

RHODE ISLAND GRIDSTERS LOOM STRONG FOR FIRST TILT IN MAINE SCHEDULE

Only Three Letter Men In Line-up. Rams Won First Game

An untested and inexperienced University of Maine football eleven will launch its 1933 campaign on Saturday when the Black Bears, State and New England Conference Champions a year ago, opposes Rhode Island State at Alumni Field in a game which has all the earmarks of a close and hard struggle.

Coach Fred Brice has had the Indian sign on the Rhode Island Rams, for in the twelve years his outfit has encountered Rhode Island, Maine has come out on top all but once. However, this season does not find the Bricemen any too sure of vanquishing Coach Frank Keaney's team.

For one reason, Rhode Island boasts of a veteran eleven and that is one thing the Black Bears have not this Fall. Only five letter men from last year's team reported to Coach Brice and his chief aide, William C. Kenyon, this current campaign, and to make prospects worse, two of the veterans are not anywhere near the form they displayed in 1932.

Another decided advantage in the visitor's favor, is that they have been practicing since September 3, a week before Maine inaugurated its pre-season period. Last Saturday, Rhode Island opened its season with an impressive 12-0 win over Brooklyn College.

Maine fans will witness one of the most colorful Black Bear teams to take the field in years. Coach Brice has made a radical change in his offensive system and is introducing a double shift whereby the Bricemen will employ more deceptive football than ever before. The whole purpose in back of the change is an attempt to enable the light backfield men, who comprise the lightest backfield Maine has had in many a year, to get past the scrimmage line into the open in order to make use of their speed.

This eleven finds Cobb, Parsons, and FAVOR the only letter men in the line-up. Cobb and Parsons were a bulwark of strength in the varsity frontier last year and appear all set to enjoy a great year. FAVOR is Maine's triple threat, and will handle the punting and forward passing assignments besides calling the plays. Although he has not been up to his 1932 form as yet in practice, Coach Brice expects FAVOR to start giving the fans something to talk about after the Rhode Island fracas. Ken Aldrich, left end for the last two years, has been shifted to the backfield in order to give more weight and power to the light backfield. He will be used at the fullback position.

Sidelinger and Littlehale starred on the freshman team last season and have come along at a rapid pace. MacBride and Higgins are like Littlehale, newcomers to the varsity backfield, but both leads are fast and shifty runners and should hold their own. Higgins has been taking the place of Ted Butler in practice this week, as the latter, who was a regular last year, has yet to show Coach Brice that he is ready to receive the opening call for the right halfback berth.

IRVING PIERCE

AUTO CRASH INJURES PIERCE, 3 FRESHMEN

Sewell Ginsburg, John Hooper, Royal Mehan Hurt In Bus Collision

Irving Pierce, University accountant, and Sewell Ginsburg and John Hooper, both freshmen, were seriously injured last Wednesday when the car driven by Mr. Pierce was involved in a crash with a bus on College Avenue near Southard's Garage. Bertram Quinlan, driver of the bus, received a wrenched neck and slight shock, and Royal Mehan, also a freshman and occupant of the Pierce car, received a severe shock and numerous bruises.

Mr. Pierce, with the three students, was returning from Old Town for the afternoon session when the accident occurred. The bus was enroute to the Milford terminal. The Pierce car was completely demolished while the large bus was smashed badly in front.

The injured were removed to the Eastern Maine General Hospital where Mr. Pierce was treated for severe face cuts and a severed tendon in the left leg below the knee. Ginsburg was treated for severe shock and a fractured leg and Hooper for fracture of both legs.

Nine Percent Drop In Registration Figures

A loss of nine per cent in the total student registration as compared with that of last year on the same date, has been announced by the publicity department of the University. On Monday, September 25, 1436 students had registered, as compared with 1579 on the same date, six days after registration day, in 1932. The loss in the number of students is generally conceded to be a result of the poor economic conditions of the past year.

