presented a defensive line that held well at times, but knew how to tackle hard.

The Freshman offense functioned poorly and at times was thrown for losses. The weak point of their play was in the interference. Time after (Continued on Page Three)

Student Senate Is Against "Bag Scrap" As Now Conducted

At the meeting of the Student Senate held Tuesday night, many important measures were discussed. Beechler was appointed secretary pro tem in the absence of Holdridge, the regular secretary.

The Senate went on record as being opposed to the Bag Scrap in its present form. It is hoped that the Skulls will take under advisement plans that may be substituted for the present system.

A committee was appointed to draw up plans for the election of freshman class officers. Upon motion, Pres. O'Neil of the Senate appointed a committee of three to consider the matter. Gerry, Beechler, and Page are the men appointed, Gerry to serve as Chairman.

Ricker reported that the cost of the cuts of the fraternity pins inserted in the Frosh Bible was less than the estimated cost of $2. Ricker stated that the M.C. A. would, unless the houses paid the estimated cost, run into debt on the hand-book. This matter was referred back to the houses for their discussion.

The final draft of the rushing rules promulgated last Spring by the Senate was laid before the delegates for their discussion. A few minor changes were made and the revised rules are to be taken back to the houses for approval.

The results of the Blotter-to-feed-Bananas-sale were discussed. After much discussion, the Senate voted that the (Continued on Page Four)

Touch Football Games Get Under Way. Coin- Toss Wins Two Games

Two of the seven games of touch football played by the various fraternities Sunday afternoon were decided by flipping a coin after five scoreless periods had been played. Alpha Tau Omega won over Phi Kappa and the Oak Hall freshmen get the decision over Theta Chi on the toss of the coin.

Phi Mu Delta playing on their short home field piled up the largest score, winning over Beta Kappa 20 to 0. Beta Theta Pi took over the freshmen of Hannibal Hamlin Hall A team 12 to 0, touchdown coming as a result of intercepting a pass. Sigma Nu playing Hannibal Hamlin Hall B team scored one touchdown on their frosh opponents. Phi Eta Kappa took over Alpha Gamma Rho 12 to 0. Phi Gamma Delta is ready to go into the next round of the competition, having won over Sigma Chi 6 to 0 in a well played game. Lambda Chi Alpha and Phi Kappa Sigma, Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Delta Tau Delta, and Sigma Phi Sigma and Tau Epsilon Phi postponed their games until later this week.

Military Hop Planned. December 12th Set As Date of Event

Plans are already being made for the first formal festive occasion of the year, the Military Hop. The date will correspond to that of last season, December 12th, namely, the Friday before Christmas vacation. Scabbard and Blade is scouting around at present to obtain the best possible orchestra that can be provided and any suggestions to the orchestra committee, in charge of Bill Wells, concerning a popular dance team, will be duly appreciated. Scabbard and Blade fraternity wishes to obtain music that the student body will enjoy, and wishes suggestions.

Honorary pledging of the new members to Scabbard and Blade will take place at the ball and the honorary cadet colonel will also be selected. Balloting for a list of names, from which the honorary sponsor will be elected, will take place the same as last year. During the week of November 15th all sophomore and freshman military men will cast votes, during the drill period, for any girl in the Junior class whom they wish to fulfill this office. The five girls receiving the highest number of votes will be selected to be voted upon again by those attending the hop, and the lucky female will be duly initiated in ceremonial form at the ball.

Freshman restrictions will be waived for all first year men wishing to attend the dance.

Tonsorial Technique Of Owls Displayed

The Owls swung into action Tuesday night; result—one Freshman who prefers to stand up and whose hair is missing in spots. The reasons given for the disciplining were that he was guilty of impudence to a member of that august body known as the Skulls, that he carried no matches, went out with girls, and in general, comported himself in an unseemly manner.

Four or five others were also "put on the spot" for infractions of the rules laid down by the Skulls. It is gathered from reliable sources that one gullible Frosh was advised by some of his classmates to appear before the Owls. He did so, although he had broken no rules. His fate is still undecided and so are the fates of his classmates who advised him.

