THREE MAINE STUDENTS ESCAPE INJURY IN ACCIDENT YESTERDAY

Harry Hasey, Kenneth Sullivan, and William Pond,
All of Bangor, on Their Way to College
When Car Overturns Near Veazie

Three Maine students narrowly escaped injury in a spectacular accident on the Bangor road in Veazie at 7:40 yesterday morning when an automobile operated by Harry Hasey, '33, Phi Gamma Delta, of Bangor, turned over after colliding with a south bound car. Hasey was accompanied by Kenneth Sullivan, '35, and William Pond, '33, Phi Gamma Delta, both of whom were quite severely shaken up. The car was damaged considerably, since it is alleged to have been traveling at a high rate of speed at the time of the accident.

The accident occurred when Hasey attempted to pass a car while on his way to the University, and when he was on the left side of the road found himself unable to get over to the right again when he met a car bound for Bangor. Hitting the south bound car, operated by a woman whose name could not be obtained at press time, Hasey's automobile turned completely over, landing on its wheels headed for Bangor.

Happening as it did just when the traffic to the University is the heaviest, the accident caused considerable tie-up in the traffic.

Work on "Holiday" Started With Rehearsal Last Night

Levensaler Gets Leading Role
Playing Opposite Ernestine
Merrill. New Ticket Plan

Rehearsals were begun last night in Alumni Hall for the three act comedy "Holiday", which will be presented by the Maine Masque on Thursday evening, November 12. About seventy candidates tried out for the various parts in the play, a number greater than has ever before turned out in the history of the Masque.

Atwood Levensaler, whose stage career at Maine includes leading parts in "The Swan" and "Journey's End", has been picked by Professor Mark Bailey, director of the play, to take the role of Johnny Case, a poor boy who has bought stock which becomes very valuable at the time that he is considering marriage. The part of Julia Seton, who becomes engaged to Johnny while on a vacation at Lake Placid, is played by Sylvia Hickson, and the role of Linda Seton, which was played in the motion picture by Ann Harding, is taken by Ernestine Merrill. Ned Stetson, the drunken younger brother, is characterized by John Longley, and the part of the father, Edward Seton, is taken by Francis Ricker. The other members of the cast will be picked soon.

The Masque plans to start a new system of selling tickets this year by selling season tickets for the benefit of those who want to be sure of a good seat for each of the four Masque productions. (Continued on Page Five)

History Department Starts Lecture Series in Bangor

An extension course by the Department of History and Government of the University was instituted in Bangor for those interested, on Monday, at 4:15 p.m., and will continue for 18 weeks with one lecture a week.

The subject for the eighteen lectures is "Current World Problems," and the work will be equally divided between Assistant Professor Richard G. Wood, Associate Professor Edward F. Dow, and Instructor Max H. Guyer.

Professor Wood will have the first six lectures, his subjects being: "A Brief History of History," "The British Government," "British Political Parties," "The British Empire," "Canada and the United States," and "Empire Problems."

Professor Dow will have as his subjects: "The President—Leader or Puppet?" "Congress—Constructive or Chaotic?" "The Supreme Court," "The Government and Business," "Parties and Bosses," and "Democracy." Mr. Guyer will connect the lectures of the preceding two men with six subjects on current international relations. The subjects will be: "The American Foreign Service," "Exploitation and Trusteeship," "Disarmament—Chimera or Possibility?" "The League of Nations," "World Courts," and "Can War Be Abolished?"

The course is a regular extension of the University under the supervision of Dean Lutes.

Brockway and Brown To Be Rhodes Bidders

Maine Candidates Will Be Voted Upon
At Election for Rhodes
Scholarship

Philip Brockway, Quebec, Canada, and Arthur Brown of Bangor have been announced by President Harold S. Boardman as the candidates for the state election for Rhodes Scholars from the University of Maine.

Mr. Brockway graduated from the University last year, and is now doing graduate work toward his master's degree. Mr. Brown who is a junior, will not receive his degree until 1933.

The various activities of the school have claimed the attention of both of these men. Both hold excellent scholastic records. Mr. Brockway is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity and of Phi Beta Kappa. He was the editor of The Maine-Spring last year and was a leader in literary activities during his college career. Mr. Brown is a member of Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity and of the Contributors' Club. He holds the Class of 1905 Scholarship and is also prominent in many phases of literary activity.

The Rhodes Scholarship is made possible each year through the bequest of Cecil Rhodes, and by it the United States sends to Oxford annually some thirty students. Every qualified college or university in the country can submit the names of no more than five students whose qualifications are examined by a state committee.

Two of these candidates are selected by this committee to represent the state in the final district eliminations. There are eight districts in the country of six states each. From each of these districts four men are chosen to go to Oxford. Those who are selected this year will start their Oxford careers in October, 1932, at any of the colleges there. The scholarships are for two years with option on a third, and approximately $2,000 is allowed for each year.

Pres. and Mrs. Boardman Entertain Freshman Class

A reception was given the freshmen by President and Mrs. Boardman at their home, last Thursday evening. This reception was unique in that it was the first ever given for the freshmen by the President and Mrs. Boardman. As an expression of their appreciation nearly the entire freshman class attended. The matrons of the women's dormitories and the upperclass proctors were also guests.

President and Mrs. Boardman were assisted in receiving by Dean Foster, Miss Edith Wilson and Mr. James Gannett. Refreshments were served by eight of the senior Home Economics students. The reception was a particularly enjoyable one because of the informality of the occasion. Every freshman student appreciated this opportunity to visit the "White House" of the campus, and to meet and know President and Mrs. Boardman.

MUSICAL CHAPEL SERVICE INTRODUCES NEW BOOK

Introducing the new Song Book Monday's chapel service was in the form of a song fest. Songs were sung by the audience led by Pat Loane, the band was on the job, the University Quartet did its part, and Neil Calderwood tickled the ivories with wonderful results.

Junior Co-ed Talked with Barrymores, Danced With Canadian Mounted Police on Alaskan Trip

Winona Harrison, shown with her younger brother and a prospector who took part in the gold rush of '98. The latter served as their guide on a sight seeing tour about the picturesque regions of Alaska. Insert: John Barrymore and his wife, the former Dolores Costello, from a snapshot taken by a member of the party.

By ROSE SNIDER

It is not very often that one is fortunate enough to take a trip to Alaska. It is still less often that one has the opportunity of speaking to John Barrymore. An occurrence still more rare is that of being entertained by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. Yet these are but two of the highlights in Winona Harrison's five-week vacation in Alaska.

It seems that Winona, a Junior at the University, is extremely fond of traveling, and this is by no means her first long journey. This penchant for traveling is shared as enthusiastically by her father. Mr. Harrison, who is General Agent of the Passenger Department on the Grand Trunk Canadian National Railways, arranged the trip and invited his friends. They in turn invited their friends who did the same, and so it came to pass that on July 9, 1931, a party of ninety-one made their exodus from Portland to Montreal, thence to Ottawa, where they made their first stop. After dining at Chateau Laurier, they continued to Winnipeg and from there to Vancouver, where they spent the night.

At Vancouver they boarded the boat Prince Henry, which took them to Prince Rupert, British Columbia. It was here that the party met John Barrymore, his wife Dolores Costello, and their baby daughter. The Barrymores were on the way back to Hollywood after an extensive yachting trip to Alaska. As is usually the case, Winona was a bit disillusioned about the movie celebrities, for without the aid of make-up and expert photography, the Barrymores appeared very ordinary.

"What impressed me most, though, was his wonderful voice and his profile which is just as perfect off the screen as on. He has charming manners, and dimples. He's probably very good-looking when dressed up, but in his old clothes he certainly didn't look like a Don Juan."

Mrs. Barrymore, she said, looks much older than she appears on the screen, and her bright make-up was quite startling against the Prince Rupert background. They were very interesting, however, and willingly posed for snapshots and auto-

Chaucer Characters Are Modeled by English Major

Orono, Me., Oct. 14—Twenty dolls, representing a year's work in research and a large amount of time in the actual dressing, are on display in the seminar room of the English department of the University of Maine.

These dolls, representing twenty of the pilgrims in Chaucer's Canterbury Tales, are the work of Miss Muriel Freeman who will graduate in the class of 1932 from the University, and represent her semester reports in English 53-54, the course in Chaucer.

As a basis for her work Miss Freeman used Chaucer's own description of the characters in his Tales, the illustrations appearing in the Ellesmere manuscript of the Tales, and histories of mediaeval costumes.

The dolls have been housed in a glass case made especially for them. The characters represented are: the Knight, the Squire, the Yeoman, the Prioress, the Friar, the Merchant, the Clerk of Oxford, the Man of Law, the Franklin, the Cook, the Shipman, the Doctor, the Wife of Bath, the Parson, the Miller, the Reeve, the Manciple, the Summoner, the Pardoner, and Chaucer himself.

The course in Chaucer at the University is taught by Dr. Ruth Crosby, assistant professor of English.

DR. PETERSON AUTHOR OF MAGAZINE ARTICLE

Dr. Roy M. Peterson is the author of an article on "A South American's Impression of New England after Yorktown" which appeared in the New England Quarterly in the issue of October, 1931.