The number of students registered according to classes is as follows:

Graduate students	34
Seniors	305
Juniors	319
Sophomores	337
Freshmen	416
Special Students	21

DEATH TAKES FOUR FACULTY MEMBERS THROUGH VACATION

Dean Merrill, Dr. French, Dr. Phipps, and Professor Briscoe Pass Away

Hard hit by a major loss in income during the past school year, the University of Maine suffered an even more severe blow during the summer months in the death of four able faculty members, Dr. Leon S. Merrill, dean of the College of Agriculture, John M. Briscoe, professor of forestry, Dr. Walter French, assistant professor of German, and Dr. Clarence R. Phipps, an outstanding entomologist in the College of Agriculture.

Dean Merrill died at the Eastern Maine General Hospital on September 3. He was a graduate of Bowdoin in the class of 1889, and after private business ventures he came to Maine as director of the University's extension service. In the following year he was appointed to the deanship of the College of Agriculture, which position he held until his death.

In 1922, Dean Merrill received the degree of Doctor of Science from the University. He was a member of Alpha Zeta and Phi Kappa Phi, and many other state and national organizations.

Professor Briscoe's death occurred on August 3, when he drowned while swimming in the Stillwater River at a point near the Ledges. He attended the University of Pennsylvania, and graduated with distinction from the Yale School of Forestry.

After several years' service with the United States Forestry Department, Professor Briscoe came to the University where he spent 23 years. At the beginning of the summer, he had been in Washington on reforestation work, but returned because of a nervous breakdown. He has a daughter in the freshman class at the present time.

Dr. French attended Ohio State University, where he received the degree of

STUDENT SENATE WILL DISCOURAGE HITCHHIKING

First Fall Meeting Reveals Many New Members. Another Ruling Cleared in New Rushing

A meeting of the Student Senate held in Rogers Hall Tuesday night revealed that with only a few exceptions, the 1933-34 Senate will be a new body from last year's, largely caused by failure of old Senate members to return to school.

The Senate was urged to use all its influence to discourage the practice of hitchhiking rides on the highways, because several complaints have already been filed concerning the conduct of students while "bumming."

President John B. Quinn of the Senate will investigate the possibilities of having the Memorial Gymnasium open on weekends for inspection by visitors. This was decided after it had been shown that a number of visitors to the campus, who have been particularly interested in seeing the inside of the new building have been disappointed.

The Interfraternity Council, at its meeting immediately following the Senate meeting, passed the following resolution:

Any entrance to a fraternity house, on business or otherwise, by a freshman, will be considered as a violation of Article II, Section 8, of the Constitution of the Interfraternity Council and penalized as provided in Section 9, of said Constitution.

The above is also construed to mean a freshman being on the grounds or porch of a fraternity house.

RITA LANCTO BACK AFTER YEAR SPENT IN FRANCE

Rita E. Lancto, a senior in the College of Arts and Sciences, returned September 8 on the steamer Berengaria from France. She left August 3 last year on the Mauretania to spend her junior year in France. She spent the summer of 1932 at the University of Poitiers at Tours. In November Miss Lancto went to Paris where she spent her junior year at the Sorbonne. This summer Miss Lancto studied at the University of Florence.

While in Europe Miss Lancto toured Belgium, Spain, Switzerland, and particularly France and Italy. Miss Lancto enjoyed France, particularly the difference in customs. In Italy she found much happiness and order under the Fascist government.

MT. VERNON BURNED WITH $13,000 LOSS IN MYSTERIOUS FIRE

Was 100 Years Old This Year, Sigma Chi Has Option On Site For House

The destruction of Mount Vernon by fire with a property loss of $13,000 on the night of June 14, marks the passing of the oldest and historically most important building on the University campus.

Fire of undetermined origin broke out in the hundred-year old building on the second night after Commencement. Fortunately, all of the freshman girls, 31 in number, who had been living in the old dormitory had left for their homes during the past week, and the only personal losses sustained in the fire were those of the cook and the maids.

Sigma Chi fraternity, upon recommendation of President Boardman at the June meeting of the board of trustees, was granted an option on the site of the building for the construction of a new house. No definite plans for building have been formulated as yet.