Gyger To Speak Before Maine Grads Who Are Now Teaching in State

John T. Gyger of Falmouth is to be the chief speaker at the annual meeting of the University of Maine Teachers' Alumni Association to be held in Bangor, October 23, on which date the State Teachers' Convention will be in session.

Mr. Gyger, who is superintendent of schools in North Yarmouth, Falmouth and Cumberland, was appointed a trustee of the University last February. He is a graduate of Westchester (Pa.) Teachers College and of Columbia University. Since the completion of his college work he has had wide educational and business experiences. He is a member of many organizations including the Portland Club, Portland Rotary Club and active in several other associations and educational committees.

Charles A. Robbins of Lincoln, principal of Mattanawcook Academy, is president of the Association and in charge of the program for the meeting. Miss Estelle Beaupre '14, a teacher in Bangor High School, is chairman of the committee on local arrangements.

Maine's future competitors ran up against some stiff opposition last Saturday. A battered Colby eleven was beaten by Tufts 7-0. Donovan, who starred last year for Colby, was again outstanding in the Waterville team. Bowdoin, in its tie game with Williams, showed marked improvement over the game it played against Mass. Aggie. Bowdoin, to all appearances, will have a better team than last year. Bates, until Bornstein, its diminutive back, was put into the game, could make little headway against Norwich.

N. Hampshire	20	Lowell Textile	0
Bates	7	Norwich	0
Colby	0	Tufts	7
Bowdoin	7	Williams	7

A steady, aggressive Maine eleven defeated the stubbornly fighting Connecticut Aggies 13-0 on the Orono field Saturday and thus made up for the inglorious 20-7 defeat of last year.

Coach Brice's aggregation showed plenty of fight, an amazingly powerful line and a fast backfield, but the play throughout the game was less spectacular than in the Maine-Rhode Island contest. Forward passes were used more often, and to good advantage.

Connecticut received the kick-off, and punted to Blockinger after two vain attempts to penetrate the stone-wall defense of Maine's line. Maine, with short passes, line plunges, and end runs then proceeded to march to Connecticut's 20-yard line, where she lost the ball on downs. The Aggies came back strong on the offensive, and managed to place the ball on Maine's 16 yard line before the quarter ended.

Maine settled down in the second quarter, and Connecticut, after gaining but little on an end run and two line plunges, tried a forward pass. This was easily knocked down, and Maine was given the ball on her own 20-yard line. A forward pass, Blockinger to Lufkin, and two Connecticut penalties for off-side put the ball in the center of the field. Then Blockinger threw a long pass to Moran, who caught it on the 25 yard line and tore through for an additional 18 yards before he was forced offside. Romansky made four yards thru left guard and then went thru center for the touchdown. Wilson went in for Sims and kicked the goal.

Connecticut came very near scoring in the second half, when Harger broke thru center and ran 40 yards with a clear field ahead before he tripped himself up. Maine started her march for the second touchdown soon after, when a Connecticut linesman interfered with Blockinger in the act of punting. Maine was (Continued on Page Four)

Girls' Varsity Rifle Team to Meet Oct. 19

The first meeting of the Girls' Varsity Rifle Team will be held in the M.C.A. building Monday, Oct. 19, at 2:30 o'clock. Captain Wear will speak about plans for the coming year. It is hoped that the girls will adopt the idea formulated by the boys' club of awarding a prize to the individual with the five highest scores.

It will be preferable this year to limit the membership of the club to twenty-five on account of the smallness of the range. Regular attendance and high scores will determine eligibility.

The Maine Studio has been engaged, subject to approval by the club, to take a picture of the organization with their rifles for the papers of the state.

As challenges have come in from thirty-six colleges, the matches will have to be shot off early. Practice is to begin on November 17, as stated by Captain Hugh A. Wear who will be the coach this year.

Those girls elected to membership in the Girls' Varsity Rifle Team last year are also requested to attend the meeting next Monday.