University Officials Are at Alumni Meetings This Week

Three Alumni Associations of the University of Maine will hold meetings in Maine and New Hampshire during the latter part of this week.

The White Mountain Association will hold a meeting Wednesday night, Oct. 21, in Berlin, New Hampshire.

On Thursday night, the Oxford County Association will meet at Bryant's Pond. Paul Cloke, Dean of the College of Technology, and Charles E. Crossland, Alumni Secretary of the University of Maine, will be present.

The Androscoggin Valley Alumni Association will meet on Friday night, October 23, at the DeWitt Hotel in Lewiston. Coming as it does on the eve of the Bates-Maine game, the meeting will be attended by Harold S. Boardman, President of the University of Maine, Chester A. Jenkins, track coach, and Charles E. Crossland, Alumni Secretary of the University.

SPANISH CLUB WORKS ON PRODUCTION

The second meeting of the Spanish Club was held last Thursday evening with a large number present. Mr. Cabrera again devoted the time to the teaching of songs, aided by two or three members of the University Chorus. In order to add still further pleasure to the meeting, Mr. Cabrera sang a few solos.

There is still opportunity for more students to take part in the production.

Proceeds of the play will be used for club parties, a stag dance to be held later in the year.

CLOKE PICKED TO HEAD HOOVER'S UNEMPLOYMENT RELIEF IN MAINE

Technology Head and Dr. Brautlecht Named by American Engineering Council to Committee Working Out President's Depression Relief Program

Dean Paul Cloke of the College of Technology has been named by the American Engineering Council to head a committee which will carry out in Maine President Hoover's program to end the present business depression. Dr. Charles A. Brautlecht, head of the Chemistry Department, has also been named a member of the committee. The American Engineering Council, which will work with the relief organization set up by the President under the leadership of Walter S. Gifford, president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, will enlist the aid of more than 100,000 engineers throughout the country in a movement to increase and to stabilize employment, and to prevent the use of unwise legislation, Federal, state, or municipal.

Radical Wants To Talk Here on Mooney Case

Marcus Graham, Aroused by Alleged Frame-up, Makes Offer To Deliver Lecture Here

Students and faculty members at the University who have become interested in the famous imprisonment case of Tom Mooney and Warren K. Billings in California will have opportunity to hear a lecture on this subject given by Marcus Graham, well known radical, provided his offer to speak here at his own expense is accepted by any of the clubs or societies on the campus.

The imprisonment of these two men, often spoken of as the Dreyfus case of the United States, has attracted popular interest ever since their conviction through an alleged "frame-up" of participating in the bombing of a Preparedness Day parade some fifteen years ago.

The case received further publicity a short time ago through the publication of the Wickersham Commission report, in which the part dealing with the Mooney case was suppressed. It has been stated that publication of this part would have "exposed the foul frame-up of the California Government before the entire world."

The failure of the American Federation of Labor to take a stand in behalf of the imprisoned men has also been branded as rank treachery.

Marcus Graham, himself recently imprisoned for his part in the publication of "An Anthology of Revolutionary Poetry", has devoted himself to arousing public opinion in behalf of Mooney and Billings, and is now preparing a transcontinental tour for this coming winter, offering his services totally free.

He has directed his appeal primarily to "all literary, liberal, and radical individuals, students, organizations, and presses," and asked that any person or group interested make arrangements for him to deliver a lecture during his lecture tour.

Creator of "Old Bill" To Speak in Assembly Monday

Captain Bruce Bairnsfather, world famous humorist and cartoonist, the creator of the famous character, "Old Bill," and author of the play, "The Better 'Ole," will be the speaker at Assembly next Monday morning. Captain Bairnsfather's cartoons have been appearing in the better known humorous magazines for years. During the war his ability to portray the many funny situations in the life of the soldier went far toward easing the strain on the British people. He has made a great reputation as a lecturer in this country. He will illustrate his talk with slides and will draw cartoons. The Assembly will begin at 9:30 and last an hour.

DATE OF TRACK CLUB CABARET CHANGED

The Track Club Cabaret will be held this year on the night following the Military Ball according to an announcement made at the first meeting of the Track Club held last Thursday at the Phi Mu Delta house.

At this meeting committees were appointed by the President, Robert Pendleton, to arrange for this event. Members of the Club voted to assess each house $5.00 for dues.

F. J. Chesterman of Pittsburgh, vice-president and general manager of the Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania, has been appointed chairman of a national committee to direct the engineering effort, which will be carried out in detail by committees to be named in every state. These committees will cooperate with the industries and with civic and business bodies.

The committee in Maine, which will carry on the work under Dean Cloke's direction, consists of: Horace J. Cook, superintendent of the Auburn Water District; George E. Haggas, chief engineer of the Cumberland County Power and Light Company of Portland; and Dr. Brautlecht.

In addition to Chairman Chesterman, the national committee is composed of: General R. C. Marshall, Jr., of New York, who was in charge of the Construction Division of the War Department during the World War; E. K. Ruth, American Oak Leather Company, Cincinnati; W. R. Webster, Bridgeport Brass Company, Bridgeport, Conn.

"The American Engineering Council," the announcement declared, "feels most emphatically that the immediate answer for unemployment is jobs; that the spreading of man-hours is the most essential expedient for stabilizing employment that can be suggested at the present time."

"The situation calls for very active, concerted and well-considered efforts to provide employment for as large a number as possible now, and especially to the development of plans which will forestall any large increase in unemployment this winter."

"Undoubtedly the attitude of mind accounts for the sharp decline in purchases being made by those who have not suffered material, if any, reduction in income and whose continued income is as safe as anything in life. Today many who have employment are not spending because of fear of what may happen. They are fearful that they may lose their jobs or have their income sharply curtailed."

"It would be exceedingly helpful to restore a sense of security. Therefore, employers are urged to at once notify all employees whom they know they are going to keep on the payroll that their incomes will not be reduced for some definite period."

Arizona Students Organize Movement for Dutch Dates

Tucson, Ariz.—(IP)—While women students throughout the other colleges and universities of the country were debating among themselves the advisability of offering to pay their shares in the cost of dates with college men, University of Arizona males took things into their own hands and organized a Bachelors' Club, the main purpose of which is to demand that co-eds go dutch on the expenses of all dates.

Although a Spinsters Club, combating the move of the men, was formed almost immediately, the university was surprised to find that what looked like a majority of the women were behind the men in their efforts.

Jack O'Dowd, football center and student councilman, was elected president of the Bachelors' Club by more than 170 men students who crowded to the organization meeting.

It was pointed out by the men that women students as a rule have more money to spend than men students, and that if the women would accept the challenge to pay their share in dates, more dates would be possible and the social life of the campus greatly enhanced for the duration of the depression.

ON THE HOOVER COMMITTEE

A notable honor has come to the University of Maine through the selection of one of its Deans to the Hoover committee on unemployment. The creation of this committee is one of the major accomplishments of the present Administration, and it is a magnificent compliment to Dean Paul Cloke's ability and reputation to be selected to head the Maine division of the committee.

It has been said that "A prophet is not without honor save in his own land." Students and other persons connected with the University probably have a tendency to regard the men who guide the course of her colleges solely in the light of their own contacts. Consequently, when recognition from outside is given to some member of Maine's faculty of Board of Administration it should serve the additional purpose of giving to these men the prestige they deserve.

Maine has been especially fortunate, having not only the chairman of the state committee, but one of the other members as well. Professor Brautlecht has been appointed by Dean Cloke to this position. The University should feel pride in the selection of these men to aid in the important work of aiding unemployment, and to Dean Cloke and Professor Brautlecht we extend hearty congratulations.

DECLINE OF WOMEN'S ATHLETICS

Unless some powerful reviving stimulus be applied rather soon, our poor feeble Women's Athletics will be completely down and out. At the present rapid rate of decline hockey will in a few years be an archaic word along with such good vigorous terms as "spirit", "fight", "team-work" and the well-known "win and wigor." There'll be nothing left but a few unenthusiastic compulsory P.T. classes.

It cannot be denied that the group system installed last year has failed miserably; interest is dead. The group leaders find it impossible to drag out enough girls from a group of over sixty to play one game of hockey. A complete team, ready to play on time, and showing a little enthusiasm would be too good to be true! There's no incentive to play; the groups are unselected—some are good players and some are poor, there's no cooperation and no support, no competition and no spirit, no audience and no cheering.

Needles to say, something must be done about it. Intercollegiate contests seem to be out of the question. Regrouping of some sort is about the only possibility. How about interclass or intersorority groups? This might awaken an interest. Anyway, let's get concerned about the situation and DO SOMETHING!!

THE SENIOR SKULL STAG DANCE

Maine Night has now been officially declared a thing of the past, and the big rally, bonfire, and other festivities will pass with it. To take the place of this, the Senior Skulls are giving a unique home-coming stag dance, the evening before the Bowdoin game, which gives promise of being a successful affair.