Mt. Vernon was constructed in 1833 as a dwelling place for those who were connected with the college, and sheltered many prominent individuals. The dwelling was passed down from family to family until the late 70's. In 1888 the Maine chapter of Q.T.V. leased the building and occupied it for eleven years, when it became the Omega Mu chapter of Phi Gamma Delta. With this change came also a change in living quarters, and the old White house was vacated once more.

Dean Corbett received his Bachelor of Science degree at Massachusetts State College in 1909, and his Master's degree at Kentucky in 1913. He is instructor in Animal Industry.

Professor Francois J. Kueny, head of the French department, returns to the University this year following a leave of absence to visit France in 1932-33.

Battlers Invade Theatre After Scrap On Balentine Field. Lightning Lends Color To Fight

Loss of clothing meant nothing to either Sophomore or Freshman as the two classes met last night in the annual Pajama Parade, and proceeded to scrap valiantly for dear old '36 or '37, as the case may be. After a colorful scrap, which was enjoyed by hundreds of students, the Frosh, trailed by the Sophomores, invaded Orono.

Run off on a new plan this year, the Freshmen marched double file from the dormitories to the big field in front of Balentine Hall, where they met their traditional enemies. The march to the battlefield was followed by hundreds of upperclass men and women, and cheers for "37" rang out constantly.

Paddles were in evidence forcefully as the thundering herd marched into the field between two lines of sophomores, and when President Phil Parsons of the Senior Skulls fired the starting gun neither side lost any time in digging right in. Probably the most amusing individual battle was one in which one representative of each class, clad in a pair of shoes, their bodies drenched in the rain which had then begun, fought until each was exhausted.

The battle was given a touch of realism by flashes of lightning at intervals, suggesting star shells sent up on the Western Front.

When Parsons fired the ending gun, the spirited frosh made a bee line for Orono and the Strand Theatre. Through the generosity of A. L. Goldsmith, manager of the theatre, both freshmen and sophomores were admitted free to the first performance of "Her Body Guard," and many of the members of both classes looked as though they had been very much in need of a body guard prior to their entrance to the theatre.

On the return to the campus from Orono, the frosh invaded the scene of their battle in search of souvenirs, and today many a scarred bit of sophomore clothing adorns the walls of the men's dormitories.

Phil Parsons Elected Senior Skull President

At the annual initiation banquet and ball of the Senior Skull society held on June 8, Philip Parsons was elected president of the organization and Donald Corbett, secretary and treasurer. Parsons has been a regular end on the varsity football team for the past two years, and last year was chosen for All Maine honors. Besides participating in football, Parsons has been a weight man on the varsity track team for the past two years and is president of the class of 1934. He is a member of Phi Mu Delta fraternity.

Corbett is one of the leading cross country runners in school, and has been a varsity harrier for two years. He has also won his letter in track, having competed in distance runs. Corbett's fraternity is Kappa Sigma, and he is president of the Intramural A.A.

ARTHUR A. BROWN, 1932 RHODES, LEAVES AMERICA

Arthur Brown, Rhodes Scholar, left September 16 for Oxford, England, where he will enroll as a student at Oxford University. Mr. Brown was graduated in the class of 1933, having majored in the department of mathematics. He was a member of Phi Beta Kappa and Phi Kappa Phi honorary fraternities, and Lambda Chi Alpha social fraternity.

Eight High School Graduates Receive Trustee Scholarships To U. of Maine

Over 4500 students in forty-five secondary institutions in the state competed. The winners were: Joseph H. Lewis, Eastern Maine Institute, Springfield, 4 year scholarship; Richard M. Spear, Thomaston, 3 year scholarship; Ernest M. Foster, Weld, 2 year scholarship; Faith Folger, Fryeburg Academy, Sewall Gingsburg, Old Town, Frank Carter, Mechanics Falls, Osgood Sutherland, Lee Academy, Helen McKinnon, Wynn, 1 year scholarships. In the instances of the last three and Lewis, four year winner, the scholarships were extended until 1934.

Annual M. C. A. Freshman Reception Brings Out Large Crowd to New Gym

The Memorial Gym was blazing with lights Friday night as the Freshman Reception, given under the auspices of the M.C.A., got underway. Scores of freshmen and a few enterprising upperclassmen arrived at 7:30, and the wheels began to turn immediately. The hall was divided into six sections, each representing a college. Each student upon entering, went to one of these colleges, and after having the slogan of some well-known product pinned on his back, had to guess what it was.