Every year it seems to be necessary to bring to the attention of some members of the faculty that the period ends when the bell rings. All students, at one time or another, meet professors who keep on talking four or five minutes after the close of the period. This may cause great inconvenience to students who have to rush from one building to another between periods. Sometimes it will be found that the professors who detain their classes beyond the close of the period arrive late themselves. We feel that instructors should make an effort to begin on time and should plan their lectures so that they can cover all their material in the allotted time, rather than try to cram an extra ten minutes' discussion into the period between classes. Very few students pay much attention to the instructor after the bell has rung. It seems hardly fair to hold them responsible for facts given out after the class has ended, when they should be on their way to another class.

A little consideration on the part of those professors addicted to the practice will go a long way towards removing this difficulty.

The action of the Athletic Board in adopting the new rules for the election of captains for the teams of the University is to be commended. In recent years there have been unsatisfactory situations arise because of the unsuitability or possible injury of the elected captain. With a captain appointed for each game, the injury of the captain is not so serious as regards possible weakening of the morale of the team. The coaches will have a chance to gauge the fitness of a man to occupy the berth of captain. It has been a recognized fact that in some cases that arose in past years the captains were elected, not on a merit basis, but through the manipulating and pooling of votes. This alone would be sufficient justification for recasting the entire system of electing captains. When the other reasons are taken into consideration, there can be little doubt that the new system is a definite step forward.

On the front page we print a letter from Dean Hart setting forth the terms of a new competition for freshmen. This competition, carried out, will have two beneficial effects: the marks of the individual students will be better and the institutions from which the competing freshmen came will be brought before the public. In a period of many kinds of competition—tree-sitting, hoop-rolling and what not—it seems to us that this is a form of endeavor that should be welcomed as offering a chance for attaining a worth-while goal.

We heartily endorse the idea and hope that eligible freshmen will keep this competition in mind throughout the semester.

BOOK REVIEW

"Bitter Waters" by Heinrich Hauser.
Translated by Patrick Kirwan with a preface by Liam O'Flaherty.

"Bitter Waters" is one of the most discussed books at the present time in Germany. It is quite in keeping with the usual run of German novels in that it deals in stark realism. The subject matter of "Bitter Waters" admits of much very realistic realism as it is the tale of Able Seaman Glen, a sailor on an ocean liner.

He has strange thoughts and reactions, many of which the author tells us in detail. The story opens with Glen awaking in the night with the feeling that he is being stifled. To escape that, he goes ashore and sees the sailors' night life in Tampico. The first several chapters are a good report on social, sanitary, and business conditions along the waterfront of the Mexican city. Here in a brothel he finds Chiquita, a half-breed, whom he takes to Germany.

On the way across, she attempts suicide by jumping overboard, but is rescued and with Able Seaman Glen finally arrives at the little barren island where they make their home in a dilapidated dwelling for the next year. The story of their endeavors to make the shack habitable and their simple life here is the best part of the book.

When the money is exhausted, Glen is forced to go to sea again. In the city, he and Chiquita plan a party for the evening before he leaves. They visit the dance halls frequented by the sailors and the story ends. One assumes that Chiquita took up the same sort of life she had led in Tampico. There is a hint that Glen is unhappy, but he goes on, a deck-hand on the "Empress of Ireland."

NEW ENGLAND CROSS-COUNTRY MEET

George Berry '31, recently elected secretary of the N.E.I.C.A.A., attended a convention of this association during the past week-end, held at the Hotel Lenox in Boston. Discussion took place concerning the coming cross-country and track meets and new officials were elected. The colleges represented at the meeting were: Colby, Bowdoin, Maine, Rhode Island State, Holy Cross, Connecticut Aggies, and New Hampshire.

Due to the fact that the I.C.A.A.A. has chosen the date of November 17th for the National Cross-Country Meet, the New England Association is faced with the problem of either changing the date, that the association has set as November 17th, which would keep teams from competing in the Nationals, or placing the date one week earlier, on November 10th. Most of the colleges in New England have signified their desire to use November 10th as the date of the race, and this will probably be announced as the official date, shortly.