But there is also another purpose behind this. In 1911 the Senior Skull Society put up a Scholarship Cup for the improvement of the scholastic standing of fraternities. This cup went to the house which won it the greatest number of times in ten years. The last cup now resides permanently on the Phi Kappa Sigma mantelpiece, and it is planned that the proceeds of the home-coming stag dance shall go into purchasing a new cup for the next decade. Truly a worthy purpose.

Tickets for this dance, which is strictly a stag affair, will soon be for sale by members of the Senior Skull, Sophomore Eagles, and Sophomore Owl societies. In supporting this dance, students will be contributing to a worthy cause as well as deriving the benefits of an uncommonly good dance for their money.

Recently the pencil sharpener in the hall of the Arts and Sciences Building was nearly stolen by some student, only the timely arrival of the janitor preventing it. The sharpener was placed there for the convenience of students, and one person's thoughtlessness can deprive twelve hundred students its use. The consideration of college authorities in supplying the sharpener should at least be respected to the point of leaving it alone.

What has happened to the Maine Hello? You still hear it, but it seems to be dwindling. Each year the custom receives most of its support from the incoming class. As the classes advance, the Maine Hello is more and more disregarded. It is a great old custom, and we should hate to see it die out altogether.

Just a minor annoyance—but the latch on the Arts and Sciences door is still loose in its moorings, and several students have been observed to wait in vain for the door to be opened from the interior, and finally walk around to the side door—a shame if this means walking on the University grass.

CORRESPONDENCE

(Ed. Note: This column is of interest to all readers of the Campus who wish to state views on anything of interest to the University. All letters must be signed, but it is not necessary for the name of the writer to be published. The editor reserves the right to cut down letters deemed too long to be printed in full.)

To the Editor of the Campus,
Dear Sir:

Because of the Junior High atmosphere prevalent today in women's athletics, no great show of interest is apparent. Perhaps the names of the various groups are influential in creating the scornful attitude toward going out for sports. It wouldn't be surprising to find this supposition correct. The names are far-fetched and typically high-school girlish. No one could be expected to go out three hours a week and do her utmost for the Jolly Greens or the Holymors. The system lacks punch.

If we can't have intercollegiate athletics for women and it seems that it is highly impossible, why not substitute a more forcible intra-collegiate system. The present groups are too disorganized and too disinterested. A stronger, more animated team would result from a stimulus within the sorority. Intramural athletics for women!—Why not? Surely more enthusiasm would arise from producing real teams in this way than arises in fighting for the Happy Twos and the Treblors.

Besides hockey, archery, basketball and all our present types of games and athletic possibilities, bowling, that attractive and alluring pursuit for femmes might easily be introduced. In having such a wide field of active interests more and more people would become part of this proposed system.

With the added impetus resulting in all certainty from intramurals for women, their athletics would again reach their former high level of intercollegiate days. This suggested reform cannot fail in creating a new spirit to win through excellency.

Sincerely,
H. F., '33

Editor of The Campus,
Dear Sir:

I recommend one 'the long way' for Sergeant Strother, Drum Major Pat Loane, and the University Band as a whole. Their performance on Saturday was highly commendable.

A group of over a hundred men, most of them untrained, after sitting in a rain-storm with their instruments would not be expected to do much in the way of performance. The fact that the Band was able to go onto the sloppy field, form the initial letters in honor of our guests and play their Alma Mater song, then form the 'M' and play the Stein Song, should make every Maine man and woman proud of his University and the Band that represents it.

They'll be at Bates Saturday doing their best to pep up the team. Let's all get with them when they play our songs. Let's give them a cheer; they've earned it.

F. G. R., '32

Editor, The Maine Campus,
Dear Sir,

Maybe you think that your advertising sheet is a newspaper. Well, it must be admitted that you are printing as much news as The Campus ever has printed, but what's the idea of all the advertising. We open the paper to read some news and what do we find? Nothing but a picture of a cross eyed man admiring a lucky tab. We have yet to find out why the tab is lucky.

For the good of the students on the campus I suggest that, if you must print so much advertising you make a six page paper so that you can carry enough news to balance it a little better. We don't object to advertising in the paper, because most of the ads are written better than the news, but just the same we want news, so won't you please give us some more?

Yours truly,
Otto Zilch, '38

Editor's Note: We were very much interested in the above letter, since to our knowledge it is the first official proof that anyone but ourselves ever bothered to see what was on the inside pages. We are very sorry that Mr. Zilch does not like our paper, but wish to explain that the news we would like to publish is forbidden. Also, the income derived from advertisements is found very useful in establishing a fund for broken down Campus Board members. We wish to thank Mr. Zilch for his kind criticism, and hope to hear from him again soon.

Sale of New Song Book Showing Good Progress

The sale of the new University of Maine Song Book being conducted by the Delta Pi Kappa musical fraternity with the aid of the Sophomore Eagles is reported as progressing successfully.

Complete returns have not as yet been turned in, but the first sales indicate that the new books have been accepted favorably by the student body.

Maine Studio Receives New Equipment for New Place

"New and greater service for Maine students" is the motto which will govern the improved Maine Studio in its new quarters. The change from Mill Street to its new quarters over the University Pharmacy on Main Street is not the only alteration which has taken place, as new equipment has been installed thruout.

New cameras have been purchased and agita films are now being used and carried in stock. Apparatus for use in the latest methods of film developing and printing has been purchased, and the service rendered will be strictly up-to-date and comparable with the largest metropolitan studios.

Prism photographs will be made as usual, and complete service in enlargements and framing will be given. Special care will be taken in framing shingles for students.

Y.W.C.A. ACTIVITIES

The Y.W.C.A. has had many interesting activities during the past week, and has plans for more.

Miss Bunny Callahan has resigned her position as social chairman on the "Y" cabinet, but has accepted a position as co-chairman. The cabinet elected Dorothy Davis, '34, as chairman of this committee.

The Girl Reserves of Old Town are beginning their work under the direction of Ethne Worcester. Eva Bisbee has charge of the Girl Scouts.

The "Y" is planning a Halloween party to be held Wednesday evening, October 28, in Alumni gym from 7 to 9. All women students and faculty are invited. This is to be a costume party.

nite period of time. This alone would be very effective in restoring confidence and stimulating business.

"There is a very pronounced feeling that industry and commerce are largely responsible for the perplexities which have arisen, and that they should provide a satisfactory solution. This thought is not confined to any so-called radical group, but it also prevails among fair-minded, far seeing men and women.

"They realize that unless industrial and commercial leaders successfully deal with the problem of unemployment in permanent fashion that both the Federal and State Governments will very likely enact unemployment insurance laws. That such laws would be detrimental to the economic and social well-being of the nation is generally acknowledged. Whether this country escapes such consequences will depend entirely upon the constructive leadership manifested by American industry and commerce."

The Council, which is the public service body of the engineering profession, and which was organized in 1920 under the leadership of Mr. Hoover, warns that "a concerted movement has been inaugurated to bring about the enactment of Federal and State unemployment insurance laws."

"The Council," it was added, "emphatically believes that such legislation is neither the only nor the best solution. It feels that there is sufficient forward looking, constructive and public spirited leadership in American industry and commerce to seriously study the issues and on the basis thereof to develop plans for permanently dealing with unemployment, however caused, and further, so to stabilize employment as to hold unemployment to the irreducible minimum.

"The engineers have a very direct responsibility to do what they may as industrialists and as citizens. It is believed that they will gladly undertake such a task because of their direct personal interests and because they believe in constructive citizenship.

"Having this faith in the engineering profession, and aware of the imperative necessity for prompt response, the Council with confidence is submitting to a large number of engineering and allied technical societies of the United States a program of action."

BETA KAPPA PARTY

Beta Kappa held a gay Pledge party on last Saturday evening. Twenty couples attended. Dean and Mrs. Cloke, and Mrs. C. E. Sutton chaperoned. The committee in charge of arrangements was "Curt" Fisher, "Shorty" McLean, and "Jimmie" McLean. Music was furnished by Clyde Lougee's Hudson and Essex Challengers.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

The engagement of Montz Rideout of Bangor to Alfred Perkins, '31, was announced Friday night at the Phi Eta Kappa house party. Perkins is teaching mathematics at the University this year, having been a star pitcher on the varsity baseball team last spring.

The Faculty Club met at the home of Professor Ferdinand H. Steinmetz, 38 North Main Street, last night.