Next each college gave a yell in its best possible manner, a race was held (during which several girls lost control of their pedal extremities) and a game in which as many signatures as possible were collected in the time allotted, was played. Cornell won the first event and Yale the second. Their prizes were placed in the center of the floor, and the ensuing scramble at times showed signs of becoming a riot. Jack Frost won the autograph collecting contest with thirty-four names and received several lollipops.

Next came the grand march. Perhaps the upperclassmen wanted to wear out the freshmen before the dancing, but, anyway, the latter were marched around the floor until everybody felt rather down at the heels. Cider was served, and dancing was enjoyed to the strains of Larry Miller's Orchestra.

The chaperons were Rev. and Mrs. Fielder, Dean Wilson, Miss Ring, and Dean and Mrs. Corbett.

Do Our Part

Another college year has dawned with limitless opportunities. Each and every student, whether returning to college or just entering, has before him an opportunity to better himself and to better his University.

Let us in the year ahead remain mentally alert to possibilities for advancement. Let us look into the past to avoid the mistakes of others, and to profit by the examples of others. Let us consider carefully the questions which arise this year, before reaching definite conclusions.

Let us build more enthusiasm among our student and faculty family, for indifference is stagnation. Let us remember that the University of Maine is our college, and one of which we can justly be proud, but let us also remember that it is up to us to conduct ourselves always so that we may continue to be proud of our Alma Mater. Let us lend active support to all worthwhile projects.

Upon the students of this institution, as well as any such institution, great responsibilities are placed. By our acts we can make or ruin the University. Let us be ever mindful of the work of our Administration, Faculty, and Alumni in building the University of Maine to its present condition, and remember that this effort has been expended because of the trust of these people in us and the students who will follow us. Let us take our responsibilities and carry them like men and women.

Mutual Loss

It was with sincere regret that the students of the University of Maine learned on returning to college this fall of the passing through the summer of four members of the University faculty. These men, Dr. Leon S. Merrill, Dr. John M. Briscoe, Dr. Walter French, and Dr. Clarence R. Phipps, all played an important part in the functions of the University and their places will not easily be filled.

In every case their primary object in life was service. Each had his own branch in service in which he strove to better the world, through the dissemination of truth.

The lives of these men serve as excellent examples to the students of the University of Maine. They were men who, through their own efforts, fitted themselves to play an important part in society. They also realized that the education of the individual is never complete, but is a continuous process.

The Class of 1937 has shown itself full of spirit, and it is to its credit that it has this enthusiasm. But let us suggest that the Class of 1937 use its collective head in the manner in which it uses this spirit, lest it give itself a black eye figuratively and perhaps literally.

Men students are requested not to use the Balentine tennis courts. They have monopolized the courts to the exclusion of the women students, and since the Women's Athletic Association keeps these courts in repair, they have announced that the courts will be reserved exclusively for women students.

A LIFE OF SERVICE

Dean Merrill Was Head of College of Agriculture Twenty Two Years

By John C. Willey
Campus Feature Editor

When on the morning of Sunday, September 3, Dr. Leon Stephen Merrill passed away, the University of Maine lost a loyal friend and a tireless worker, who for the past twenty-two years has guided the destinies of the College of Agriculture.

Dean Merrill was first affiliated with the University of Maine in 1910, when he became director of the Maine Extension Service. He continued in this office until January, 1931, when he resigned. Much credit is due him for the splendid manner in which he succeeded in building up the extension work to the point where it is granted by authorities to be without a peer in any state. It was in 1911 that Dr. Merrill was appointed Dean of the College of Agriculture, a position to which he devoted his best efforts tirelessly.

With his appointment to the deanship, Dr. Merrill became a member of the

All able-bodied co-eds are wanted at the field house. Hockey practice has started, and will be held every afternoon from 2:25 P.M. on. Every class needs more and better players; dig out your old "P.T." suits and go down to the athletic field!