It was proposed during the session that the N.E.I.C.A.A. hold a New England Indoor Track Meet during the relay season, to take place either on a board track in Boston or in one of the various college cages on a dirt track. Nothing definite has been decided but a report concerning this will be made after the cross-country season is over with. This will be decided entirely upon the reports received from coaches and athletic directors.

E. J. Theberge of Colby who functioned as president of the association last year was elected as graduate secretary-treasurer to take up the duties of the late Colonel Briggs. President Flint of Bowdoin and graduate-sect. Theberge were chosen to represent the N.E.I.C.A.A. at the annual A. A. U. and Olympic conventions held at Washington during the month of November. Power was also delegated to the president to appoint a committee to bring the constitution of the N.E.I.C.A.A. up to date, the same not having been revised since 1927.

PHI MU INFORMAL

Phi Mu gave its first informal last Friday night. It was in the form of a harvest ball. The hall was decorated in autumn leaves, and lighted by means of Jack o'Lanterns. A negro orchestra, Bernard's Bell Hops, furnished the music. The musicians were dressed in costumes of straw hats and overalls which helped to bring out the atmosphere of harvest time. A matched number and Paul Jones dance added to the gaiety. The prize waltz was won by Margaret Lovely and Ruel Webb. Intermission came with harvest desserts of pumpkin pie, grapes, and cider. Dances after intermission were accompanied by noise-makers and confetti. Clarine Coffin, Priscilla Bell, and Edna Grange were in charge of the affair.

PAN-HELLENIC RUSHING RULES

The Pan-Hellenic council, for the purpose of explaining the existing rushing rules for women, has issued the three following statements.

1. There shall be no freshmen invited to a party at which men are present.
2. Everything between freshmen and upperclass girls shall be dutch—each bearing her own expense.
3. Upperclass girls shall not invite freshmen to meals nor to remain overnight.

These explanations are to make the rules comprehensible to everyone, so that there shall be no cause for violation.

MAINE NIGHT PLANS UNDERWAY

Maine Night, the annual celebration of students and alumni of the University of Maine, the evening before the last home football game will be held this year Friday, October 31.

President Harold S. Boardman of the University has appointed a committee in charge of arrangements. Professor L. S. Corbett, Dean of men is chairman. The other members are E. H. Kelley '90 of the treasury department; Prof. Harry Watson '20, Associate Professor of Mechanical Engineering at the University; Theodore S. Curtis '23, recently appointed faculty manager of athletics; Charles E. Crossland '17, Alumni secretary; Erma Barton '31, president of the All-Maine Women; Donald Marshall, president of the Athletic Association; and Linwood Cheney, president of the Senior Skulls.

With the passing of the big old-time athletic rallies which were held frequently, Maine Night has come to occupy a more important place in the traditions of the University.

time large gains could have been made if the backfield had given the proper interference. The defensive play was very poor. The linesmen could break through the Hebron line but did not seem to be able to hold on to a ball carrier after they had tackled him.

Passes thrown by the Frosh were usually good for some gain. The trouble lay in the fact that at very few times were they in a position to throw passes. The Frosh did have a fairly good defense against the few passes that Hebron threw, but the "big green" did not find it necessary to throw passes as they gained consistently on line and end plays.

Hebron kicked off to Maine. The ball was run back to the Frosh thirty-yard line and Maine kicked on her fourth down after making no gain. Hebron then started in to work the ball down the field, but lost the ball on downs after being in a scoring position. Near the end of the first quarter, Hebron, taking the ball over in the middle of the field, worked it down to the Frosh thirty yard line. A long end run by Traiton put the ball over. The point was kicked with little trouble.

At the beginning of the second quarter Davis of the Frosh recovered a Hebron fumble on the Hebron forty-five yard line. A long forward from Favor to Walton and a second pass from Favor to Searles put the Frosh in an excellent scoring position. However, the Hebron team tightened its defense and Maine lost the ball on downs. Hebron then kicked well up the field. The rest of the period was spent in trying to keep the Hebron machine from advancing too far into the Frosh territory by the Frosh. The half ended with the Green team being in a position to score again.