The Maine Snoopus

Upon giffing a glancer about, I discofer the beeg beezness center of this collieth to be Balentine. All this FOR SALE it is: apples, books, cleaning and dyeing, book-plates, candy-bars, doughnuts, home-made fudge, finger-waves, corsages, moggasins, nabes, sox, stockings, sveters, songer books, san'-viches, yo-yos—oi, oi, mine shekels! I neffer seen such a place for vassing money. And the way it is now on campus, if I efen stick the noser out I get caught, "Buy a songer book! Buy a songer book! Only a dollar!" For vat should I want one for??? And—shh—I visper it—somevun vill tink off a lollypopper sale right avay quick and you got to buy a 5¢ lollypopper vat should cost 3 for 10¢...Ye merrie social whirrill doth commence to whirrill again with the mad round of fall house parties. Oh, there'll be thrilled freshmen co-eds and not-so-thrilled blinks and more programs to hang up on the wall and maybe a blister-on-the-heel or two. And always the wail, "I've worn that dress twice already and I simply can't be seen in it again!" We're waiting for someone to drag in de usual slum party stuff wid de bars and de gats and de tuff guys and de pretzels dat nobody likes and de Skoits in over-alls or sailor pants. Aw, think up something different this year, willya, puleeze?... LO, the aesthetic tech! Now he goeth forth to classes clad in bottle green breeches. Fits in divinely with the autumnal coloring! I wonder what the winter season will bring forth besides the old scarlet jackets and the kaleidoscopic soxies. Some exquisite Paris creations no doubt!...I say, 'ere's 'oping we 'ave a good day for the Bates game. Such 'orrid drizzle we 'ad at the New Ampshire game, don't you know! Sometimes I think the 'um being is the dumbest of all animals—to sit around and let a lot of rain leak down 'is silly old neck, a-stomping 'is feet and 'ollering 'is blooming 'ead off—and then coughing and sniffing and blowing 'is nose for a week after! This applies to you, and you, and you, and you...Wouldst be famous, young man and young woman? Eat toasted cheese sandwiches at the Maine Bear! Eat more of them! 'Tis the stuff o' which fame is made.

Prince Rupert she described as "a fishing port with a typical gold-rush background."

From Prince Rupert the party went to Ketchikan where they stopped just long enough to walk all over the town. The sidewalks and streets in Ketchikan are all of wood, which fact made walking extremely difficult. "All the girls in the party ruined their shoes—the heels kept sinking in between the cracks."

The next stop was at Juneau, the capital of Alaska. Here, too, the streets and buildings are wooden, and very little stone is used. The capitol building, however, is of granite.

At 7 A.M. the following morning they arrived at Scagway, and at 9:30 A.M. left on the White Pass & Yukon Route for White Horse, Yukon Territory. This part of the journey had to be done by means of a narrow gauge train, as the way was almost closed in by mountains and cliffs.

Expecting to find the weather in Alaska cold, she was very much surprised to find it warm there. The sun was shining all the time, for during the summer months it never gets dark north of Scagway. The sun sets about 1 A.M. and rises again about 2:30 A.M. By this time the members of the party were all well acquainted with each other, and they enjoyed a continual round of parties and dances all day, and often all night. Winona mentions writing letters at 2:30 A.M. by sunlight, and having five meals each day, since their waking hours were so much longer.

All around the vicinity of Scagway are relics of cities which grew up overnight during the gold rush.

From White Horse the party went on to Dawson City by boat.

"The funny thing about Dawson City is that it's not really a city at all. It has a population of about three hundred, but I was told that during the gold rush it had fifteen thousand people." Here they saw gold being panned and sealed for shipment.

Since the Harrison party was the largest ever to visit Dawson City, the townspeople gave a dance in their honor. The Royal Canadian Mounted Police have a post there, so they acted as hosts to the party. "Their uniforms consist of scarlet jackets and blue breeches. Girls who have sweethearts in the regiment are accordingly said to have 'scarlet fever.' They're all perfect dancers, too. We also danced with some of the gold-miners. It seems that in Alaska the men are 'gold-diggers' rather than the women. Betty Co-ed was the newest piece they played at the dance. The radio was not used much, since it can only be used successfully at night on account of the amount of iron present in the mountains."

The next morning they went back to White Horse again. It takes only two days to go down the Yukon from White Horse to Dawson City, but four days to go back up. On the way they passed through the Five Finger Rapids. Going down these rapids it takes only two minutes, but going up one has to be cabled, a dangerous process which takes twenty minutes.

From White Horse they went on to Carcross by train, and lunched at the Caribou Lodge. In Carcross only evaporated milk is available. No articles under twenty-five cents are sold there, and nickels and dimes are not even procurable in the banks. Such a situation was most likely unfortunate for the loyal Woolworth shoppers.

From Carcross the Harrison party went to Lake Atlin, B.C., on the steam-

PRESIDENT ENTERTAINS AT RECEPTION

President and Mrs. Boardman entertained the University faculty at a formal reception last Wednesday evening. The faculty enjoy this reception because it is the only time throughout the year at which the entire faculty meets socially.

The new reception hall is a great asset to President and Mrs. Boardman because it gives the guests a much better opportunity for sociability.

THETA CHI INFORMAL

Last Saturday evening, Theta Chi fraternity entertained with its first informal dance of the season. The house was attractively lighted by means of colored bulbs; the music was furnished by Buny Russell's orchestra. Mrs. Weatherbee, and Capt. and Mrs. Hugh Wear chaperoned.

SIGMA NU VIC PARTY

Sigma Nu held a vic party last Saturday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Theron Sparrow chaperoned the ten couples. Theodore Prescott, Fred Bendtsen, and Leonard Hunt were the committee in charge.

AUCTION COMING

Watch for the Women's Athletic Association auction sale sometime in the near future. Girls are asked to bring all "white elephants." Old athletic equipment will be auctioned off to the highest bidder. The proceeds of the auction will be used by the A.A. for camp supplies, picnics, and outings.

Be sure to watch for the announcements of the time and place!

Dean Hart and Professor Maurice D. Jones of the College of Agriculture, have been visiting Northern Aroostook during the past week for the purpose of introducing to this section of the state the courses offered by the University of Maine and particularly the College of Agriculture.

Itinerary:
Sunday, October 18, Fort Kent; Monday, Visit Fort Kent, St. Agatha, Van Buren; Tuesday, Visit Caribou, Limestone, Fort Fairfield, Easton; Wednesday, Visit Presque Isle, Washburn, Ashland, Mapleton and possibly Westfield; Thursday, Visit Aroostook Central Inst. Bridgewater, Houlton High and Ricker; Friday, Visit Smyrna Mills, Island Falls, Patten Academy and Sherman.

er Tutshi, and after two days returned to Scagway, where they were again honored with a dance given by the townspeople. Here they stayed at the Pullen House, whose owner, Mrs. Pullen, had taken part in the gold rush and had many interesting stories to tell. They then went back to Prince Rupert and took the train to Jasper National Park. On the way to the park they were delayed six hours by a landslide which was estimated to be two hundred feet long and from twenty to thirty feet thick. They were forced to transfer to another train, but at Jasper went back to their own private train. Jasper National Park is owned by the Grand Trunk Lines. Some of the animals there are very tame and roam around freely. The party stayed at a central lodge, and outside of the door Winona counted fifteen bears at one time.

They continued to Edmonton, the capital of Alberta, then to Chicago, to Niagara Falls, and to Kingston, Ontario. Here they proceeded by boat to the Thousand Islands in the St. Lawrence River. The last stopping-place was at Montreal, where they had dinner, and finally left for Portland.

Society

PHI ETA KAPPA PARTY

The Phi Eta Kappa fraternity gave an informal pledge dance Saturday evening, October 17. Philip Havey, Albert McMichael and Arthur E. Hoyt were on the committee. The party was chaperoned by Mrs. Carrie Blanchard, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Jenkins, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lamoreau.

OUTING CLUB PICNIC

The Maine Outing Club held their first picnic at the Stand Pipe Sunday afternoon, October 18. The committee in charge was composed of Winifred Cushings, Dorothy Davis, Inez Howe, and Evelyn Pollard.

SIGMA TAU PICNIC

Sigma Tau sorority held a hotdog roast at The Ledges, Wednesday, October 14. Sorority songs were sung around the camp fire and with the singing of the "Stein Song" the group broke up.

TRI-DELT VIC PARTY

The Tri Deltas gave their first victrola party of the year last Saturday evening at their house. Mrs. Munson, the matron, chaperoned. Pauline McCready, was chairman of the committee in charge.

CONTRIBUTOR'S CLUB DANCE

The Stag Dance October 16, was given by the Contributor's Club in Alumni Gym. The music for the dance was furnished by Larry's Bears. Dr. and Mrs. Turner and Dr. and Mrs. Small chaperoned.

TRI-DELTA TEA

The Alpha Kappa Chapter of Delta Delta Delta Sorority held a tea in honor of their new matron, Mrs. Munson, and their new patroness, Mrs. Moreland, Sunday, October 18, at their house on College Avenue. Edith Talbot poured at the function. The patronesses of Tri-Delta, matrons of different fraternities, members of administration, alumni, and friends were present.

SIGMA CHI PARTY

The Sigma Chis held their autumn house party at their chapter house, Saturday, October 17th. The party consisted of buffet lunch and dance.

Dr. and Mrs. Monroe E. Freeman acted as chaperones. The Committee in charge was Henry Booth, chairman, Irving Hurry, and John Rand. Larry Miller and his Bears furnished the music.

BETA THETA PI INFORMAL

An informal party in the form of a stag dance was held at the Beta Theta Pi House Saturday, October 17. About forty couples attended, including a number of outside guests. The music was furnished by Clyde Lugee's Orchestra. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Youngs chaperoned.

PI BETA PHI INFORMAL

Pi Beta Phi sorority held an informal dance at the Penobscot Valley Country Club Friday night. The chaperones were: Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bray, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Watson and Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Freeman. Muriel Holmes was the chairman of the committee, assisted by Doris Baker and Emily McCracken. "Pat" Huddilston's orchestra furnished music.