Mixed scrimmages are in order this fall so practice game will be fast and competition keen. It is a stroke of luck for the Freshman girls to play with their "betters" and not just against them, and they surely will learn how to play hockey!

Special classes will be held on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Friday afternoons. Come on, girls, get out-of-doors these glorious fall days. You've everything to gain, and nothing to lose. That goes for you Freshmen, too, yes.

DR. L. S. MERRILL

Board of Administration of the University. He held this office continually until his death. In 1922, the University conferred upon him the degree of Doctor of Science. A member of Alpha Zeta and Phi Kappa Phi fraternities as well as various other national and state educational and scientific societies, he was long identified with such work.

Dr. Merrill was internationally known for his service as Grand Sire of the Odd Fellow Lodge in 1927. He became a member of this organization at the age of 22 years, being initiated by Table Rock Lodge No. 100 of North Anson, Maine. He became identified with the Grand Lodge of Maine in 1895, and served as Grand Master in 1904, Grand Representative in 1905, and Grand Patriarch in 1909.

He was a graduate of Bowdoin College in the class of 1889. His first business venture was in the retail drug and paint business, in which he was engaged until 1909. He also acted as general manager of an extensive milk and milk products manufacturing and distributing business from 1892 to 1909. After 1909, Dr. Merrill was no longer engaged in private business except from 1913 until 1920, when he was a director of one of the largest milk concerns in New England.

President Boardman Gives Tribute Praising His 'Square Deals'

Possessing extraordinary ability for organization and a keen mind, Dr. Merrill was honored and respected by all of his associates. President Boardman has given him the following tribute:

"In the passing of Dean Merrill the University faculty has lost one of its most loyal and valued members. 'Only those who were closely associated with him, as I have been for over twenty years, can have a real appreciation of those sterling qualities with which he was endowed. A tireless worker, he was always ready to meet the many obligations which his position demanded. A clear thinker, he was ready with advice upon critical problems. Organization and efficiency were his pride and he accomplished much under difficulties.

"He did not wear his heart upon his sleeve, and few people knew of the warm sympathetic nature that lay beneath an apparently stern exterior. He was intensely loyal to all those associated with him and was always ready to fight for a principle which he believed to be right. His faculty and the students in his college knew that whatever his decisions he would give them a square deal. From a personal viewpoint, I feel that I have not only lost a valued fellow worker but a real friend."

The annual fall mass meeting of the Women's Student Government was held Tuesday afternoon, September 19, in the Alumni Auditorium. At this meeting for all upperclass women, Alice Dyer, president of the organization, read the new and revised laws of Student Government and gave explanations of these rules. She also reviewed the constructive program of the association, which this year includes new plans for closer relationship between students and faculty; ways and

A GAIN WE come back to dear old Maine, and find that much has happened through the summer. Those buildings that afforded such shelter to those who required shelter while the aforesaid bldgs. were in progress are now completed....We're for a bigger and better building program....And as one freshman naively remarked to another while inspecting the pig pens, "They make you feel right at home, don't they?"....And do we miss the Class of '33, especially this column, because the old seniors (now alumnuses and afummisses) sure did provide food for thought for this space....We promise to find out who burned Mount Vernon and print it here, but don't close in on us, give us time....It was Cliff Ladd who was bumped in getting the bung out of a cider barrel at the frosh reception....And many were the upperclassmen who crashed....Rather amusing to see upper classmen hunting for the education department in Fernald Hall....Read your newspapers....A casual observation of the incoming crop of frosh, more wise guys and beautiful women than any frosh in a long time....The new cop is sure good about stopping cars at stop signs....Probably this new deal, which seems devoid of one card in the pack, the jack (that isn't original but it helps)....We hear that the Phi Gam boys have been stealing apples, melons, etc....What's become of Jimmy's famous hat?....The new trees are being called the "Faculty Orchard."