Maine kicked to Hebron to open the second half. Hebron then started a determined march up the field. Blieler ran the ends well for Hebron, making several large gains. A grounded pass into the Maine goal territory on a fourth down brought the ball out twenty yards. The Frosh promptly kicked, but the kick was hurried and was short. Again the fight started to keep the Hebron team from crossing the Frosh line. At the end of the quarter O'Connor broke away on a long end run and crossed the goal line. The same play had been run just before O'Connor made the touchdown, but the ball had been brought back for Hebron had been offside. The point was kicked. From this point on to the end of the game the Frosh fought hard to put the ball over. The quarter ended with the ball in midfield in Maine's possession.

In the last quarter the frosh completed a number of forwards. It looked for awhile as if they might make a touchdown. The Hebron team did not seem to try to gain, but were content to keep the advantage they already had. The play in this quarter was more even, and the ball was kept at about midfield most of the time. Frequent substitutions were made by Coach Jones of the Frosh in the line. The quarter ended with the Frosh trying their best to make a score.

The defensive work of Parsons and Colman in the backfield kept the score from being larger than it was. Hill and Davis in the line played well, opening holes and breaking through on the defense. Davis acted as captain of the Frosh for the game.

McKinney was the most versatile man on the Hebron team, playing well both on the offense and the defense. The game was marked by the poor tackling of the Freshmen and the poor interference they gave to their ball carriers. When these two things have been improved upon they will be able to show an excellent brand of football.

SCREEN

Black-haired, black-eyed, handsome Charles Rogers and red-haired, blue-eyed Nancy Carroll, the lovers of "Abie's Irish Rose," of "Close Harmony," make a "peach of a pair" in Paramount's all-Technicolor moving picture production of the famous Schwab and Mandel stage hit, "Follow Thru."

"Follow Thru," which will open Monday at the Strand Theatre, for two days, is a love story with a golf club setting and a world of comedy. Laurence Schwab, himself, went to Hollywood to direct it in conjunction with Lloyd Corrigan, taking with him everything he needed from the original two-year Broadway hit, including Zelma O'Neal and Jack Haley, its lively, convulsing comic leads. Also he brought with him the catchy song hits, including "Button Up Your Overcoat," and Paramount song writers supplied him with a few new ones.

"Follow Thru" is a pert and peppy outdoor story. Nancy Carroll, with ambitions to win a championship crown on the links, diverts her attention from golf to the handsome club professional, Charles Rogers, and gives her rival, Thelma Todd, a chance to hole out first. Successful on the fairways, Thelma tries her talent at love-making, but Nancy refuses to give her any advantage there. Rogers has an eye for golf champions, so that Nancy, to win a husband, has first to win the golf crown.

DEBATERS MEET

At the meeting of the debating society on last Monday, Miss Fineberg reported on her findings of the summer. Miss Fineberg, secretary for the women's division and Mr. Parker Spear for the men have begun working out a schedule for the coming year. A very important meeting will be held next Monday, Oct. 20, at 4:15 when all those interested in debating, including freshmen, are asked to report to discuss the petitioning of a national fraternity, a project of vital interest to all debaters.

blotters should be sold for what they would bring. It was argued that many who would be unwilling to give a quarter would be willing perhaps to give ten or fifteen cents.

The next important measure taken up was that of the distributing of tickets for the State Series games to begin shortly. The Senate decided to retain the system in force last year. The essential features of the plan are: Each student to have the privilege of buying a ticket for a seat beside the one that he or she is to occupy, the classes to have choice of seats in order of priority, the Treasurer's office to be open from 8:30 to 12:00, 12:45 to 4:10. Mr. Pierce of the Treasurer's office expressed his willingness to co-operate in all ways possible and offered to keep his office open for a longer period than last year, to better suit the convenience of the students of the University. The time mentioned above was the time decided upon. Students must exchange their tickets for each game, rather than one exchange for the two games. Seniors may exchange their blanket tickets, for seat tickets on Monday after the New Hampshire game, Juniors on Tuesday, Sophomores on Wednesday, Freshmen on Thursday, and any remaining, on Friday and Saturday. Any upperclassman may exchange his ticket on any day after the awarded distance on the punt. Two forwards, Blocklinger to Moran and Blocklinger to Lamb, paved the way for the second score. Romansky was given the ball on the 11-yard line, and went across for the counter in a single try. Sims failed to kick the goal.