PHI KAPPA VIC PARTY

The Phi Kappa's entertained ten couples at a vic party Saturday evening. Punch, ice cream and cookies were served. Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Wallace and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Kenyon chaperoned.

Princeton, N. J.—(IP)—Two Princeton roommates will captain the varsity and lightweight crews here this year.

South Bend, Ind.—(IP)—Saturday, Nov. 14, has been set aside as Rockne Day, to be observed at all football games in the country, it is hoped. At that time spectators at all games will be given the opportunity to give toward a Rockne Memorial field House at Notre Dame.

New Haven, Conn.—(IP)—The Yale Daily News has editorially asked the university to take on another football game on its open date, Nov. 14, as a charity game. The date was left open this year because the Yale teams annually have met the Harvard eleven, exhausted by having played a game the week before.

Sleisgrove, Pa.—(IP)—The Susquehanna University football team can boast a forward wall made up entirely of six-footers this year.

New York—(IP)—When Union College played Columbia it lost its last opportunity to cross the Columbia goal line. In 12 games played between the two teams the Union team never has crossed the Columbia goal. The score this year was 51 to 0 in favor of Columbia.

Meadville, Pa.—(IP)—Allegheny College has inaugurated the youngest college president in the country, Dr. William Pearson Tolley, 31. Many distinguished educators attended the ceremonies.

Bryn Mawr, Pa.—(IP)—President Marion Edwards Park of Bryn Mawr College told the student body on the opening of college here this year that in a depression the value of a college is more than ever evident.

The crisis, however, adds a new challenge to the educated to find the way out of the economic, political and social difficulties, she said.

New York—(IP)—The seismograph at Fordham University on Oct. 3 recorded what authorities there described as "the most violent earthquake of the year," some 9,000 miles away. It was believed it was felt only at the bottom of the sea, however.

Ocean Grove, N. J.—(IP)—The present generation is "cynical, scoffing and self-willed," Rev. Dr. Walter A. Maier of Concordia Theological Seminary, St. Louis, said here in an address before a Luther Day celebration audience.

The Health Service Department has issued the following notice: All freshmen who have not had a physical examination please report immediately to the Health Service Department in Coburn Hall.

HUNTING AND FISHING
NEW COLLEGE COURSES

By Edward DeCourcy

Claiming that knowing how to cook a meal in the woods and how to make a camp are as important as a knowledge of Roman history or a knowledge of French, Dr. Hamilton Holt, president of Rollins College in Winter Park, Florida, is proposing a course in Hunting and Fishing with a professor at the head of it.

According to an article by Horace Mitchell of Kittery Point in the October issue of "Field and Stream," Dr. Holt plans to purchase a large plot of land containing several ponds surrounded by dense forests about fifteen miles from the college. This land will be used as the class room for the class in Hunting and Fishing. Dr. Holt claims that more true sportsmen will be found in the class of hunters and fishers than on the gridiron or on the diamond.

Rollins is the home of many new and unusual ideas in the educational field. It will be remembered that last year the college offered a course in Love Making, which proved very popular among the students. The college is also unique in that there are no final examinations there. President Holt believes that lectures and examinations are out of harmony with true education. He asks the question, "Why should we need to test students at the end of the year?" and then answers his own question with the statement, "No more need for that than there is for me to give my secretary an examination to discover whether or not she is ready for a raise in salary."

In argument for the new course the point is brought up that it is easy enough for a person to be a good sportsman in regard to the number of kills made and the way in which those kills are made when in the company of others, but that when alone there is a great temptation to shoot a sitting bird or resort to other unsportsmanlike means in order to return home with a full game bag.

PROFESSOR MEETS WOMAN MARRIES HER IN THREE DAYS

Austin, Texas—(IP)—Professor Alfred Kenngott, instructor of romance languages at the University of Texas, while on a visit to Germany this summer, met a woman salesman in a hat shop, liked her looks, and three days later married her. The couple made a wedding trip to Locarno, then returned to the United States Aug. 12.

Maine Teachers' Alumni Association To Hold
Dinner At Convention

Robert Braun, treasurer and general manager of Porteous, Mitchell and Braun Company of Portland, will be the main speaker on the program of a dinner to be held by the University of Maine Teachers' Alumni Association in the Congress Square Hotel, October 29.

Mr. Braun came to Portland from Norwich, Connecticut, in 1905, at the time of the founding of the department store, Porteous, Mitchell and Braun Company. His name is now connected with many worthwhile projects including treasurer of the Maine General Hospital, a trustee of the Portland Lodge of Elks, the first president of the Portland Rotary Club, acting chairman in 1930 of the Portland chapter of the American Red Cross.

The dinner which will be held during the Teachers' Convention, will begin at 6 o'clock sharp, Thursday, October 29. Local arrangements are in charge of Howard Reiche, vice-president of the Teachers' Alumni Association and Miss Louise Kincaide, secretary and treasurer.

Although the dinner is being sponsored by the University of Maine Teachers' Alumni Association, all Maine alumni in the vicinity of Portland are cordially invited to attend. Reservations should be made with Howard Reiche or Miss Louise Kincaide.

New Courses Added In Physical Education To Meet New Requirements

To meet the higher requirements for certification in physical education that the State will put into effect next year, the Summer Session and the Department of Physical Education are planning an enlarged program of courses to meet the needs of teachers who are engaged in this line of work.

New courses provided for under the proposed plan include: The technique of teaching Gymnastics, Games and Play Activity; the Supervision of Physical Education, Advanced course in the Teaching and Supervision of Girls' Athletics. Work in physiology and anatomy will also be required for certificate in physical education.

Maine Spring Will Not Be Published This Year

The Maine-Spring, which heretofore has been published quarterly under the auspices of the Contributors Club, is not to be issued this year. This is a fact to be deeply regretted. However, no magazine can be published without support, and support on the part of the student body is noticeably lacking in this case. Unless enthusiasm is aroused in some unexpected quarter, The Maine-Spring must continue in its present condition of disability.

At a recent meeting, the members of the Contributors Club elected the following officers for the ensuing year: Esther Moore, President; Arthur Brown, Vice-President; Isabelle Robinson, Treasurer; Muriel Freeman, Secretary.

Co-eds at Hiram College
Indignant in Money Battle

Hiram, O.—(IP)—A belated but none the less vigorous feminist movement has been launched at Hiram College here and for the moment has taken as its objective the ousting of Richard Pichon as president of the student board.

"Millions for defense," was Pichon's quick comeback to the girls but not one cent—not one cent.

For it appears that the co-eds battle involves money. In fact the girls see the whole dispute as a battle for equal rights economically as well as politically on the Hiram campus.

A few days ago the women demanded at a student assembly that $300 be apportioned from the student budget for the college Y. W. C. A. Men students set up a unanimous howl. And that started the first "feminist movement" of any proportion Hiram has known.

As editor of the Advance, student newspaper, Miss Jane Christman said: "If the women fail to obtain the $300, they will take steps at once to insure the election of a woman president at the next student election. And if the men don't like this feminist movement, they can go out into the wilderness and grow beards."

Shortly before his death last week, a portrait of Dwight W. Morrow was dedicated in the chapter of Beta Theta Pi at Amherst College. Senator Morrow and former President Coolidge were present.

PINE TREE "M" TO BE AWARDED BY GENERAL
ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

Annual Custom To Be Continued At Homecoming Day Luncheon
Deering to Make Award

Awarding the Alumni Service Emblem will be a major feature of the program planned at the University of Maine for the luncheon on Homecoming Day, November 7. The award will be made by Arthur L. Deering of Orono, president of the General Alumni Association.

At the luncheon, which will be held in Alumni Hall on the day of the Bowdoin-Maine game, an alumnus who has rendered outstanding service in promoting alumni and University work will be the recipient of the Pine Tree "M", a shield on which appears a pine tree, a large "M," the date, and "In recognition of outstanding service rendered through the Alumni Association to the University of Maine."

The award was first presented last year, Harry E. Sutton '09, of Boston, having the honor of being the first alumnus to receive this distinguished mark of appreciation from the General Alumni Association.

Among the points taken into consideration in making the award are the following: (1) the number of different types of services rendered or positions held with the General Alumni Association or local association, (2) length and quality of service, (3) standing among alumni, (4) success in life, profession or business, (5) support given to alumni or University projects.

The name of the alumnus receiving the award this year will not be announced until the luncheon which will take place on Homecoming Day.

NOTICE

The Registrar's office issues the following notice: Class lists for publication in the catalog are posted on the class bulletin boards in Alumni Hall. The students are requested to consult their list and report any errors in name or address to the Registrar's office.

BULLONLY

By Duke W. L. Vollrath

Puller, consider your Adam's apple, lest it turn to cider, and reach for a hussy instead of a sweetie. Now that you have your hussy flip your orbs this way and read her contributions to tonight's bull session. She'll laugh, she'll giggle, she'll squirm, but remember CONSIDER YOUR ADAM'S APPLE. That's why we say reach for a Russian instead of a Swede. Remember, it's boasted.