DOWN THE OLD OX ROAD

Cupid scored, and how, during the summer, to the extent of causing several of our number to ankle to the altar so that the she half could alter her name....Frank Craig has taken the fatal step....Harry Booth has also decided that two can live as cheaply as one....And Milt Sims and Anna Lyon brought the climax to a famous campus romance during the summer when they stood before the preacher and said "I do"....And then, too, a couple of our more psychological faculty members tied the knot that binds....Less serious is the pin hanging which has been going on....Johnny (Muscles) Wilson is reported to have hung his pin on fair Helen Buker....And Harry Saunders' Phi Gam pin is no longer in his possession....No, it is one of the most treasured belongings of Angela Johnson....Ed (Clumsy Clarence) Jordan is Bea Cummings quite a man, and his pin seems to be missing, but he won't confess, he's afraid he'll get his name in the Snoopus....And Brute Bullock, the aesthete and heart breaker, claims that there isn't a girl in college who can make him fall in love with her....The temp. Prexy of the frosh was observed the other night in the company of one of our comely reporters....Paul Langlois is living in Old Town this year, if that means anything.

means by which more self-help for university women may be available for those who desire it; and designs for more campus-wide activity, which would be sponsored by all organizations together instead of by each organization alone.

After these proceedings, Miss Edith Wilson, in her new capacity as Acting Dean of Women, addressed the upperclass women. Having become closely acquainted with all women on the campus through her M.C.A. work here, Miss Wilson was heartily greeted by the students. Her talk concerned her ideals for the year 1933-34 at the University. She gave many helpful hints for the correction of the common faults of all students, and closed her address briefly and very effectively with a few remarks concerning: "Taste—Good and Bad as Manifested by Students."

Turkish tobacco is packed thousands of tiny leaves to the bale. It averages 400 leaves a pound.

Why—
Tobaccos grown in this country are "seasoned" with tobaccos from Turkey and Greece

THE ANSWER IS VERY SIMPLE:

TOBACCOS to taste right in a cigarette need to be flavored or seasoned just the same as you might season a steak or a pudding.

No tobaccos have ever been found that equal the spicy aromatic tobaccos of Turkey and Greece for this purpose. That's why we send 4000 miles for aromatic tobaccos from Sam-soun and Smyrna, Xanthi and Cavalla.

When blended and cross-blended in just the right amounts with Chesterfield's mild ripe Domestic tobaccos, the result is a rich flavor and a fine fragrance.

Chesterfields are seasoned right—they taste right. May we suggest you try them.

The Maine Outing Club will hold a meeting Thursday evening at 6:45 in room 33, Winslow Hall. All interested are cordially invited to attend.

Last Sunday afternoon the inner circle of the Maine Outing Club took a hike to the Pines. Plans were made for several hikes and canoe trips.

Probably the most outstanding social event of the fall season at Maine this year will be the Senior Skull stag dance on the evening of November 10, the night before the Bowdoin game. Further announcements will be made as plans are completed.

The Sunday Night Club of the Fellowship Church of Orono will hold a student party at the Community House at 7:30 this Friday evening. All students are invited.

There will be a compulsory meeting of all off-campus women Friday noon at one o'clock in 30 Co-burn Hall.

Marnie Smith, Johnny Wilson Win Watches

Miss Martha L. Smith '33 was awarded the Victoria Weeks Hacker Watch at Commencement last June, and John F. Wilson '33 was awarded the Washington Alumni Association Watch. These watches are given annually to the man and woman students in the senior class who, in the opinion of their classmates and the University administration, have done most for the University during their four years here.

Wilson was prominent in football and baseball, a Sophomore Owl, Senior Skull, and President of the Student Senate and Intramural A.A. He was a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity, and of Tau Beta Pi. He acted as chaplain during his junior year.

Miss Smith, a prominent woman athlete, captained varsity hockey during her sophomore year. She was class secretary during her last three years, president of the Sophomore Eagles and Women's Student Government, an All-Maine Woman, a member of the Home Economics Club for three years, served on the Assembly Committee, and belonged to Chi Omega sorority.

The new gymnasium, brimming with red and yellow leaves, will herald autumn and the football season! Saturday night, following the Rhode Island-Maine game don your brightest colors, and your lightest feet and dance under the harvest moon. Larry Miller's orchestra will tune you up and set you going! and the Contributors' Club is backing it.