The last quarter saw Connecticut uncorking a desperate rally with forward and lateral passes, but without gaining much ground. The game ended with the ball near the center of the field.

Romansky and Moran were Maine's two outstanding stars, together accounting for the greatest part of Maine's yardage. Blocklinger threw passes with bullet-like precision, and Sims proved to be a steady ground-gainer. Davis, Horne, and Fickett went good in the line, and were the cause of many a time out. Smith, Lamb, and Lewis showed steady improvement as ends, smearing many Connecticut plays before they were well underway. The entire team seems to be so far ahead of last year's eleven, at this stage of the game, that there can be no comparison.

The long pass from Blocklinger to Moran down the middle caused many a gasp from spectators when Jack took the pass out of a Connecticut man's hands. The 25 yard pass and the 15 yard run paved the way for the second touchdown.

Romansky cleverly faked a reverse to Sims and spun thru center to elude a secondary for eleven yards for the second touchdown. Mun spins fast and is hard to hold once he gets going.

Maine stuck to conservative football and did not display the forward or lateral pass much.

Harger, Connecticut fullback, was so surprised to find himself in clear front that after running 35 yards he stumbled and lay there thinking he was tackled, while the nearest Maine man was fully eight yards in back of him.

Connecticut was overjoyed when the referees claimed that the Aggies' long pass to the fifteen yard line was interfered with by a Maine man. Although they were given the extra yardage, they failed to click the few yards to the goal line.

Maine's cheering section was in better form and is expected to excel itself next week when the State Series opens.

New Plan for Electing Captains of Maine Teams Passed one-half or more of the relay races in which the team engages will receive his letter, regardless of the outcome of the race. The idea in back of these changes is that a man is to be regarded as part of a team, not as an individual participating more or less for himself. These changes will probably result in an increased number of men trying out for the sports. Heretofore, the letter requirements have been for cross-country that a man place in the first five in a dual meet or in the first 50 in an inter-collegiate meet. In relay a man had to be a member of a winning team before he was awarded his letter. It will readily be seen that the new requirements are much easier of fulfillment. The result ought to be that more men will become interested in the sports mentioned.

Half of you men in college have "ATHLETE'S FOOT" . . . says U. S. report

YOU may call it toe itch, golf itch—the "doc" may call it ringworm—millions of people who catch it, call it "Athlete's Foot"—but all of them are the same. A ringworm parasite, tinea trichophyton by name, causes that redness between the toes with i-t-c-h-i-n-g. Tiny blisters or a thick, moist skin condition may be another symptom. Again dryness, with little scales, is a signal.

"At least half of all athletes suffer from it at some time," says the U. S. Public Health Service. In universities as far apart as Pennsylvania and California 50% of the men have it. And the co-eds are not immune either.

It lurks in the very places where we all go for cleanliness and health—on the edges of swimming pools and showers—in gymnasiums—on locker- and dressing-room floors. It spite of modern sanitation (you have to boil socks 15 minutes to kill it) this fungus parasite infects and reinfects bare feet almost any time they come in contact with damp floors.

Absorbine Jr. kills the germ of "ATHLETE'S FOOT"

Tests in a famous New York "lab" have revealed that Absorbine Jr. penetrates flesh-like tissues deeply and that wherever it penetrates it kills the ringworm germ.

It might not be a bad idea to examine your feet tonight. At the first sign of the symptoms mentioned here, douse on Absorbine Jr. And keep a bottle handy in your locker as a preventive. Use it after every exposure of bare feet on damp floors. At all druggists—$1.25. W. F. Young, Inc., Springfield, Massachusetts.