The natives of Hanover thought they had a plan for increasing the town's income when they forced the Dartmouth students, who were eligible, to vote so that they would have to pay their poll tax, but they were fooled. Not because they felt the loss of the money paid in the tax but because they resented having the townspeople ordering them around, the Dartmouth lads went to the first town meeting thereafter, and introduced and passed bills to build a town hall a foot wide and a mile high and to build a wall around the town eight miles high. The Hanoverians had to take the affair to Washington before they got out of building the proposed structures.

While you were all tuning about the University's new parking rules, we got to wondering about that all-important subject, Love. So we asked friend Marlene what she knew about it and here's what she said, "How to make men fall in love with you is a destiny that can not be arrived at by formulae. To attract a man is one thing—to make him what you call 'fall in love with you' is quite another. Reciprocal love is not a matter for premeditation. Any woman can attract a man just as any man can attract a woman, by being considerate, charming, attentive, pleasant—these are devices as old as society. But love?—That must come from the objective side—it can not be controlled subjectively." We don't doubt her word, because surely she should know, but where in the name of Heran Schultz did Miss Dietrich learn those words.

Dear old Oberlin, the college that made itself famous during the Civil War has come through with another bid for fame, and we admit she deserves some. When they found that they needed new dormitories there the trustees of that institution built two buildings, one a regular dorm, and the other a dormitory for married students on the campus. The new building is equipped with kitchenettes and all the conveniences of modern married life. Such a building would not be useless at Maine.

And while those college officials are doing all they can do to preserve the sanctimony of marriage the State Assembly of Nevada plays against them and passes a bill allowing divorces to any person who has resided in the state for six weeks. Good old Nevada, the state where Reno is located, is doing all it can to keep the divorce business there, but it would be a good idea for them to build a dorm near the divorce court building like the new dorm at Oberlin. This, however, might prove to be a profitless move, because from the University of Southern California comes a report from a survey made there which shows that "Marriages consummated after college courtships have more than eight times the chances of happiness than other marriages have."

Here's an idea that would be a great help to some of our fair co-eds and a terrible hindrance to others. Why not install a time clock at Valentine to be punched when leaving and returning? It would put a stop to all arguments concerning how late the girls of our dreams got in or how late they went out. The system has been put in operation at the University of Minnesota, and apparently works well. The cards have a space for the name and place of the date as well as room for other information as may be desired by the powers that be. Of course, that part of the scheme could be omitted here, since it might cause embarrassment at times.

You can believe it if you want to, we have our doubts, but it is said that Edward G. Robinson, the screen star of "Little Caesar," "Smart Money," and "Five Star Final" is a very timid man. They even go so far as to say that he is bashful, and that it takes great effort for him to portray the gangster characterizations that he handles with such success. When we see Levensaler take off Beppo Marx we'll believe it.

And with the playing of our theme song, "Peeping Through The Knot-hole in Father's Wooden Knee" we bid you all good-bye until next week. Don't forget to send for our free booklet, "No Matter How Rotten They Get, False Teeth Will Never Give You a Toothache."

ARE WHISTLERS MORONS? N. Y. U. PROFESSOR SAYS THEY ARE—THINGS HAPPEN

New York—(IP)—The college debate squad that wants to draw a crowd this year has only one subject to pick from. It is: "Resolved: That he who whistles is a moron."

The nation is all agog about it since Professor Charles Gray Shaw of New York University's department of philosophy said just that last week. It is his own testimony that it was just a harmless little remark, but the protests he has been receiving indicate that folks took him very, very seriously indeed.

Said Senator Borah: "I whistle when I feel like it, and any man who says whistlers are morons is a moron himself."

It was pointed out that Mussolini is a great whistler.

Friends reported on the Bible that Albert Einstein, no other, is a whistler. A lawyer replied that all attorneys whistle in the bath tub.

Heywood Brown suggested that in his younger years as a teacher Professor Shaw must have been annoyed by students whistling from behind textbooks. He went further and suggested Dr. Shaw might be moronic himself.

A woman wrote the professor saying she had whistled all her life, but would never again do so until she was assured she was not feeble minded.

The Cleveland Plain Dealer, along with scores of other papers, thought it was a swell idea.

Students walked up and down in front of Professor Shaw's office, whistling in relays.

The doctor himself was led a couple of days later to relent a bit in self defense, and to admit that perhaps not all who whistled were morons, but that perhaps it was, nevertheless, the act of a person bent in that direction.

The newsreels made the professor pose and tell all about it, and then, no doubt, went out and got a chorus of follies girls to whistle for the talkies, who knows?

Prime yourself, college debaters, for the problem of the year 1931-'32.

Much Freedom Given Under New System At U. of Chicago

Chicago—(IP)—Paternalism in the college classroom appears to be about to breathe its last at the University of Chicago, under the direction of President Robert M. Hutchins, who explained a new system of higher education to the 775 incoming freshmen this year.

The Chicago student is now "mentally on his own." He can make whatever scholastic progress his application and ability will permit. He can cut classes when he wants to without receiving a slip from the dean. He will not be called "on the carpet" when he fails to make the same progress in his course as the other students.

The classes, the teachers, the libraries and the many other resources of the university will be there for his use if he wants to use them. The education will be there, and the student can take it or leave it.

At the end of each course the instructor will make one of two comments. Those who have made satisfactory progress will be so designated. Of others the instructor will simply note: "We don't know enough about him to comment." Students who fall into the latter classification will be barred from intercollegiate competition. That will be the only penalty.

Other than that the student about whom the instructor doesn't "care to comment" can go right on doing as he pleases for at least two years.

At the end of the two-year period he takes a comprehensive examination, embracing the subjects he has pursued. If he passes he goes on into the University. If he fails he probably will be advised to quit.

In the meantime the exceptional student has gone on—probably long before the two-year period is up—passed his comprehensive examination and is in the upper division of the university. A genius might finish the first two-year course in three months. Then, after taking a two-year course in one of the upper divisions he would get his degree.

BISHOP OF OMAHA FLAYS PROFESSORS

Washington—(IP)—At the opening meeting of the National Council of Catholic Women here, Right Rev. Joseph A. Rummel, Bishop of Omaha made an attack on "blasphemous scientists," "un-Christian professors," and "irresponsible authors," together with advocates of birth control, companionate marriage, divorce and sterilization, as "prophets of a new paganism more dangerous and subversive than the older brand."

College girls have been warned against smoking by Mrs. M. B. McGavran of Kansas City, president of the American Association of Cosmeticians, because, she says, the habit is giving the American woman a "facial droop."

Feminine Inhabitants Of North Hall Shower Male Visitor With Attentions

Roger, a young blond gentleman is being sheltered at North Hall. Think of the attention he's getting from the feminine inhabitants! and already he's made a hit with several young men on Campus.

Roger, aged seven months is getting some training for the future; he has his morning siesta out-doors. His calling hours are 5:00-6:00 P. M. A great deal of his spare time is spent watching the aproned-maids wash dishes, and just to prove his popularity he has an invitation to spend the Christmas holidays with a co-ed.

CORRECTION

The following statement is published as a correction of the notice from the health service which appeared in last week's Campus.

The health service sends to the Deans each week a list of those students who have been absent from class because of illness. The name of no student will be included on these lists unless he or she notified the health service at the time of illness. This does not mean that the student himself must notify the health service but may have someone else do so. The health service does not have authority to excuse absences from class. Absences from class can only be authorized by the Dean of the college in which the student is registered.

Statistics at the University of Minnesota reveal that, as in the past, the sorority co-ed remains a better student than the fraternity man at that institution.

Plan To Build University City At Wisconsin

Madison, Wis.—(IP)—Plans for the creating of a "university city" have been developed by the regents of the University of Wisconsin here, as a means of relieving the meagre housing facilities for the several thousand students of the university.

Discovering that the present dormitory system cares for only 500 men and 365 women, that fraternity and sorority houses take care of only 1,500 men and 600 women, and that the rest of the 6,000 students stay in rooming houses, poorly ventilated and lighted and without proper toilet facilities, the regents have worked out a plan whereby the university would purchase land on the ridge overlooking Lake Mendota, and offer rent-free sites to all fraternities and sororities that wish to build thereon.

There would also be college dormitories on the ridge, and each unit would be carefully plotted and landscaped in accord with the whole group. Because of a "lobby" of rooming house owners in the city, permission to go ahead with such a plan was turned down by the last legislature, so that the regents must wait until 1932 before they can obtain the necessary legislation.

It has been reported to President Hoover's relief organization that almost without exception, 200 colleges and universities this year show a heavy increase in registration, largely due, it is felt, to the influence of the campaign to keep youth in school to avoid adding to the unemployment problem.

Series Of Fire Drills To Be Held In Girls' Dorms

LEHIGH UNIVERSITY GETS BEQUEST ORIGINALLY WILLED TO YALE

Philadelphia—(IP)—Five hundred thousand dollars which he had in his original will bequeathed to Yale University, will go to Lehigh University instead, under a codicil discovered in the will of the late Dr. Charles W. MacFarlane, economist and engineer, who died last May.

The codicil explained that the exchange was made because the donor believed the money would do more good in the smaller school.