A prize to the Spirit of Autumn! One co-ed will be selected by the judges as the truest picture of this autumn season. Mr. and Mrs. Moreland, Dr. and Mrs. A. M. Turner will chaperon the party, and choose the winner.

Just a hint: Come and see (and hear) Mr. James Moreland award the prize to the lucky co-ed!

Since 1925 he has been in charge of the Purnell Projects in the Department of Entomology at the Maine Agricultural Experiment Station.

The steel bleachers on the north side of Alumni Field will not be erected during the early home football games this year, because the athletic authorities feel that all available room is needed by the team for practice, according to an announcement made this week by Faculty Manager of Athletics Theodore S. Curtis. The student section of the grandstand will be from section A to the center of the stand. Section A is on the west end of the stands. This space will be reserved for students with the exception of space in the front rows in the middle for a forty piece band.

Students will be required to present their blanket tax at the gate in order to obtain admission to the early games this fall. In order to avoid complications, students are urged to take particular notice of this fact.

Everyone knows that a long, firm, white ash results from perfect burning of fine tobaccos. Notice the ash on Lucky Strike. See how even, how firm, how white. That long, white ash is the unmistakable sign of Lucky Strike's fine tobacco quality, fully packed—and no loose ends.

HARRIERS TURN OUT WITH LARGE SQUAD FOR FALL TRAINING

Black Brothers Stand Out As Stars. Four Letter Men From Team's Nucleus

One of the largest squads in years answered Coach Jenkins' call for varsity cross country candidates last week. The members have been working out regularly, taking the kinks out of their legs before they begin more strenuous training next week.

With only four letter men as a nucleus for his team, the Pale Blue mentor will be compelled to call on untied material. Ken and Ernie Black are the most outstanding members of the squad. Ken was number one man on last year's aggregation, and Ernie, although ineligible to compete in meets, practiced regularly, and performed on a par with his twin brother Ken.

Bob Wishart, Don Corbett, and "Red" Osgood were all regulars during the 1932 season and may be sure of regular berths on this year's squad. Other promising candidates who have seen some service on either the varsity or freshman squads last year are Dick Barstow, Frank Morrong, Harry Saunders, Bill Cole, Carl Briggs, Al Prince, and Fred Beal.

The candidates are: F. M. Beal, D. M. Bailey, E. T. Black, K. D. Black, C. A. Briggs, D. P. Corbett, E. S. Littlefield, A. F. Prince, W. L. Pronovost, H. C. Saunders, R. F. Wishart, R. P. Barstow, C. Beveridge, W. B. Cole, J. M. Cox, G. P. Eaton, J. Hotz, J. P. Hennings, S. Hirshon, K. Ireland, F. Cross, D. A. Huff, L. M. Keller, F. G. Morong, G. H. Northrup, J. O'Connor, A. P. Sawyer, J. P. Venkus, J. A. Wakefield, A. E. Watson, G. M. Osgood; manager, Elmer W. Randall; assistant managers, C. C. Robie and Albert Verrill; and candidates for assistant manager, R. L. Allen, C. B. Dascomb, R. Fotter, L. H. Geatz, G. Grange, G. H. Mades, H. Simmons, and R. B. Staples.

SPORTS SPIELS

By BOB BERG

Now that nearly every phase of our life is under the NRA, it makes one wonder when some of the major sporting enterprises will perform under the Blue Eagle. The basic idea of the code, as all know, is to increase employment. But it is fairly obvious that if a sporting code is set up for football, for instance, that it will not be governed by the blanket arrangements as set up for other industries.

Such things as a 40-hour week would be out of question for gridiron players, because it would lengthen their hours rather than decrease them. But there are other ways to bring about the same result. Perhaps the simplest way is to increase the number of men on a football eleven.

There could be 12 men on the teams, and many a coach who has not been able to make his forward pass work would thus be given an extra receiver. This simple change alone would lead to a huge decrease in the ranks of the football unemployed.

I notice that football has been discarded for rodeo sports at the Cheyenne School in Colorado. Bucking horses and wild steers will provide the fun. The head of the institution there believes that taming wild horses is a really good education. He professes that some of the boys may get scratched a little, but he thinks that there is less danger of permanent injury in this sport than in football. It is hoped that the fall season will make expenses, and pay for more and wilder horses.

in the rear of Lord Hall has been moved to the rear of Stevens. The road leading to the new Memorial Gymnasium is only partially completed, although trees have been planted and the roadbed started.

The astronomy observatory is in a new location, and the carpenter's shop has also been moved. More windows have been added in the Armory, on the north side of the indoor track.

Rhode Island Gridsters Loom Strong for First Tilt in Maine Schedule

O'Connell, Totman, and Judd were members of the squad during the 1932 season while Wilson is making his first stab at varsity football. Until this week, Sam Reese, right guard on the varsity a year ago, assumed his old post in the line. However, Wilson was shifted to his place when the latter appeared somewhat out of condition.

Brice Appoints Favor, Parsons Co-Captains

Coach Fred Brice has appointed Don Favor, quarterback, and Phil Parsons, right end, as acting co-captains for the Black Bear varsity football eleven this season. This year marks the third that Favor and Parsons have been regulars on the varsity team. Both have been selected on the mythical All-Maine eleven while Favor has been picked as an All-American prospect by a leading sports periodical for this fall campaign.

The mathematicians are at it again. We are informed that Notre Dame will use 15 miles of adhesive tape and 15 gallons of mouthwash this year.

It seems that the Army football team will have a great air attack this season. Five members of the coaching staff are officers from the Air Corps.

It makes me wonder if there is such a thing as amateur sports. At the University of Southern California, the football players are used

W. TOURTELLOTT HEADS STAFF OF FROSH PAPER

Organization of the 1937 Freshman staff was accomplished on Wednesday of last week, and a temporary staff elected. The first edition of this paper was distributed on Monday, the earliest date that this publication has started since its inception in 1930.

The staff as it now stands includes Warren Tourtellot, editor-in-chief; Jane Stillman, associate editor; Robert Laverty, circulation manager; Robert Nivison, men's news editor; Peggy Thayer, women's news editor; John Driscoll, men's sports editor; Frances Jones, women's sports editor; Frank Rinn, humor editor; Jack Frost, art editor; Maney Sproul and Elin LeGrow, staff typists. Cecil Fielder will again be the paper's adviser.

in making gridiron movies for the Hollywood companies. The players receive ten dollars per day and the school rules that the players have not become professionalized.

Someone popped a question as to whether more people go to football games than to baseball and tennis matches because football is more advertised. The answer was no, because we are descended from fighting, blood-and-thunder ancestors. And the more action and contact there is, the better we enjoy it, provided we, ourselves, are safe.

Fritchman Tells Frosh To Maintain Open Mind

"You are coming onto the campus after turning one of life's most significant corners," Rev. Stephen H. Fritchman of the Bangor Unitarian Church, told members of the class of 1937 at the vespers service held on Sunday, Sept. 17. "You have left the farm and village to take up a new mode of life. Only an open mind eager for the news of the centuries can save you from complete collapse of soul."

"You have broken definitely with your home communities. The men and women of your towns that sat like censors in the community galleries and gave you advice, are far away. The village apron-strings are untied. You sink or swim on your own. You must now do your own intellectual driving. No one else, no fond parent or kindly friend can steer for you any more. The days of being a rumble-seat passenger in life are past. You are at the controls from now on."

"Civilization is being hammered on the anvil. You will have to think desperately hard about fundamental issues, about religion and politics and economics. Mere enthusiastic idealism will not carry you along. These will be punctured early by campus oracles unless you can support them with substantial fact, new knowledge and fresh logic. This is a time for clear heads as well as consecrated hearts. A muddled brain can be as dangerous to society today as a hardened conscience.

"Your own clear thinking and earnest conviction is worth the slippery and often wrong-headed verdicts of the entire upper-classman majority more times than not. Do not sell out the integrity of your own mind."

NOTICE

A tennis tournament will be held during the first week in October. All applications should be made to Mr. Curtis, faculty manager of athletics, Dr. Small, coach of tennis, or Stanwood Searles, treasurer. The tournament fee is 50¢. Freshmen are eligible.