The bequest will enable Lehigh to complete an economic history of the Roman Empire started by Dr. MacFarlane, who was engaged for many years in the preparation of the history and who gathered many thousand excerpts and references to sources, which he partly catalogued.

Student Fined $2 For Hitch Hiking

The first arrest in the police campaign against hitch-hikers on the Bangor-Old Town road occurred last Friday when a sophomore student at the University, who was in a hurry to get back to the campus and keep out of the heavy rain made the mistake of thumbing an automobile in which there was a state policeman in plain clothes.

The Maine man was taken to Old Town where he was tried and fined $2, and the costs of court amounting in all to about $6. The judge told the youth that he thought it necessary to make an example of his case to the rest of the students at the University.

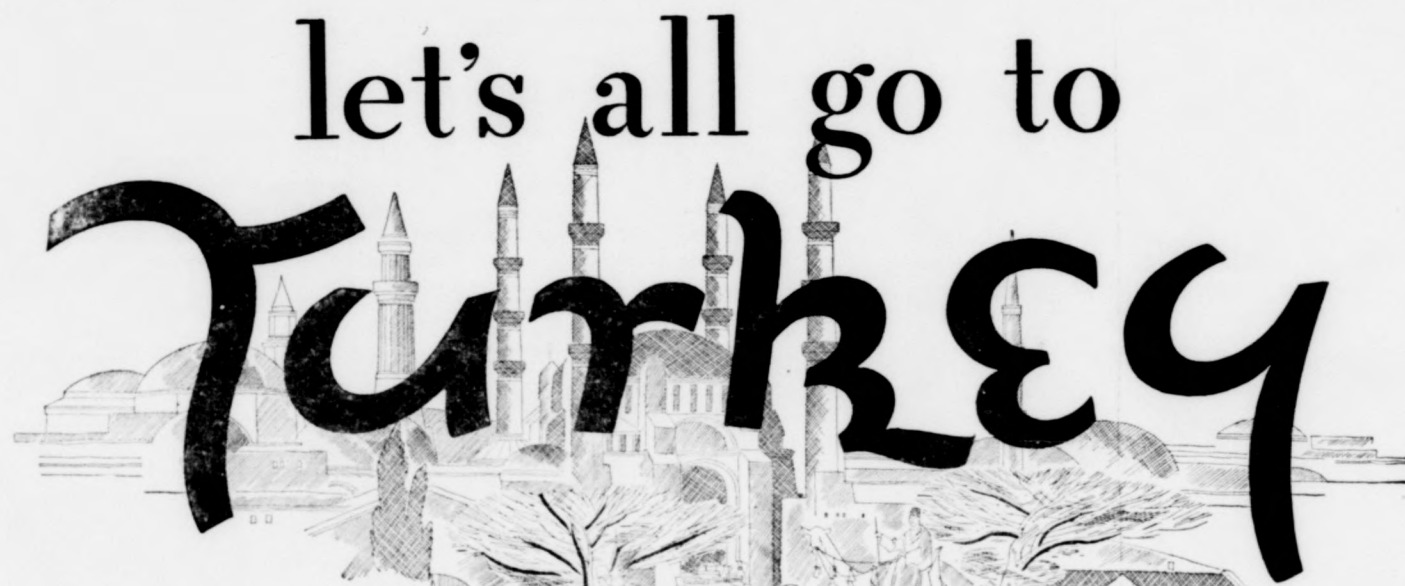

PROFESSOR WHO BECAME PLAYWRIGHT RETURNS TO FARM

New York—(IP)—Paul Green, the University of North Carolina professor who flashed into Broadway prominence as a playwright, has turned his back on the white way, and returned to North Carolina, because, as he says, he would rather work on his own little farm.

He is the author of "The House of Connelly," put on by the Theater Guild.

let's all go to

Turkey

Where Turkish tobacco grows

Eastward ho! Four thousand miles nearer the rising sun—let's go! To the land of mosques and minarets—so different from our skyscrapers, stacks and steeples.

Let's see this strange, strange country. Let's see the land where the tobacco* grows in small leaves on slender stalks—to be tenderly picked, leaf by leaf, hung in long fragrant strings, shelter-dried and blanket-cured. Precious stuff!

Let's taste that delicate aromatic flavor—that subtle difference that makes a cigarette!

.. SAMSOON .. famous tobaccos!

*Turkish tobacco is to cigarettes what seasoning is to food—the "spice," the "sauce"—or what rich, sweet cream is to coffee!

You can taste the Turkish in Chesterfield—there's enough of it, that's why. Chesterfield has not been stingy with this important addition to good taste and aroma; four famous kinds of Turkish leaf—Xanthi, Cavalla, Samsoun and Smyrna—go into the smooth, "spicy" Chesterfield blend.

This is just one more reason for Chesterfield's better taste. Tobaccos from far and near, the best of their several kinds—and the right kinds. And pure, tasteless cigarette paper, the purest made. The many requisites of a milder, better smoke, complete!

That's why they're GOOD—they've got to be and they are.

In every important tobacco-growing center Chesterfield has its own tobacco buyers

Stetson and Lee Will Give Frosh Runners Competition

Team B of the Frosh crosscountry team, will run against Stetson Academy over the regular Freshman course here this afternoon at 3:15. The squad will consist of seven men and the lineup will probably be as follows: Marsh, acting captain of team B, Pettengill, Cole, Wisheart, Spaulding, Littlefield, Crocker or Keene. Stetson Academy has a very fine team this year, in fact, it is noted for its track teams. They won second place in the interscholastics last year, and third place this year. The match will be no cinch for team B and there will be many exhibitions of fine running.

Team A, also composed of Frosh crosscountry men, will race Lee Academy an hour later over the same course. The seven men to run for the Frosh will probably be: Black, acting captain of team A, Drummond, Saunders, Bailey, Morong, Piper, and Anderson.

CO-EDERS BEAT CARDS 4-1 IN FIELD HOCKEY

In women's field hockey Saturday morning, the Cardinals allowed the Co-Eders a 4-1 victory. The line up was: CO-EDERS (4) CARDINALS (1) Young, rw. West Lewis, ir Smith, cf (3) Churchill (1) Perkins, il (1) Allen, lw Rowe Church, rh Jolbert Robinson, ch Dickson Mead, lh Morrison Carter, rb Trickey, lb Profita, goalkeeper Substitutes: Montgomery for Robinson; Robinson for Trickey; Johnson for Church.

Umpire: Emily Thompson. Timekeeper: Wilhelm. Score keeper: Wilhelm.

The Jolly Four group forfeited the game to the Ace Highs, and the game between the Bats and Hoboes will be played at a later date.

PRESIDENT FAVORABLE TO POST-SEASON GAME

In an interview Monday morning, President Boardman stated, regarding a post-season football game for charitable purposes, that in as much as the suggestion to colleges and universities to play these games comes from President Hoover, the idea should be carefully considered by the University of Maine which is partially supported by the Federal government. Maine's participation in such an event is dependent upon the action of the Athletic Association which will refer its decision to President Boardman for approval.

Interscholastics Expected To Draw Large Number of Hill and Dalers This Year

The annual Interscholastic Cross Country Run of the University of Maine will be held on Saturday, October 31. The Preparatory School Division Race will start promptly at 9:30 A.M., and the High School Race at 10:00.

Invitations are extended to all high and preparatory schools in the state who support a cross country team. Last year, there were 120 contestants representing eleven high schools and three prep schools. This year's meet should find at least as many runners, with the probability of there being an increase in the number.

The course this year, about the same as last year, is three miles in length. The winners of first, second, and third places in both races will receive medals. The five scoring men of the winning teams will also receive medals. In addition, a permanent award in the form of a plaque is to be given each team.

Last year, the winner of the prep school division was Hebron Academy, with Lee and Kents Hill placing second and third in the order named. Osgood of Lee Academy, turned in the fastest time of the day when he completed the run in 14 minutes and 40 2-5 seconds. Pennell Institute bested the ten other high schools, and Caribou and Deering ran second and third respectively.

Houlton should warrant a bit of interest this year in view of their recent victory over M.C.I. Incidentally, the Houlton team's coach is Clyde Stenson, a graduate of Maine. Brewer High has a snappy team as evidenced a short time ago when it lost to Maine Frosh B by only one point. This fact is of considerable significance in that Frosh A, which is on an equal standing with team B, defeated Hebron Academy by a perfect score of 15 to 50. Although a close race is expected in the preparatory division, the high school race will probably be more exciting.

The local schools' teams will arrive early Saturday morning. Those teams that must travel some distance from their homes will reach the campus Friday afternoon and will be entertained at various fraternity houses.

It pays to look over the wall

The industry that succeeds today is the one that looks outside its own "back-yard" for ways to make itself more valuable.

For many years, Bell System men have been working out ideas to increase the use and usefulness of the telephone. For example, they prepared plans for selling by telephone which helped an insurance man to increase his annual business from $1,000,000 to $5,500,000—a wholesale grocer to enlarge his volume 25% at a big saving in overhead—a soap salesman to sell $6000 worth of goods in one afternoon at a selling cost of less than 1%!

This spirit of cooperation is one reason why the Bell System enjoys so important a place in American business.

SPORTITUDES

By HARRY PAUL

Hello, folks. Seems good to be back pounding the old typewriter after an enforced vacation due to a complication of professorial injuries. This season we, editorially speaking, will endeavor to call them as one SHOULD see them—possibly.

The New Hampshire-Maine game was a heartbreaker, and we are speaking in terms that may betoken amorous insinuations. Just two flukes and the Granite State boys trotted off the field the victors. But things will happen even in the best of regulated families, and then again one must figure that Brice may have been saving his strongest suit for next Saturday's tilt with Bates.

All the belly-aching of Coach Dave Morey, of Bates, seems like a case of sour stomach. At the start of the season, the Bates mentor was tearing his hair, all four of them, and raving stark mad, that his outfit was a "weak and sickly lot." Look them over now. Rhode Island beats Maine by a one point margin and loses to Bates by three points. If one is to regard scores, then on paper (Pike please take notice) the Bobcat will have the edge for the forthcoming encounter.

In playing before the home crowd, the Garnet may have the upper hand, but it seems doubtful if any but the scholastically inclined will remain back here in Orono. Bumping may be taboo, but there will be plenty of it just the same. Just don't stick the finger out and you're safe, according to one police official. Believe it or not, you can tell the officer who may want to pull you in while standing by the side of the road and watching the race of automobiles going by. "I'm waiting for a street car." If the cop does not believe you, then just tell him you have a psychopathic personality, which ought to shut the officer up like a clam, for all cops are not college-bred.

Classes will not be held this year on the day of the Colby-Maine game, October 31. On the morning of the same day, from 9.30-10.00 the prep and high schools of the State will battle for honors at the annual cross country run. Ted Curtis is in charge of the plans.

A bit belated, but nevertheless there, we wish to extend greetings to the new addition to our coaching squad, Ralph Jordan. "Smiles" would be a good cognomen for the lad. With the introduction of a Jayvee, junior varsity to you, more of the lesser lights will be given a chance to shine. Great idea, but it won't go into effect until next year when games will be arranged for the intermediates with other teams of similar caliber in the State. In the meantime the Jayvee is being used to scrimmage with the freshmen and with the brighter stars and luminaries of the varsity. Jordan is being used to scout other teams on Maine's schedule.

To be sure, Maine outmarched its opponent Saturday and outplayed it as well, but there is nothing one can do when the adversary seems to benefit by the breaks. Even in daily life, in this great world of ours, it is not always the chap who does the hardest work who succeeds. In some instances it is the fellow who acts like the parasite in the movies and profits by a chance misplay here and there.

To "Speed" Wilson goes the palm for starting the drive towards Maine's touchdown. The pictures in one of the Bangor papers display the little fellow at his best and shows that there rangles a great deal of football knowledge in that little brain of his. Who are we to judge, anyway, but we're here? English Dept. please correct. Mun Romansky on spinners tore away for some fine gains as did Favor, Sims and Arnold. Bagley's kicking was fine, also. In the line, Calderwood, Pike, and Fickett showed up well. It does not seem fair to pick out just two or three "best" players for they all functioned well.

This week the four Pine Tree State colleges open up in their quest for the State title. The whole battle simmers down to the Bates-Maine game without a doubt, for from the two will be selected the wearer of the crown. Colby ought to take Bowdoin into camp at Brunswick. The Polar Bear has not shown very much in their previous contests, but Colby at least beat Vermont by one touchdown.

Maine received some recognition in two football magazines recently put out on the market. Milt Sims is referred to as "a mighty big frog in the New England puddle who knows the trick of the goal-ward hop." Then again Milt is shown tossing a pass during the Yale game of last year, which was intercepted by Walker of the Eli's. Dave Morey of Bates, comments on Mun Romansky thus: "Mun and his spinners are going to make history for the University of Maine and if that Mun boy keeps up the good work, the honor of All-Maine fullback is assured him."

Personal nomination for a real go-getter: Theodore S. Curtis. Quiet, unassuming lad though he is, he gets the results. In the near future we intend to play up Ted's accomplishments in more detail, much to his utter disgust. The big words do not seem to come out just now.

That's all.

193 Exchange St., BangorFreshmen Hold Hebron
Yale Beaters To Tie
On Mud Covered Field

Playing wide-awake football for four periods on a muddy field, the Maine frosh held the Hebron eleven to a scoreless tie Saturday morning on Alumni Field, just a week after the Big Green had conquered the Yale freshmen. Anderson and Dawson were the shining lights for the yearlings with both making good gains and excellent line plunges.

The field was wet and muddy, and neither team made much headway in line plunges and long runs. Kicking proved to be the most profitable play, and here Anderson showed his worth as a punter by averaging kicks of over forty-five yards. The ball was usually deep in the Green's domains. When the game ended the frosh had the pigskin on Hebron's one foot line. At no time, however, was the yearlings' line in danger.

Hebron was greatly handicapped with several injuries. Though they won from the Yale frosh a week before the Maine game, the victory cost them injuries to six of their first line men. On account of this the green did not show up as well as they were expected to.

In the final minutes of the game, the frosh had their best opportunity to score but they did not take advantage of it. They threw away their only chance depending on a forward pass which was incomplete.

Intramural Touch Football
Gets Good Start Saturday

The results of the intramural touch football games, held last Saturday, are as follows: in the northern league, Delta Tau Delta won from Hannibal Hamlin B with a score of one first down to none; Tau Epsilon Phi forfeited to Sigma Nu; Theta Chi downed Beta Theta Pi by one first down to none; Kappa Sigma won from Oak Hall, 8-6; Sigma Phi Sigma forfeited to Hannibal Hamlin A. In the southern league, Phi Mu Delta captured two points to none for Alpha Gamma Rho; Lambda Chi won from Phi Kappa Sigma, 12-0; the Phi Eta Kappa-Sigma Chi game resulted in a tie, 12-12, the game being awarded to Sigma Chi since they had one first down; Phi Gamma Delta won from Beta Kappa, 12-6; Alpha Tau Omega won from Phi Kappa, 6-0.

In the drawing for the games which are to take place next Saturday, October 24, the following schedule was decided upon: in the northern league, Delta Tau Delta is to play Kappa Sigma on Varsity Field at two o'clock; Theta Chi versus Sigma Alpha Epsilon at Varsity Field at three o'clock; and Hannibal Hamlin A meets Sigma Nu on the practice field at two o'clock. In the southern league, Phi Mu Delta plays Alpha Tau Omega on Phi Mu Delta field at two o'clock; Phi Gamma Delta and Lambda Chi play on practice field at three o'clock; Sigma Chi drew a bye.

Wildcats Take Game
By Last Minute Goal
On Slippery Gridiron

Two "lucky breaks" gave New Hampshire a 13-7 victory over Maine Saturday in a game that would have been good but for the blocking of two punts at the crucial moments of the game. Figures show that the Maine team outmarched the Wildcats by nearly two to one, while the New Hampshire team was able to gain practically nothing by rushing.

New Hampshire's first touchdown came early in the game. Maine was attempting to kick out of danger, and Bagley's punt was intercepted by Knox, who scooped up the ball and carried it the remaining eight yards to the goal.

Neither team threatened again until the final quarter, though fine ball carrying by Romansky, Favor and Sims gave the blue an advantage over the Durham team. The Maine line was impregnable on defense.

In the final quarter Maine made a determined march from center field, with Romansky finally scoring the goal. Wilson booted the extra point.

The game was apparently won, and Maine subs were sent in. With only 24 seconds to play, however, New Hampshire punted to the Maine five yard mark. Wilson ordered Favor back for a punt. The kick was hurried, and on the first play the Wildcats broke through the disorganized Brice men for the winning touchdown. They added the extra point by a place kick.

Bagley, quarterback and acting captain in the game received a sprained ankle and will be out for the Bates game and possibly for the series. Buzzell was also injured.

New York University has begun its 100th year this fall.

Cross Country Outlook in
Meet with Bates Hopeful

Booth, Gunning, and Earle Are a Powerful Combination. Whitten Bates Star

The varsity cross country team is going through some hard practice sessions this week in preparation for the impending meet with Bates at Lewiston, tomorrow.

The course will be about six miles instead of three miles, which was the length of the course run at Connecticut Aggie.

In view of its fine showing against Connecticut, in which meet Booth, Gunning, and Earle tied for first place, Coach Jenkins hilltoppers are expected to avenge last year's defeat at the hands of Bates.

Bates has only two veterans from last year's New England Championship outfit in togs this year. The team is led by Capt. Norman Whitten, who is one of the foremost cross country men in the east.

Time trials are to be held this week, and the first seven men finishing in order will represent the pale blue at Lewiston.

FORTY-FIVE STUDENTS
REPORT FOR FENCING

Approximately forty-five students, mostly freshmen, have signed up for fencing this year. The team is being coached by Alvin Heald, and classes are held in the map room of the Armory at 4:15 every Saturday. Interest in this sport is evident this year, and several of the men have already demonstrated considerable promise. Plans are being made to hold a tournament later in the year.
